Second Dam For Peace?

● All B.C. parity bonds will carry bonus coupons. Page 8.

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia Hydro and Power Authority is studying a second Peace River dam to provide more hydro-electric power for Vancouver, Dr. Gordon Shrum, co-chairman of the Crown corporation, said Monday.

He spoke of the possibility of a second Peace dam, about 10 miles below the current one, at an investment dealers' breakfast where a $50,000,000 Hydro bond issue was announced.

Dr. Shrum said that because of growing demands for power in central B.C., Vancouver will be lucky if any Peace power—due to be turned on in September—ever reaches the city.

Dr. Shrum said some "exploratory work" has been done on the possibility of a 100-foot high Pgace dam. Another possible power source is an additional generating plant on Vancouver Island to feed power back here, he said.

B.C. Leaping On Trudeau Bandwagon

By IAN STREET

NORTH VANCOUVER—Social Credit jumped on to the Trudeau bandwagon at a provincial byelection rally here Monday night where Premier Bennett produced evidence of "the new spirit of co-operation between B.C. and Ottawa."

The premier said B.C. would put up an extra $23,000,000 boosting the provincial contribution of $27,000,000 to half the estimated $1,000,000 cost of a new third tunnel crossing of Burrard Inlet.

He made a p provision that the federal matching contribution, like the one he promised from the provincial government, must be an outright grant, and stipulated the crossing also had to be toll-free.

IN THREATE

He told a crowd of between 400-500 in the sweltering North Vancouver Centennial Theatre: "If Ottawa makes this a toll-free tunnel, we'll stand not only half the capital cost but all of the maintenance costs, forever."

Mr. Bennett spoke beneath a banner stretched across the stage which carried portraits of Prime Minister Trudeau with a bridge between them bearing the word "co-operation."

FORMER CHIEF

He promised the provincial government would co-operate with former provincial Liberal leader Ray Perrault, now MP for Burnaby-Seymour, in his efforts to bring the problems of the North Shore to the attention of the federal government.

And the premier urged voters to elect Socred candidate Peter Robinson in the North Vancouver-Capilano provincial byelection next Monday. This would give the riding representatives in strong governments

By DON COLLINS

British Columbia seemed closer to a paralyzing shutdown in its forests Monday despite general agreement on wages affecting up to 28,000 workers.

The whole labor dispute took a somewhat zany turn as International Woodworkers of America officials:

● Paraded around a downtown Vancouver building demanding that the chief negotiator for 114 forest companies surface from the depths of his office get back to the bargaining table.

The demonstration and harsh words didn't succeed in bringing out Mr. Billings, but he did issue a statement in which he said the industry's offer was final and that bargaining was at an end.

"Our committee is prepared to meet with your committee at a mutually agreeable time and place to sign a memorandum of agreement based on the industry offer," Mr. Billings said in a telegram to Jack Moore of Vancouver, regional IWA president.

Union officials said they were the only ones willing to meet since negotiators had failed to turn up at a Vancouver hotel at 10 a.m. Monday.

However, the union's purpose for the meeting wasn't to sign the proposed memorandum of agreement referred to by Mr. Billings. The IWA negotiators said important fringe articles including vacations hadn't been dealt with. They want further bargaining sessions.

"We'll be back at that hotel ready to bargain at 10 in the morning (today)" Murray Drew, president of the 1,800-member Victoria local, said Monday night.

The union had issued a statement earlier saying that "once the industry made the offer of a wage increase of 18 cents an hour effective June 15, 1968, and 18 cents an hour June 15, 1969, wages were no longer an issue."

Mr. Moore said it was unfortunate, however, that

Aussie Gunman Quits in Silence

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) — Gunman Wallace (Wally) Mellish surrendered today, ending an eight-day police siege and the ordeal of the teen-age girl he forced at gunpoint to marry him.

Mellish emerged from the siege house with his wife Beryl, 19 and her 12-week old son Leslie. They came out with a minister and a police official who talked Mellish into surrender.

Mellish left behind the automatic shotgun, automatic rifle, pistols and hand grenades he had used to keep police at bay and to force them to arrange the wedding, provide refreshments and, later, more arms and ammunition.

Police had held their fire, fearing Mellish would carry out his repeated vows to kill the baby, Beryl and himself as well as "a few coppers."

Mellish, 23, a former mental patient, talked twice by telephone with Rev. Clive Paton Monday and promised both times he would walk out unarmed in surrender within 30 minutes. However, he remained in the house both times.

During Paton's first talk with Mellish by telephone, the gunman told the minister he would surrender himself 30 minutes later. However, two hours after

Empties Gun, Gives Birth to Boy

Mother in Labor But Intern in Pain

TORONTO (CP) — A hospital intern was in satisfactory condition in St. Michael's Hospital Monday night 12 hours after a woman who refused to believe she was pregnant shot him four times.

Dr. Anthony Tripodi, 24, of Hamilton, was hit in the arm, abdomen, ear and back as the woman, who gave birth to a seven-pound boy four hours later, emptied a .32-calibre revolver at him.

Tripodi was rushed into emergency surgery. Deputy Chief Bernard Simonds said later a warrant for attempted murder will be issued in the case.

Dr. John Schonblum ran in to find the woman still trying to fire the empty gun. He overpowered her as she reached into her purse for more bullets.

The woman was admitted shortly after midnight, complaining of abdominal pains. She refused to believe she was pregnant when told she was being moved to the maternity ward. She blamed Tripodi for her pains.

She had kept her purse with her under a blanket, after being admitted, police said. The intern was giving her a sedative about 4 a.m. when she threw back the blanket and started firing.

Tripodi is serving a year's junior internship at the hospital after graduating from University of Toronto medical school.

Work, Not Miracle Keeps Heart Going

From Reuters-AP

CAPE TOWN — South African dentist Philip Blaiberg, the world's longest surviving heart-transplant patient, is responding well to treatment for a serious lung infection, his wife said Monday.

"It's a miracle — he is much better," Eileen Blaiberg said after a visit to her husband.

Prof. Christiaan Barnard, the surgeon who gave Blaiberg his new heart Jan. 2, was a little more down to earth.

"It's hard work," he said. "You cannot really say it is a miracle but he is much better."

Blaiberg still was not out of danger, but appeared to have responded well to intensive treatment of anti-lymphocyte serum to counter tissue-rejection symptoms.

Minister Goes Overboard If Cabinet Springs Leak

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA (Special) — Prime Minister Trudeau has said it again — his cabinet ministers will have to shape up, or else.

And as a starter, he said in outlining cabinet ground rules, shaping up includes shutting up.

He spent a good part of the initial meeting of this new 29-men cabinet Monday outlining the code of ministerial conduct he is imposing.

Rule No. 1 — At lease this was the first ministerial law he mentioned — is to be preservation of cabinet solidarity and secrecy. "I told them I would be very sticky about it," he said, emerging from his East Block offices into a waiting crowd of newsmen and tourists.

"One mistake, if not two serious might be tolerated, but not two."

With the second error would come dismissal.

"So do your damndest," he invited the press corps.

Such one-two sackings would be the prescribed "punishment," as he put it, for talking out of cabinet turn.

After spending "a good deal of time" in spelling out the tough new rules, the prime minister said he was "very confident" that his ministers would be "very careful."

He had given then an example of what-not-to-do — presumably of something "leaked" from cabinet — and made plain that the instant penalty of a second offence would be.

Only half kidding, he "hoped" none of the assembled newsmen would be "responsible" for prying secrets out of any cabinet minister and having that unfortunate fellow "fired and sent to jail."

Many Help But Top Trip Out of Reach

A healthy boost from such influential sources as Premier Bennett and Canadian Pacific Airlines doesn't appear enough so far to lift Oak Bay's national quiz champions over the international barrier.

By late Monday night the champion 12 high school students it had picked earlier from eastern Canada to compete against England, Scotland and Ireland in a pilot project world quiz contest.

Network spokesmen in Vancouver, Toronto and Ottawa said in various statements there had been a "misunderstanding," that offers of the B.C. government and airline to send the Oak Bay winners were "very kind," but that a switch in plans now appeared impossible.

A storm of protest has been mounting here since it was made known 12 students from Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa were chosen some time ago to represent Canada in the upcoming Trans-World Top Team quiz competition in Britain and Canada.

The 12 were chosen some time before four boys from Oak Bay senior high school won the national Reach for The Top quick-recall television contest in Vancouver Saturday.

—CP

Winning team Dempsey, Izard, Odgers, McDougall

The world-competition is sponsored by the CBC and BBC, but CBC officials say it has no connection with Reach for the Top.

By Monday, Premier Bennet who admits he is an avid fan of Reach for the Top, was terming the exclusion of the Oak Bay team "ridiculous."

Since return contests between teams from Britain have been set for the east, the CBC has said it would be economically unsound to include a team from Oak Bay at this stage.

But Premier Bennett threw the ball back to the network by saying the B.C. government would be only too happy to pay the plane fare of the Oak Bay team from Victoria to Toronto and back.

The winning team consists of Bruce Izard, Robert McDougall, Chris Odgers and Jim Dempsey. All have been enjoying a tour of Edmonton as one of their rewards for winning.

Several hours after Premier Bennett had made his offer, CPA offered guest transportation to Toronto and back for the four boys.

The airline said it was doing this since it appeared the boys were being deprived of a

Mr. Billings was placing "petty obstacles in the way of reaching an agreement which already includes the major items in dispute."

He said later there "will be trouble" if Mr. Billings didn't return to the bargaining table, but he expressed confidence that he would come back "even to tell us no."

Talks that had extended daily over five weeks broke off early Sunday and the name-calling has been going on since.

Sporadic wildcat strikes on Vancouver Island have further complicated the picture.

No sooner had pickets departed and work resumed at Honeymoon Bay than several hundred other men stayed off the job at Tahsis Co. sawmill and the Somass division of MacMillan Bloedel.

Somass voted to go back at midnight Monday, and to be guided by the negotiating committee. Workers tried to set up picket lines at Alberni Pacific division of MacMillan Bloedel but IWA officials told them it was illegal and that they were free to go to work, so they did.

Impatience with the length of negotiations and failure to make headway on increased vacations have been given as reasons.

"I'm quite proud of our members," said Mr. Drew of his strike-free Victoria local.

"However, if the attitude of the industry does not change, it's anybody's guess as to what will happen," he warned.

He said members of the IWA negotiating committee "just can't understand his (Billings') stupid, irresponsible position."

He said Mr. Billings refused to discuss non-wage points the union considered important.

Mr. Drew said: "We are wondering if he isn't taking his orders from somebody else — maybe from J. V. Clyne."

(Mr. Clyne is chairman of the board of MacMillan Bloedel, largest of the forest companies.)

The union had decided earlier to strike only MacMillan Bloedel, but a legal strike was never authorized because of continuing talks. The companies had also served industry-wide lockout notice, but had not acted on it.

Where vacations are concerned, the companies have offered five weeks after 25 years, four weeks after 15 years, three weeks after four years and two weeks after one year. The IWA wants four weeks after 12 years and five weeks after 20 years, plus a 10th statutory holiday.

Among items not settled that are considered important by Mr. Drew are sub-contracting of work, a daily guarantee of earnings in the shingle industry and some rate revisions in logging operations and sawmills.

As telegrams flew back and forth Monday in the absence of meetings, Mr. Moore told Mr. Billings: "Sulking in your office will in no way enhance the reputation of your industry."

Said Mr. Billings in his telegram: "Name-calling and theatricals will not solve our problem."

B.C. Leaping on Trudeau Chariot

both in Victoria and Ottawa, he said.

"Give a mandate to Peter Robinson on July 15 and you will have a new free tunnel crossing," the premier said.

All the outward trappings of a Trudeau style campaign were apparent at Monday night's Socred rally. There were bagpipes and bands and a motorcade, miniskirted cheerleaders, and a contingent of song-bearing youngsters who call themselves Youth for Robinson. But genuine excitement was missing.

CANDY CAPERS

In the motorcade a couple of cars behind the open convertible in which the premier was riding, a group of cheerleaders tossed candy to startled citizens on street corners. The girls carried signs saying candy was "sweeter than kisses."

At the rally there was a fair sprinkling of hecklers in the audience who gave the candidate a fairly rough ride and kept up a noisy barrage throught the premier's 20-minute address.

LATEST OFFER

The hecklers greeted the premier's latest bridge offer with undisguised skepticism. One man shouted the Socreds had promised North Shore voters a new crossing three times in the last five years, always at election time.

Mr. Bennett retorted that when the Pearson administration last year offered to build a new bridge tunnel crossing at an estimated cost of $100,000,000 but with tolls on it as a means of paying back what amounted to a federal loan, the provincial government had promised an outright grant of $27,000,000.

LAST SESSION

The necessary legislation setting up the provincial bridge appropriation was passed at the last session of the legislature.

The premier was adamant there should be no tolls on the new crossing. He said: "We don't want to separate people by tolls, we want to unite them by free crossings."

Mr. Robinson, the 39-year-old Socred who is opposed by a Liberal, a Conservative, a New Democrat and a Communist, said his background in engineering would prove useful in solving problems of traffic and pollution control.

"What about birth control?" shouted a heckler. Mr. Robinson conceded this too was a major problem and someone else in the audience shouted out: "Are you The Pill?"

The candidate said that citizens on the North Shore who had three Liberal MLAs prior to the resignation of Mr. Perrault last spring are "second-class citizens." He added: "It is our right to have a voice in the administration of our own affairs."

Among other speakers at the rally were Attorney-General Leslie Peterson ("Elect one government member out of your three North Shore MLAs, is that too much to ask?"); minister without portfolio, Mrs. Grace McCarthy, who accused the opposition of resorting to petty politics and name calling, and Vancouver Centre MLA Herb Capozzi, who claimed the people of Canada want strong leaders as was shown in the last federal election and now should support "the good and great leader we have provincially."

Journey Out of Reach

Said Premier Bennett, in connection with his government's offer:

"It appears the CBC powers that be and those in the BBC, for reasons best known to themselves, want to send a team from somewhere in eastern Canada to the international competition.

"They are using the lame excuse that it costs more to send a team from Victoria.

"The difference in travel costs would amount to $200 per team member at the outside—so this excuse is just plain stupid."

He said the offer was made on the basis of "Canadian unity and fair play."

The move could be important for the premier for one other reason: he is hoping to win the provincial seat in Oak Bay away from the Liberals in the July 15 byelection.

But his party isn't the only one in the act and it appeared by Monday night that if a door is to be opened to the Oak Bay team, it would have to be opened in Ottawa.

David Groos, Liberal MP for Victoria, sent a telegram of protest Monday morning to Secretary of State Gerard Pelletier. The same was done the day before by Donald Brothers, B.C. minister of education.

And 10 days ago, Attorney-General Leslie Peterson wrote to the show's producer, Sandy Stewart, in Toronto.

As far as could be learned Monday night, there have been no replies. In Ottawa, J. P. Gilmore, CBC vice-president of planning and assistant chief operational officer, said:

"This (the international contest) has nothing to do with the winner of the program contest in Canada.

"Because of the need to make travel arrangements on both sides ahead of time, we could not wait until the contest was over."

He said the three Canadian teams chosen at random just happened to be from eastern Canada.

Earlier, Sandy Stewart said it was much more economically sound to have the British teams return only to eastern Canada. He said it was simply a pilot project and he hoped all major Canadian cities would be included in such competitions in the future.

Since there is no connection with the two competitions, Oak Bay senior high school principal Jack Wallace said he would make no further protest.

"We were quite happy just to have won," he said.

At its regular meeting Monday night, Oak Bay Council set up a merit committee with Ald. Ian Horne as chairman and decided the first item of business would be to decide what could be done to help the local team enter the international contest.

Mayor Fred Hawes and others decided to forward congratulations to the boys in the meantime.

The secretary of state was centred out for communications from Mr. Groos and Mr. Brothers because one of the jobs of his department is to report to Parliament for the CBC.

In his telegram, Mr. Brothers asked Mr. Pelletier to consider the Oak Bay team for the overseas trip because of its national triumph.

In Vancouver, B.C. regional director of the CBC, Robert McCall, said of Premier Bennett's transportation offer: "That's a very kind offer."

But, he added, "the people who are going were booked some time ago."

that Mellish still had not come out.

Paton telephoned Mellish again and the gunman said he was "still thinking it over." But he promised a second time to surrender in a half an hour. Mellish again did not appear.

Mellish began his siege last Monday when he captured Beryl and her baby and threatened to shoot them if police tried to storm the house.

A short time later, he called a truce and two policemen entered the house to act as witnesses to his wedding to Beryl.

Mellish and the police shook hands, then took up their opposing positions. Police have since supplied Mellish with a gun and ammunition, a manoeuvre that brought criticism from several citizens.

On Sunday, Beryl expressed fear for her life and told a newspaper by telephone interview, "I didn't know he was like this when I married him."

Cabinet Leak

at Rideau Hall, they had all sworn the oath of secrecy in their pledge of allegiance.

And that, as far as he was concerned, was that.

And during most of former prime minister Lester Pearson's troubled parliamentary days, the opposition frequently made a issue of the sieve-like qualities of cabinet and the unsolidarity of its composition.

It was a weapon of ridicule that former Conservative leader John Diefenbaker often used against Pearson.

The last break in cabinet solidarity came in the dying days of the Pearson regime, when prior to the Liberal leadership convention former trade minister Robert Winters publicly belabored the government in general and ex-finance minister Mitchell Sharp in particular for what he charged was "lack of fiscal integrity."

This charge of economic irresponsibility became a sore point within the government itself with Winters resigning rather than continuing to be associated with it.

The controversy ran as an undercurrent in the leadership convention, but it was only one of many troubled situations into which cabinet "leakage" and conflict plunged the government.

POLLUTION CONTROL

The government has suddenly become interested in pollution control since 3 Provincial Byelections have been called for July 15th. One wonders why this interest was not apparent when the Government was allowing mines and mills to discharge polluted waste into our lakes and rivers. Be that as it may, I agree that action is long overdue.

When I was Reeve of Oak Bay and a Director of the Regional District for the Capital City Region, the Government put out a proposal that Regional Districts assume control of air, water and land pollution. The Regional District Directors' attitude was, fine . . . we will enforce regulations if the Government will pass standard province-wide ones.

It is pointless to leave the standard of pollution control to local areas. The Government must accept its responsibility to bring in tough and uniform controls throughout B.C., even if they will be unpopular with some of the industries which support the Social Credit Party. If the Government will do this, I am sure that local officials will provide the necessary enforcement.

This is the position I will fight for if you elect me as your Legislative representative for the Oak Bay riding on July 15th.

Remember! The Advance Poll is Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 11, 12 and 13, from 1 p.m. 'til 9 p.m. at the Oak Bay Municipal Hall. For information and transportation please call 388-5419.

Tied Tubes Can Be Fixed

Your Good Health

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: I had my tubes tied several years ago because I was having a baby every 10 to 14 months.

My husband died three years ago. I am now married to a very special guy who loves me very dearly and I would give anything to have a child by this marriage.

I know there are operations for nearly everything else. Can anything be done for me? — H.V.

Possibly. Such operations to restore the Fallopian tubes have been developed. Unfortunately, there is no way to guarantee success. Sometimes it works; sometimes it doesn't.

It is because of such changes of mind — and because the restoration surgery may not succeed — that I take a dim view of tying off the Fallopian tubes as a means of contraception. There are other, less permanent, ways to prevent pregnancy.

Dear Dr. Molner: Does drinking affect anyone with emphysema and a little arthritis of the spine? My husband has four drinks a day, mostly consisting of gin, and is recovering from a slipped disk and has emphysema. — Mrs. S.G.

There is no direct effect of alcohol on either type of ailment, with this exception: if the drinking is accompanied by smoking, which is often the case, the smoking is vitally harmful for anyone with emphysema.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please tell me how cranberry juice helps the kidneys. — Mrs. B.L.C

It helps only in certain circumstances. Most fruit juices leave what is known as an alkaline ash — alkaline residue after digestion. The urine tends to become alkaline.

Cranberry juice, among a few others, leaves an acid ash, so urine becomes more acid. In some kidney and bladder problems, it is highly desirable to increase the acidity, hence the value of cranberry juice in those cases.

Note to Mrs. J. A. U.: The sexual practice you mention is doubtless more common than your realize. However, since it is disagreeable to you (and it is certainly a deviation) there is no reason why you should be forced to accept it.

It is difficult in a newspaper column to go into details on questions like yours — and there are more such questions than you can imagine. Under the circumstances, all I can do is to repeat what experts say. Many odd sexual practices are harmless from a health standpoint if the partners agree. But when they are unacceptable to one person or the other, they are wrong.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved . . . actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Soviet Peace Bid Coincides

Suez Fighting Flares Again

From AP-Reuters

Israeli and Egyptian troops exchanged artillery and small arms fire for more than three hours Monday along the Suez Canal ceasefire line, the Israeli army announced.

The new clash, the first at the canal since June 23, broke out at a time when the possibilities of a negotiated peace in the Middle East were under discussion in London, Moscow and Jerusalem.

UN ARRANGED HALT

The Israeli Army reported the battle continued until UN observers arranged a halt. The Israelis reported one soldier wounded, but gave no information on Egyptian casualties.

A Cairo radio broadcast monitored in Beirut said Egyptian forces silenced Israeli fire on a populated quarter of the town of Suez.

Israel said the battle was started by Egyptians and Israeli troops fired back.

Israeli army reports said that the fighting was along a six-mile front at the canal's southern end. Israel said that one ceasefire was arranged, but that the Egyptians ignored it.

Israeli troops then resumed shelling Egyptian positions until the second ceasefire was arranged, the army said.

In London, meanwhile, there was a flurry of diplomatic exchanges and some signs that Russia was trying to get the Arabs and Israelis to agree on a settlement.

NO SIGN GIVEN

President Nasser of Egypt prolonged his stay in Moscow for additional talks with Soviet leaders on the Middle East. A terse Soviet announcement gave no sign that Nasser and his hosts had agreed on an approach to a Middle East settlement.

Moscow observers said Soviet leaders probably discussed a U.S. announcement of sale of ground-to-air rockets to Israel with Nasser Monday.

Some reports said Nasser was seeking further arms supplies during his talks here.

Savage Fighting Rages

SAIGON (AP) — Savage fighting between U.S. marines and North Vietnamese near the so-called demilitarized zone pointed up Monday the threat of a new enemy offensive in the northern part of South Vietnam.

In addition to enemy pressure near the zone dividing Vietnam, the possibility of new attacks on Saigon raised the prospects of heavy fighting on two fronts.

President Nguyen Van Thieu announced he was postponing again a visit to the United States because of the threat of a new enemy offensive.

U.S. and South Vietnamese officials are known to feel the enemy will try to make good on warnings of new and more intensive attacks in South Vietnam.

NEW THREATS

A U.S. miltary spokesman reported marines killed 201 North Vietnamese in two battles Sunday and one last Friday.

All the fighting centred around Gio Linh, near the eastern end of the demilitarized zone and about three miles south of the zone.

PLANES, SHIPS

Planes and navy ships have been pounding the northern three miles of the zone, where the North Vietnamese are dug in, and communications leading from the north in an effort to check the flow of men and weapons.

There was little action elsewhere except around Saigon, where South Vietnamese troops launched another of the sweeps that officers believe have been a factor in stalling off new enemy attacks on the capital.

Striking 25 miles northwest of Saigon, the South Vietnamese uncovered a weapons cache containing a rocket launcher, 130 pounds of rockets, ammunition and mines.

Chimp Can Fool Deadly Sniffer

LONG BINH (AP) — When Lieut. Lyle Paratt was assigned by the U.S. Army to sniff people his reaction was: "You must be kidding!"

The people sniffer — a machine mounted in a helicopter and called a personnel detector by the army — came to South Vietnam last year. It detects body odor.

Senior sniffer is Capt. Kervin Sellers. The other members of the team are Paratt and Sgt. Forest Sweitzer.

The only thing that can fool the machine, its makers claim, is a chimpanzee. Whether human beings like to admit it or not, the chimp smells just like we do.

Sellers, Sweitzer and Paratt have been sniffing mostly over the jungles north of Siagon.

They mastered the job through "on-the-job training." There were no manuals on people sniffing when the machine first came out.

Sweitzer says he now can wing over the jungle and personally sniff out Viet Cong cooking fires, foodstuffs and other items, though he doesn't claim to compete with the machine.

Hanoi Claims U.S. Losses

PARIS (UPI)—The official spokesman for the North Vietnamese delegation at the Paris Vietnam war talks Monday claimed communist troops scored a series of military "victories" over U.S. forces in fighting in the Khe Sanh region near the demilitarized zone.

Cong Attack With Gas

SAIGON (Reuters) — Viet Cong guerrillas sprayed gas on a South Vietnamese militia post Monday night, causing four soldiers to vomit blood, a South Vietnamese spokesman said today.

Sato's Victory Seen As Support for West

TOKYO (AP) — Premier Eisaku Sato said Monday he considers his Liberal-Democratic party's victory in Sunday's upper-house election a vote of confidence in his government and his pro-Western policies.

Sato made the statement after still-incomplete election returns assured his party of a comfortable majority in the 250-member House of Councillors. The Liberal-Democrats also have a large majority in the lower house.

Half, or 125, of the six-year-term upper-house seats are at stake in elections every third year. The election Sunday was for 126 seats because of a vacancy left by death.

Gains also were registered by the Buddhist Komei-Clean Government-party, the moderate Democratic Socialist party and the Japan Communist party, all at the expense of the Socialist party, the chief opposition, which strongly opposed Sato's pro-Western policies.

With the winners of eight seats still undecided, the Liberal Democrats had won 68 seats. With 68 seats held over, they have a total of 136, compared with their 139 before the election.

U.K. Envoy Still Held

LONDON (UPI) — Communist China is holding Britain's envoy in Peking a virtual hostage, authoritative sources said Monday.

Sir Donald Hopson, the British charge d'affaires in Peking has applied unsuccessfully for permission to leave China where he has been the head of the British mission for several years.

Two weeks ago Hopson formally applied to the Chinese authorities in Peking for an exit visa, to return to Britain. Processing of it has been stalled.

A Good Team

PRIME MINISTER TRUDEAU'S selection of cabinet members is likely to attract more praise than criticism across the country despite Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield's predictably disparaging remarks.

For the first time in more than five years the federal executive council has reasonable cross-country representation and youth on its side. True, 16 of the 29 ministers now appointed are hold-overs from the Pearson cabinet but the remainder are all new to the government since April — five appointed at that time and eight named last Friday.

In making up his team Mr. Trudeau left only four major portfolios unchanged, choosing to shuffle posts for the other 15 serving in his April cabinet and bringing in eight new members, two of whom are freshman MPs.

Particularly pleasing was the inclusion in his cabinet of Eric Kierans and his promotion of John Turner to justice minister. Equally apt was his removal of Arthur Laing from Indian Affairs, a post which appeared to be beyond the capability of the British Columbian minister.

Within the scope of material at his disposal Mr. Trudeau has obviously attempted to come up with a combination of youth, experience and ability. In the matter of youth, for instance, no less than 21 of his 29-man team are under 50 years of age, 15 in their 40s and six in their 30s. Many of these — along with their older colleagues — have had considerable experience in government, though some still have to prove their ability.

But of all the things most appealing to the general public at this time in Mr. Trudeau's first major cabinet exercise was his thinly disguised threat that he expects his ministers to produce — or else.

Oak Bay's Choice

FOR THE SIXTEEN years since Social Credit came to power in British Columbia, Oak Bay has provided Liberal thorns to help prick the government, or as Premier Bennett naturally sees it, to help throw sand in the gears. One cannot say that Oak Bay has punished itself to provide criticsm, for there has been no sign of provincial discrimination except in the minor instance that no ferry bears its name.

But it is a point well made that the voters of the Oak Bay constituency could do more for good government by adding an energetic and constructive local representative to the ranks of the Social Credit MLAs than by choosing again a Liberal destined to side with the socialist official Opposition, an Opposition already quite ample for its task.

It is utterly unrealistic to suggest—though it has been suggested—that the voice of criticsm would be stifled in the legislature, the examination of the government's integrity ended, by the depletion of the Opposition and the strengthening of the government side by one man. Acute and outspoken as Mr. Alan Macfarlane was in this role, he was hardly alone or unmatched. And criticism from within, free of suggestion of inimical partisan purpose, is more apt to be of effect than that which can be regarded or pictured as throwing political sand in the gears.

The voters of the enlarged Oak Bay riding will choose between two worthy major contenders in the forthcoming byelection—and this is not to suggest that the NDP candidate is unworthy, but only that the New Democrats haven't a chance in Oak Bay. The Liberal, Mr. Allan Cox, has a noteable record of municipal and other service to the community. The Social Credit candidate, Mr. Peter Pollen, is a dynamic and progressive young businessman who would undoubtedly bring sound counsel and initiative to public office, and who has brought something of the Trudeau aura to the campaign.

In British Columbia as a whole, the only credible alternative to the Social Credit government now is a New Democratic government. Provincially the Conservatives are dead; the Liberal politicians if not moribund are a splinter group, their performance Ottawa-oriented. If they were to succeed in helping to tear down the Bennett administration, they would be handing B.C. to the New Democrats.

Given this equation and an exceptionally attractive Social Credit candidate, the people of the Oak Bay constituency should have no difficulty in deciding where their votes will have the best value.

Unjust Selection

ONE OF THE PROGRAMS presented by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation which has earned wide popularity—something the lavishly endowed Crown operation rarely achieves—is Reach For The Top. It is a nation-wide youth quiz competition on general knowledge. On Saturday four 17-year-old boys, representing Oak Bay Senior Secondary School and the province, defeated Nova Scotia in the final round.

But James Dempsey, Bruce Izard, Chris Odgers and Robert McDougall, although they are clearly and decisively the national champions in a difficult and demanding field, won't represent their country in competition with English, Scottish and Irish teams.

That honor will go to 12 Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal students selected, presumably by the CBC sponsoring authority, but on a basis which has not been satisfactorily explained. It certainly was not because of any pressure of time, for the meeting of the British and Canadian contestants in Britain is not scheduled until October.

Mr. Sandy Stewart, who is the producer of the show, Reach For The Top, gave the rather fatuous explanation that the CBC's selection was made on a basis of televison image, whatever that means, rather than ability. And he added the choice was "strictly for reasons of economics."

Coming from a CBC producer, such an excuse is simply not acceptable. The corporation has never been noted for its economics. On the contrary, it has been frequently under fire for reckless spending of public funds, running to $154,000,000 in its last budget, and such instances of careless spending as the $450,000 for work never done and $104,000 for Montreal hotel rooms never used.

Even if it is true that an unaccustomed thriftiness is back of the selection of the eastern students as Canada's representatives, Premier Bennett's offer to pay the difference in travel costs removes that obstacle.

His comment that the CBC's decision is "ridiculous" precisely fits the situation.

It is also unjust, and for that reason is bound to be deeply resented.

Now get out there and learn to kiss!

Politics Has No Space for Eggheads, As Tory Strategists Learned Too Late

ADD post-post-mortems: You would have thought that the Conservatives might have taken a lesson from those five Pearson years of minority government.

But no.

They had seen Lester Pearson's "new politics," as he called them, fail through four elections to produce the elusive majority with which a government does business.

But having seen all that, the Conservatives went for the same crazy kind of "new politics."

They ruthlessly purged the wizard of "old politics," John Diefenbaker, who gave them their greatest-ever taste of 208-seat-majority power and they discredited all within the party who didn't subscribe to the doctrine of "new politics."

So they put the eggheads in charge.

They called their "thinkers' conference" at Montmorency where Marcel Faribault produced the fatal "deux nations" concept of federal Conservatism.

No matter, the exponents of the "new politics" told them, if the "deux nations" freak-out produced a backlash in English Canada. It would sew up Quebec, wouldn't it, and what else really mattered?

Then they built themselves their "think tank" here in the Centre Block, using the offices of their MPs, absent on the campaign trail, to accommodate a school of professorial "new politics" types from the university campuses and an accompanying horde of college students.

These were the minds, wise in the ways of "new politics," who would fashion the victory.

Theirs would be the policies to win the votes.

Never mind that the professors had never run for so much as township or county council. Never mind that few of the students knew enough of the practicalities of politics "new" or old to know a polling station from a comfort station.

They would "think" the Conservatives to power and glory.

Well, you should have been here to see and hear it.

The students, assigned by the professors to "think" housing, didn't know — honest to Stanfield — that there was a housing problem.

How can such an unlikely thing be said of the young eggheads?

On the basis of the captain of the student "think-in" on housing policy calling up some old hands in the Conservative research office here and asking "where and what is the housing problem."

They were told, in full detail, nothing withheld from them.

And they produced the Conservative housing policy, ludicrous to the point that it quickly turned out to embrace four major measures already written into legislation by the Liberal government.

But not, incredibly, before they let Stanfield spell it out on the platform. Then only did they discover, to everyone's embarrassment save their own, that they had him "me-tooing" in promise some of the things the Liberals already had done in fact.

Done in Parliament, and with the help of many Conservative members.

Conservative National Headquarters here — apart altogether from its "think tank" on Parliament Hill — was socked in by a second cloud of young experts in the "new politics," most of them likely working on degrees in political economy or political science.

Those who saw them in action suspect that when it came to research — for election speeches and campaign policy statements — they did well if they managed to look up a name in the phone directory.

Certain it is that when they required firm facts and hard figures that go into the structuring of policy speeches, they didn't know where to look.

They couldn't be faulted for good intentions, energy, enthusiasm and endless drive. All they lacked was know-how.

Lost in a fog, they didn't know where to go and what to do if they got there. And in the organized confusion of the Conservative campaign, there seemed nobody around to tell them.

With the Liberals it was different.

They had the same swarm of eager young activists buzzing around.

But the pragmatic prime minister and such hard heads around him as that Man Friday extraordinaire, William Lee, shooed them all out where they could do some campaign good.

And that wasn't in any policy "think tank" or underfoot in national campaign headquarters.

It was out in the constituencies where their energy and enthusiasm were usefully harnessed in what was known as "the bleeding knuckle bit," knocking on doors, and even more usefully giving Liberal campaign rallies the look of youth.

Open Bridges Policy

Welcome to the Land of Israel Leaves Arab People Skeptical

By IRENE BEESON
from Amman

THE air of Jerusalem was thick with rumor of new breaches of the ceasefire, Syrian and Iraqi troop concentrations, and impending battle in the Jordan Valley. But down at the Allenby Bridge over the Jordan river, there were the unchanged daily queues of people, cars, lorries and buses waiting to cross in either direction; visitors and merchandise from the Israeli-occupied West Bank to the sovereign East Bank; visitors and empty lorries returning from the East Bank to the West.

The morning newspapers in Israel were saying "Welcome, welcome" to "a new type of tourist" coming to the "Land of Israel" . . . the "sons and brothers of our Arab cousins of the West Bank."

Israel is expecting thousands of West Bank Arab students and workers, studying and working abroad to come and spend their summer holidays in Israeli-occupied territories. According to Israel this unique program of "holidays in enemy territory and enemy-occupied areas" was arranged at the request of West Bank "notables." It is part of the "open bridges policy" which has enabled an estimated 100,000 people to cross the Jordan river, back and forth, in the past year.

The Israeli press describes this policy of free movement as a step to "complete the process of normalization begun last summer, and to instil the basic fact in the minds of Arabs and Jews alike that the two peoples can get along together."

Jordanian officials to whom I spoke consider this traffic between the two countries who were at war a year ago, and between whom there is still no peace treaty, as an effort to keep the West Bank inhabitants and East Jerusalemites living under Israeli occupation "within the Jordanian fold."

They say: "If we were to close the bridges and stop importing West Bank produce our people in the occupied territories would be as isolated as were the Arabs in Israel in the past 20 years. Economically, it would be ruinous for them. We have received petitions, both here in Amman and from some of our people on the West Bank and Jerusalem to close the bridges, because we feel that ultimately this would be against Jordan's interests."

But extreme Palestinian nationalists here, in Jerusalem and in the occupied areas, see the situation differently.

"There should be no traffic between Jordan and the occupied areas," they say. "Did you British trade with the Germans in the Second World War? Was there tourist traffic between Germany and German-occupied Europe?"

They see the open-bridges policy as a clever Israeli propaganda stunt, and at the same time, a shrewd economic move.

"If West Bank produce were kept here," tradesmen in Jerusalem and Gaza argue, "the Israeli government would have to find outlets for it also here. West Bank produce is cheaper than Israeli produce, and if it were not disposed of through the normal pre-war channels — that is, to the East Bank — the local markets of the West Bank would be flooded and the prices of Israeli-produced goods would be forced down.

"This marketing is a one-way traffic, because no goods from Jordan's East Bank are allowed into Israeli-occupied territories. The benefit to Israel is twofold. The occupied areas are compelled to buy Israeli produce instead of goods manufactured in or imported through the East Bank, and West Bank produce is a good source of hard currency."

But moderate Palestinians and Jordanians see that the open-bridges policy has advantages for the Arabs.

"Too many people have left the occuped areas since last year's June war,' one of them told me in Jerusalem, "because of economic problems, and because they found it difficult, psychologically and in other ways, to live under Israeli rule."

A Palestinian politican said: "There is growing resistance in all the occupied areas, and naturally, growing repression. There is less, not more, collaboration between Jews and Arabs. So, visits to and from the East Bank and other Arab countries help those living under Israeli rule to bear the abnormal conditions. Also they help to maintain contact between Palestinians.

"Those of us who visit the refugee camps on Jordan's East Bank, who see the slums of Amman where thousands of displaced Palestinians live in misery, come back resolved to remain in occupied territory, no matter how hard it is.

"Friends and relatives who come to the occupied areas do not come as 'tourists' — they come to vist their families, to see how we are living. Their visits are in a sense fact-finding missions."

A businessman in Amman told me: "Of course we visit Israel, and it is true we see improvements there, just as we see improvements in all the countries in the area. But in visiting Israel we visit what we regard as our own homes and land — the places we were forced to leave 20 years ago. We come back sick and angry. We come back convinced there can be no peace between us and the Jews until there is a radical change in their approach to the whole problem.

"They talk about normalization, but if they were sincere about it they would authorize the displaced Palestinians to return. Let them say 'Welcome, welcome' to the refugees who want to go home and open the bridges to them. Then we will believe their good intentions."

Russians Return To Ghana

By CAMERON DUODU
from Accra, Ghana

THE Russians are back in town here for the first time since the Ghanaian army fought the Russian security personnel who formed part of former president Kwame Nkrumah's palace guard during the February, 1966, coup d'etat.

Twelve Soviet technicians arrived last week to discuss with the Ghana government the possibility of restoring some of the projects on which the Russians were working before the coup, when all Russians were expelled.

Among the projects on which talks are taking place are a prefabricated concrete panel factory, aimed at producing 70,000 rooms a year, a fish canning factory and a gold refinery. Last Mayan agreement was reached between the two countries under which the Russians undertook to examine the projects and advise Ghana on the possibilities of resuming work.

There is no doubt that a Soviet-Ghanaian rapprochement, if it materializes, will be restricted to the purely economic field and have nothing to do with anything that is political, such as the new base for the Ghana air force.

Reprisals Improbable

NATO's Hands Tied In Berlin Incident

By NEAL ASCHERSON from West Berlin

How do you hit back? There is a sense of helplessness in West Berlin — and in NATO as well — about the new East German measures to control the access routes to the city.

Letters suggesting ways to hurt East Germany or reinforce West Berlin pile up in the town hall. But all countermeasures in sight would hurt the punisher at least as much as the punished. Worse, blind retaliation may be just what the East Germans hoped to provoke.

The new measures are now in force. There is no chaos, no panic. At the crossing-points at Helmstedt and Drewitz, where the long serpents of trucks and cars inch forward through the controls before setting out across the autobahn, the East German customs men now exact a 10-mark ($2.50) return visa fee and demand that West Germans produce their passports.

Practical steps to soften the blow have been taken. The 10 marks can now be refunded to the traveller by any West German or West Berlin post office. The Bonn government has extended the Berlin assistance law, providing for tax concessions and other inducements to the city's economy. But the sliver of salami which the East Germans have taken cannot be overlooked. From unanimously denying individuals road or rail transit on a mere "nein," they have advanced to a stage where they formally issue or refuse visas.

The first counter-blow was to impose a 20-mark fee on East Germans who apply to visit NATO countries. West Germany would also like to enlarge the category of "undesirables" — now limited to "political" applicants — denied permission to visit NATO countries.

But does Bonn really want to make life more difficult for the ordinary East German? To put more teeth in the travel regulations only means that businessmen and scientists and writers who long to travel to the West will have even less chance of doing so than before. To aim blows at the East German standard of living — a reprisal which has also been suggested — is hardly going to endear Bonn to unpolitical housewives and their families in Leipzig or Rostock.

But it is in foreign policy in the broad sense that the West German and NATO dilemma is most glaring. NATO is committed to relaxing tension in Europe, to demolishing cold war barriers. To retaliate against East Germany would be to restore such barriers. In Eastern Europe, the new West German "ostpolitik" of setting up diplomatic and commercial links would look hollow.

This dilemma helps to explain the bizarre NATO reaction at the recent pact meeting in Iceland. On the one hand, the members reaffirmed their wish to relax tension. On the other, they announced that they would not recognize East Germany, which they have never stated so explicitly before. At the same time, U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and his NATO colleagues took pains to place most of the blame for the new Berlin regulations on the Soviet Union. There are reasons to suppose that the Russians approved East German leader Walter Ulbricht's action rather than planned it, but the NATO powers probably fear that to make East Germany squarely responsible would involve them in taking stronger reprisals — which they are unwilling to take.

The feeling in the West is that Ulbricht, in particular, wants to tempt West Germany into discrediting its new "ostpolitik."

The situation may become more serious this autumn. A series of Bundestag (parliament) committee meetings is planned in West Berlin, and the Christian Democrats are to hold their party congress there. If the East Germans use their visa control to deny road and rail access to deputies and politicians — they can always use the air link, of course — right wing pressure to take a much tougher policy towards East Germany might become loud.

West Germany —and in its train, the rather unwilling NATO powers — are being squeezed ever more tightly in a contradiction. The attempt to relax tension while maintaining the refusal to recognize East Germany is revealed gradually as impossible. This preoccupies many of the younger generation in West Germany.

Some are re-examining the old idea that a deal could be made: recognition of East Germany in return for a solid guarantee of free access to Berlin. But it remains to be seen whether the East Germans would then be ready to give up their recurrent claim that West Berlin is on their territory, and whether they would not be tempted to go on trying to absorb the great enclave, with its two million people and rich industries.

Frustrated Buyer

Modern Producers Consumers' Enemy

By FRANK LOWE

THE other day, as I carefully nipped the filter off the end of a cigarette so I could get a decent smoke, it struck me that merchandising today is becoming so efficient it is more and more difficult for the consumer to get anything he really likes.

The cigarette incident is one example. I found myself needing my "once-every-two-hour" tobacco fix, with no cigarettes. The only source of tobacco available was a vending machine. The vending machine had nothing but filter tips to offer.

And as fas as I am concerned, smoking a filtered cigarette is about as satisfying as eating stew through a straw. You never get at the meat of the matter.

So, as I puffed at my truncated cigarette — at least without the filter, I could taste a little of the tobacco — I thought about the plight of the present-day consumer.

I was sitting there, smoking a filterless filter cigarette, because it was more convenient for the tobacco companies. And there are many other areas in which the same thing happens.

It is getting almost impossible, for instance, to buy a decent loaf of bread during a routine shopping expedition. Most of the supermarkets where one buys ordinary groceries stock only that pre-sliced stuff which may be suitable for caulking boats, but isn't really bread.

So a special trip has to be made to find a good bakery or delicatessen where a fresh-baked, warm, crusty loaf of bread can still be found.

Why? Because the merchandisers, obviously, feel it is more efficient, and therefore more convenient for them, to put out the mass-produced stuff which bears about as much resemblance to bread as I do to Tony Curtis.

Once one starts brooding about this sort of thing, the list begins to lengthen. When was the last time you ate an egg that tasted like an egg, to take another example?

Now, it seems, all eggs sold in regular emporiums are mass produced by chickens that sit in some kind of a chicken factory. They never get outside, they are fed scientifically, and they produce eggs like crazy.

This is great for the producer. But for the fellow who likes to eat eggs — well, once again he has to hunt around for a place where real eggs are sold.

The same holds true for orange juice. Apparently the present-day juice drinker is so debilitated — maybe because he never gets any real food — he is incapable of squeezing an orange.

So everyone peddles cans and packages of stuff which is said to be better than orange juice.

It really isn't, you know. Most of it is nothing but liquid heartburn. Orange-colored acid which can only be considered useful if it contains a couple of ounces of vodka.

And I certainly don't think that is the kind of diet we want our kids to grow up on.

But while it isn't better than orange juice, it obviously is better for the producer.

I could go on about this trend which insists that everything in the food and drink line which is artificial or synthetic or "instant" is better than the real thing. But I won't — it is too depressing.

The big worry in all this, of course, is not about the people of my generation. At least we can remember how good real food once tasted.

My worry is for our kids. There is a good chance that millions of them will grow up in this most affluent country without ever knowing what good, authentic food really tastes like. It is a sobering thought.

U.S. Nuclear Expert Assesses Vietnam Situation

'Think Victory, Not Pullout' U.S. Advised

By WILLIAM TUOHY
From Saigon

Defence analyst Herman Kahn still thinks about the unthinkable — but the unthinkable these days is Vietnam, not an imagined Third World war.

Kahn, author of On Thermonuclear War, a 1960 book analyzing the possible results of nuclear conflict, and Thinking About the Unthinkable, an attempt to calculate the course of a possible third world war, has been in Vietnam recently to study problems and make recommendations o U.S. officials.

A rotund, bespectacled, quick-talking dynamo, he left the rand corp. in Santa Monica, Calif. In 1961 he founded his own "think tank" — The Hudson Institute, where he and other specialists study strategic defence and other questions. Much of the Institute's funds comes from the Pentagon.

Although known as an expert on nuclear warfare, Kahn's institute also has analyzed counter-insurgency and peace-keeping measures.

Prospects are dim for reaching a Vietnam settlement at the Paris preliminary peace talks, Kahn said in an interview here, mainly because the North Vietnamese want to humiliate the United States.

Hanoi wants to get more from a settlement than the U.S. and the South Vietnamese governments can afford to give, he said.

"Still, you have to try. But there's no reason to kid ourselves. I would go an extra half mile, even an extra mile toward a compromise to reach an agreement with Hanoi.

"But not an extra 10 miles. Yet, Hanoi wants us to go 50 miles. That is the magnitude of the problem.

"The problem here is that the historic way to get a peace settlement is after one side or the other has won. This, of course, hasn't happened yet in Vietnam."

Kahn cautioned against differentiating sharply between political and military settlements.

"Those who speak only of a political settlement don't realize the most important political facts in Vietnam tend to be military facts and military prospects."

If the United States really wants to get out of Vietnam at any price, Kahn thinks 1968 is a good time to do it.

"This is a vintage year for an international sellout," he said.

"The kind of sellout that would have had catastrophic international effects in the early 1960s would have relatively little effect today. England, France, Russia and other nations have other fish to fry."

Domestic repercussions, however, would be another story.

A Vietnam pullout by a liberal American president would crystallize a coalition in the United States charging that America had been dishonored and humiliated, Kahn said. Such a coalition of the centre and right would cripple any U.S. administration which "sold out," he said.

"Furthermore, I believe it is a fallacy to think that money used to support the war in Vietnam would automatically go into great society programs if the war whould suddenly be liquidated.

"I think you would have an even harder time funding such programs — if a significant percentage of the American people felt dishonored by the kind of settlement made in Vietnam."

Instead of withdrawal, Kahn recommends prosecuting the war more efficiently.

The United States, he said, must also have a "theory of victory" that does not depend upon breaking the enemy's will, but rather will make it plain to Hanoi that the United States intends to stay in Vietnam and that the allies have the means to achieve eventual military victory.

Once Hanoi recognizes this, Kahn said, the North Vietnamese leaders may decide to cut their losses by pulling back without having suffered a public defeat of will.

With an improvement in U.S. effectiveness, Kahn foresees a possible reduction of U.S. troop strength to 250,000 men, with a larger proportion of fighting men.

"If pursued vigorously and intelligently, it would be possible to shift much of the burden to the Vietnamese," he said. "If Hanoi realizes that we can then keep the steady pressure on year after year — at not much cost to the United States domestically — then this sense of the hopelessness of victory may lead to the ultimate resolution of the war."

BACKGROUND

De Gaulle's Huge Victory Leaves Problem Unsolved

By DON COOK
From Paris

France, in fact, has arrived at a remarkably contradictory situation in which President de Gaulle's regime has been reconfirmed and reinforced in power by an unprecedented election victory — yet everything is uncertain and nothing is the same.

The old Gaullist power is not the same despite the vast new control of the national assembly. The problems which the government faces are certainly not the same as the problems it thought it faced in April.

The economy is not the same, the attitude of the outside world towards French grandeur is not the same, and needless to say the internal politics of France have been shattered almost beyond recognition or relationship to the politics of the past.

"The first thing to be clear about," an experienced and wise veteran of French public life who has known de Gaulle for many years said to is correspondent after the election results were in, "is that this is not a vote of confidence in the de Gaulle government. It is a vote against the Communists and for stability and order.

"But if the de Gaulle government does not live up to the challenge and produce the reforms and changes which are necessary, then all this Gaullist support which we have seen will disappear overnight. It all depends on what de Gaulle intends to do, and this we do not know."

Nevertheless, this Frenchman as well as just about every other politically informed person in Paris realizes and expects that de Gaulle will take the vote as a clear and massive endorsement of his personal rule.

As is his style, de Gaulle again has all the reins of power in his own hands, and will reveal what he intends to do only in his own manner, at his own timing, and on his own terms.

After 10 years in power, he is now the great reformist, who suddenly envisages a France carried to new liberal heights of domestic change and internal reorganization which somehow missed his vision until the events of May.

There is no question of the need for reform in France — the education structure, the whole pattern of relations between industry and labor, above all the great subsurface root of the problem which is that French democracy has achieved liberty and fraternity but not yet equality.

Whether the measures taken will answer the problems or send French workmen into raptures over a new millenium of equality and social order remains to be seen.

But it does in fact seem pretty doubtful that a president and a government machine which drifted into a near disaster two months ago now is really capable of turning around and thrusting convincingly at the future.

Apart from these questions of deep and difficult reform, there are the short-term practical problems of the state of the economy.

De Gaulle's trusted foreign minister for the last 10 years, Maurice Couve de Murville, has not moved from the Quai Dorsay to the ministry of finance merely for a change of air. The shift is a clear recognition of the fact that internal instead of external affairs are now the major preoccupation of the Gaullist regime.

In some ways, economists can make out a good case for France's outlook. First of all, it is a very wealthy, well-balanced country which, unlike Britian, can feed itself.

Wage increases, economists quickly point out, mean consumer purchasing power which in turn means more production and economic expansion. Therefore the national wage boosts which average from 12 to 15 per cent may in fact turn out to be a spur to a lagging economy.

This is true as far as it goes. But wage increases are also inflationary, they mean greater demand for imports from abroad, and they have to be paid either by taxes or increased production.

France has been stagnating for nearly four years, and it is just not in the cards that her industry suddenly will pick up speed and spin faster.

To do this means new equipment, new plants, new machine tools, new investment — all of which is going to cost much, much more with the new wage and price levels and be more hazardous in the face of new competition from the other common market countries.

Civil War Rages In South China

By ROBERT S. ELEGANT
From Hong Kong

Some people say the Chinese people deeply love peace. I don't think they love peace so much. I think the Chinese People are bellicose.—Mao Tse-tung, in a speech to a foreign military delegation.

A sporadic but fierce civil war is being fought in Southern China, expert assessments of abundant detailed information have established.

Yunnan and Kwangsi, the two mountainous provinces bordering North Vietnam, are the focus of heavy fighting involving regular army units and wreaking heavy casualties and material damage.

The same violent confrontation have been raging in Szechwan for several months. Recent intelligence further reports the anti-Maoist "power-holders" in the Kwangtung countryside are organizing a march or rural armed units against Canton, the metropolis 90 miles from Hong Kong.

With the avowedly pro-Maoist forces in the cities retaliating when they can, there is acute danger that the rural areas of southern China will be engulfed by civil war.

So far, disorder on a broad scale has been avoided in the countryside.

The situation is so volatile in Kwangsi and Yunnan that the Maoists still withhold their recognition of the dominant "revolutionary committees" which claim to rule the two provinces.

Elsewhere, the dwindling Maoists' leadership in Peking has granted recognition to its barely veiled enemies in order to minimize conflict and keep its toe in the door.

Details of the fighting in Yunnan are still obscure because the province is so remote from the heavily populated eastern seaboard. It is, nonetheless, clear that local army units and regular forces from outside the province have clashed in bloody battle.

The civil war in Kwangsi, a province of 23,000,000, has choked major rivers with the slain — and washed more than 50 bodies into the waters of Hong Kong 200 miles away.

Not only Quasi official radio broadcasts and newspapers, but a large volume of Red Guard publications, as well as private letters, confirm the extent and the violence of the struggle. The account of a Kwangsi youth just arrived in Hong Kong further relates eyewitnesses accounts of the civil conflict.

Wallace Serious Contender

By DON McKEE
From Chattanooga, Tenn.

If I were President of the United States and demonstrators lay down in the street to block the passage of my car, I'd order the car to drive right over them.—Presidential candidate George Wallace.

The Baptist preacher stood behind George Wallace's bullet-proof lectern and delivered a message to God.

"Outside of the return of Jesus Christ Himself," the preacher said, "the only salvation for this country is George Wallace."

Then the cardboard campaign buckets, gleaming with dollar bills, passed along the rows of people, all of them white, typical of the crowds at Wallace fund-raising dinners and rallies.

Suddenly the musicians struck up Dixie, and when Wallace walked on stage, the crowd went wild, screaming and waving Wallace hats and placards.

Wallace held up two fingers in the victory sign and began to speak.

The 48-year-old former governor of Alabama is running for the presidency of the United States on a third-party ticket and his candidacy for the November election is being taken seriously by a growing number of politicians.

Wallace

Wallace, who has gotten on the ballots of more than half of the 50 states, says he is running to keep a pledge he made to give voters "a choice." Candidates of the major parties, he says, "sound alike on important issues.

He talks about breakdown of law and order, constitutional rights of the states, and open housing laws. And he opposes federal gun control laws. "Let local authorities handle it," he says.

"They ought to abolish crime by putting people in jail. I'll tell you what's brought on more crime than guns — it's the Supreme Court of the United States."

Wallace lashes out at federal court rulings.

"They've taken over the schools, the hospitals, the labor unions. When I get to be president, the first thing I'm going to do is turn back every school to local control.

"We're going to repeal open housing."

Wallace says he knows what many people want to hear. "There's not much basic difference in people," he says. "Basically, if we can carry Georgia, we can carry Pennsylvania."

Despite his handshaking and physical contacts, Wallace's essential appeal is in what he says, not his oratorical talent or style. He fires his audiences with the attacks on crime, riots and "militants, activists, revolutionaries and Communists."

No, we're not pulling your leg. We're merely doing simple arithmetics. Like this:

First Volvo. Drive it for six years. That gives you three years to pay for it, three years to make payments to yourself after you've paid for it.

Second Volvo. Take the payments you've made to yourself and pay cash for the second Volvo. Drive it six years and continue making payments to yourself that time. (At, say, $80 a month for six years, you'll end up with a nice round $6,000.)

Third Volvo. Take some of that $6,000 and pay cash for your third Volvo, too. (You'll still have about $3,000 left.) Continue making payments to yourself for six more years. You now have nearly $9,000. Enough for college, and your fourth Volvo. And you can take it from here.

Will it actually work? It will if you want it to. Will Volvos actually hold up for six years? In Sweden Volvos hold up an average of 11 years. In Sweden there are no speed limits on the highways; there are over 70,000 miles of unpaved roads.

Triumphant Johnson Flies Home to Rest

A crowd of about 100 persons — far from the thousands who wildly cheered the president during his central American trip — greeted Johnson on his arrival at Randolph Air Force Base. He waved to them once when he stepped off the plane.

AT BASE

Johnson arrived at the base at 5:21 p.m. (PDT) and left for the LBJ ranch about four minutes later.

Before leaving Central America, Johnson said that area is in the midst of a "new dawn" of hope and progress.

In remarks delivered at the airport in Guatemala City, Guatemala, last of four stops in his flight home to Texas from the meeting in San Salvador, Johnson noted the name of the airport was "La Aurora," meaning the new dawn, and said:

"That is a fitting word, not only for this symbol of your progress, but for much that is happening in Central America."

Guatemala City was the last of four stops to drop off the presidents of four of the five nations attending the conference in San Salvador.

The unprecedented hedge-hopping flight through Central America after the historic weekend summit meeting was Johnson's final goodwill gesture in a journey that was a personal triumph for him. Tens of thousands of Central Americans in all of the countries Johnson visited gave him a heart-warming reception.

The same was true for his wife and daughter, Luci. The latter was a scene-stealer in San Jose, Costa Rica, and at San Pedro Sula, Honduras, dancing a Costa Rican folk dance called the "turkey."

She took to the microphone in San Pedro Sula to describe herself as a young woman farther away from home than she had ever been. Luci carried her own home movie camera throughout the trip.

U.S. President Doubted He'd Live Extra Term

NEW YORK (Reuters) — President Johnson, in deciding not to seek re-election, doubted whether he could live out another four-year term, columnist Drew Pearson reports.

Johnson announced he was retiring during the March 31 speech in which he declared restrictions on bombing of North Vietnam.

Pearson, writing in Look magazine, says Johnson told Vice-President Hubert Humphrey before making his twin announcements:

"We've got to get peace in Vietnam. And with me bowing out, the other side is more likely to negotiate."

He quotes Johnson as telling Humphrey:

"I'm tired. I'm getting old. All the men in my family have a record of not living much over the age of 60. I'll be 60 this summer.

"I've had a heart attack. My health is pretty good.... but I'm not sure I could live out another term. And that's not the way I want to end my life."

The president's elder daughter Lynda Bird Robb provided the "final clincher" for Johnson's retirement announcement, Pearson says.

Lynda, he reports, returned from seeing her husband off to serve in Vietnam and asked her father:

"Why do we have to fight over there when so many people are opposed to the war?"

Saigon-U.S. Meeting Indicated

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Official sources said Monday President Johnson probably will comply with a request by President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam for a meeting somewhere in the Pacific—probably Hawaii—within the next few weeks.

Thieu said in Saigon he requested such a meeting because threats of a new communist offensive made it necessary for him to cancel his scheduled trip to Washington later this month for a state visit.

He asked for the conference within the "next few weeks" to discuss the Paris Vietnam talks and the conduct of the war.

Hydrofoil To Try Deep Sea

OTTAWA (CP) — The Bras d'Or, the navy's first operational hydrofoil vessel, will begin deep-water trials next month at Halifax, the defence department announced Monday. It is designed to fight submarines.

It will be transported to Halifax from the builder's yard at Sorel, Que., by barge. The water at Sorel, where the Richelieu river flows into the St. Lawrence 40 miles downstream from Montreal, is not deep enough to float the foil-equipped vessel.

HIGH-SPEED TRIALS

After the vessel's preliminary sea trials, its transmission systems will be installed in preparation for high-speed trials in the fall.

Because of high development costs, however, it is still uncertain whether the government will order the ship into production. Defence Minister Cadieux told the last session of the Commons that the estimated cost of the prototype has climbed to approximately twice the 1964 estimate of $20,700,000.

60 MILES PER HOUR

Built by Marine Industries, Ltd., of Sorel, the Bras d'Or weighs 200 tons and is 150 feet long. It is reported to be designed for a speed greater than 50 knots.

Its hull is mounted on struts fitted with lateral blades known as foils. When the craft reaches a certain speed, the hull rises above the water surface.

Barricaded Woman Surrenders

AUCKLAND (UPI)—A "very quiet" New Zealand Indian woman wearing a flowing black sari who had held 20 policemen at bay with a shotgun outside her home since early Monday surrendered early Tuesday. She was talked into giving up by an Indian doctor.

Police said the husband and two small daughters of Mrs. Prita Dass, 32, were found in good condition. There had been fears for their safety.

North Koreans Hit For Army Buildup

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UPI) —The United Nations Command Monday accused North Korea of building up its army "far out of proportion to that required for defence" in violation of the Korean armistice.

U.S. Army Maj.-Gen. Gilbert Woodward said the North Korean army has 345,000 men and has "illegally introduced" brigades of rockets, guided-missile boats and the latest MiG jets into its arsenal of weaponry.

The charge came at the 272nd meeting of the Korean Armistice Commission. Both the UNC and North Korea traded charges of violating the Korean armistice by staging intrusions into one another's territory.

Woodward said north Koreans violated the truce line 22 times since June 26 and said "the pattern of recent North Korean acts of violence . . . indicates North Korea is possibly following a premeditated plan of violence and intrusion."

The chief North Korean delegate, Pak Chung-Kuk, responded by claiming a UNC agent, a South Korean named Yoon Yong-Shik, was captured by communist troops one day after he sneaked into North Korea. Pak further charged the UNC troops had fired 6,500 rounds of ammunition into communist territory in the past nine days.

Listing the military acquisitions of the North Koreans, Woodward said, "North Korea has a standing army of 345,000 men, not to mention an expansive Red Guard militia and the ability to immediately mobilize additional thousands."

Coats For Sheep?

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — Australian scientists have suggested that sheep should be given coats to keep them warm after they have been shorn.

They propose the coats be made of plastic-despite sheep farmers' opposition to man-made fibres.

Scientists of the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization estimate that nearly 1,000,000 Australian sheep die each year from exposure after shearing.

They have found that a plastic raincoat raises the temperature of a shorn sheep by 16 degrees if the animal is dry when the coat is put on. The increase is 11 degrees if the sheep is wet.

Experiments are continuing to find a cheaper material than plastic. The scientists are thinking of trying throw-away water-repellent paper coats, or even spraying the sheep with a waterproof chemical.

There's a bear fact in Glenn Valde's telephone story

But it's the challenge and excitement of communications today that has spurred him upward in the B.C. Telephone Company's engineering service.

The memory is still vivid in Glenn Valde's mind.

He was a young university student on summer assignment with the telephone company and he was hiking up Dog Mountain, outside Hope, with a fellow telephone man.

They were to set out a mountain-top landing spot for a helicopter which later brought testing equipment necessary to construct one of the most important microwave radio transmission stations in the B.C. Telephone Company's system.

He's A Builder

The incident is just a vivid memory to Glenn Valde today. But it has something of a parallel in his career for, while the motivation has been different, he has moved upward quickly in the telephone industry ever since.

He now is Engineering and Construction Manager of the company's Coastal Division, a job in which he supervises the engineering and construction of all types of telephone facilities serving customers in the Lower Mainland and Fraser Valley areas of British Columbia.

He moved to this assignment after 18 months as Engineering Services Administrator, a post in which he was responsible for a department employing more than 130 persons who carry out engineering evaluation of and set engineering standards for all types of communications equipment used in B.C. Telephone's province-wide system.

He now is a builder of communications systems, supervising a staff of more than 430 persons who engineer and construct radio systems, cable facilities, switching centres and the many related services through which total communications are provided.

Mr. Valde, 33, began his telephone career about 11 years ago and throughout this period has held posts where he has been in the midst of the excitement and challenge which abounds in the rapidly-changing communications industry of the space age.

His assignments have been of a nature which brought him into direct contact with telephone customers only infrequently, but they have been jobs with great impact upon the services which telephone customers enjoy, as is his present task.

He has been responsible for selection, training and retraining of engineering personnel for the company. He has supervised those who must assure, from an engineering standpoint, that facilities being built to meet today's needs will not only do that but also will be capable of adaptation to meet tomorrow's requirements.

One of 7,200

And he has been responsible for assuring that facilities engineered for British Columbia will not only serve requirements here, but will also meet the needs for national and international interconnection.

Glenn Valde is one of thousands among B.C. Telephone's more than 7,200 men and women who work far from public view to plan, build, operate and maintain the company's communications systems, through which more than 780,000 telephones now are connected in British Columbia.

His responsibility today is to supervise the engineering and building of telephone facilities for one of four operating divisions in the B.C. Telephone Company's system.

The excitement and challenge of these tasks perhaps is less immediate than that of outrunning a bear on a mountain side. Certainly it is different.

But in Glenn Valde's view, which is typical of B.C. Telephone people, playing a part in space-age communications development brings every bit as much excitement and challenge. And he finds a special satisfaction in the knowledge that facilities he and his staff engineer and build help to bring more and better telephone services to British Columbians.

GLENN KNOWS BRITISH COLUMBIA

Glenn Valde knew something of British Columbia's wildlife long before he encountered a bear on Dog Mountain.

Born in Prince Rupert, he spent much of his boyhood in communities between there and Prince George and frequently roamed the mountainous outdoors on hunting and fishing trips with his father.

He attended high school in Squamish, then obtained his Bachelor of Applied Science degree in electrical engineering from the University of British Columbia.

After 2½ years as a telephone radio engineer in the Dominican Republic, he returned to Vancouver in 1960 and became B.C. Telephone's Radio Engineer, a job which took him throughout the province, giving him first-hand knowledge of British Columbia's difficult geography.

Later as the company's Coastal Division Toll and Transmission Engineer, he was responsible for supervising the engineering of such facilities as the concrete microwave tower in southeast Vancouver with which he is shown above.

He became Engineering Services Administrator in February, 1966, and Coastal Division Engineer and Construction Manager in September, 1967.

Russians Would Warm Up North

Miracle Dam Plan Bared

OTTAWA (CP) — Russian scientists have already produced engineering designs of a dam across Bering Strait that would radically change the climate of the northern hemisphere.

Such a dam — some 50 miles across — would allow pumping of cold Arctic water into the Pacific, permitting warmer Atlantic water to flow across the Arctic basin.

The latest Russian proposals are contained in an article by scientist P. M. Borisov in the Soviet publication Priroda (Nature). The article has been translated into English by Russian specialist E. R. Hope of Canada's Defence Research Board.

Borisov says it would take only three years to warm up the Arctic basin with Atlantic water to the extent that Arctic sea ice would disappear.

Temperatures in polar latitudes would rise 30 to 35 degrees. Permafrost would vanish. Tundra would be transformed into cattle-raising regions. Dry steppes would reappear in present-day deserts, including the Sahara.

Canadian winters would be warmer. But the level of the world's oceans would rise only some four inches in 50 years. River runoffs would increase production of hydro-electric power.

Borisov gives no estimate of the cost of such a mammoth project. But he says the countries of the world, particularly Canada, the U.S. and Russia, would have to cooperate to bring it about.

Borisov says the project would return the earth to its climatic conditions of 4,000 to 6,000 years ago, when the Arctic basin was ice-free the year round. Cooling began about 4,000 years ago, and has lasted to the present.

The Gulf Stream in the Atlantic, most powerful warm current in the world, pours into the Arctic basin through the Greenland Sea. But it runs smack into the outpouring Arctic Ocean. The Arctic at its entrance thus becomes a dead end for the warm Atlantic waters.

The Russian plan would make the Arctic a transit basin. Water would be pumped out of the Arctic [illegible] Bering Strait, allowing the warm Atlantic current to flow across it.

Scientists Skeptical

Victoria scientists seemed to be suspicious of this resume of the Russian plan. One biologist thought it was incomplete in that it did not seem to percieve the immense environmental changes that would be brought about by such a sudden shift of temperatures over a large area.

For example, introduction of tropical and subtropical plants would bring an entirely new economy to an area which has become highly urbanized he explained.

Unaware Drivers Haul Bumpy Volatile Loads

OTTAWA (CP) — Truck drivers are often unaware that their cargo includes explosives, a federal report indicated Monday. It also said that more than half the prosecutions for violation of explosives regulations involve transportation by road.

The report of the energy department's explosives division added that trucking companies are inviting disaster by using defective vehicles to haul cargo like dynamite.

TOLD FULL DETAILS

An official said in an interview that a regulation is being drafted to require that drivers be told of "the quantity and nature" of explosives loaded on their trucks.

Another new regulation will eliminate heaters and lights from the cargo area where explosives are carried.

The report listed 11 deaths and 127 injuries in 87 accidents with explosives in 1966. The figures for 1967 were nine deaths and 89 injuries in 70 accidents.

Only one trucking death in the two-year period was directly attributable to explosives.

Six of last year's deaths occurred in accidents in mines or quarries, two in accidents at the Hand Chemical Industries Ltd. fireworks plant in Papineauville, Que., and the other death was undetailed.

The 1966 list included "a 44-year-old man killed when a bomb he made exploded in a washroom." The man was Paul Emile Chartier of Toronto, who was bound for the House of Commons a few yards away when the copper-sheathed dynamite inside his coat exploded. He had miscalculated the burning time of the fuse.

A 42-year-old British Columbia prison guard and his 10-year-old son were critically injured late in 1966 when opening "a Christmas parcel that was booby-trapped."

A rundown of "typical" accidents listed:

- A boy seriously injured when 25 blasting caps put into a toy machine gun exploded.
- A 14-year-old struck in the leg by the casing of a rifle shell that exploded as he pounded it with a rock.
- An eight-year-old girl severely burned when her dress was ignited by a sparkler.
- A 12-year-old boy injured when a firecracker thrown by another boy exploded in his face.
- An 18-year-old who lost one eye when fireworks and rifle powder in a homemade bomb exploded.

Man Abducts Girl, Wife Returns Her

MARYSVILLE, Calif. (UPI)—A pistol-packing marine, seeking to flee the country, abducted a two-year-old girl Monday, but 12 hours later his wife returned the child to her home.

Thomas Scholfield, 22, a marine from Camp Pendleton, Calif., kidnapped Vicki Lynn West and said he planned to use her as a hostage to help him get into Canada.

He fled with the child and his wife, Loretta, 20, but as police pressed a search throughout western states, the wife brought the child back to her mother, unharmed.

The hunt for the missing marine concentrated in an area near the California-Oregon border about 300 miles north of Marysville. Mrs. Scholfield was charged with separate counts of kidnapping, automobile theft and armed robbery and held on $125,000 bail.

Vicki came home still wearing the bathrobe she had on when she was abducted.

"We just went bye-bye," she told her mother.

Mrs. Scholfield told police her husband jumped out of the car on the outskirts of Marysville and fled on foot as she drove to the home of Mrs. Helen West to return the child.

"He didn't want me to get involved," she said.

SHE APOLOGIZED

Michael West, 16, Mrs. West's brother-in-law, who was home alone when Vicki was returned, said Mrs. Scholfield apologized for the abduction.

"She said she was just tired of running," he told police.

"I'm very glad to see my baby," the relieved mother told reporters after being reunited with Vicki. "I didn't really expect to."

Mrs. West said that before abducting the child, Scholfield and his wife used torn bedsheets to bind her, her brother-in-law and her five-year-old daughter.

Michael managed to reach the kitchen and obtain a knife despite his bonds and to free Mrs. West by clenching the knife in his teeth.

Museum Picketing Could Go Further

Picketing of the provincial museum by the floorlayers' local of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters could spread to other Victoria Construction sites in the near future, a union spokesman said Monday.

John Schibli, business agent for the carpenters, said a number of contractors were involved in the dispute over wages.

At the moment, the action involves only Hourigan's Carpets and Linos. The picketing which began at the museum last week and was extended Monday to the company's main office on Pandora Avenue.

Mr. Schibli was unable to say just how many contractors would be involved if the picketing spread.

Negotiations for a new agreement with the contractors broke down some time ago. The floorlayers have been seeking parity with their Vancouver counterparts who earn 35 cents an hour more.

Premier's Health Picks Up

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Daniel Johnson will have to slow down his activities but he will not have to resign, says the physician who has attended the Quebec leader since his heart attack last Wednesday.

Dr. Yves Morin told a press conference Monday that Johnson has nearly recovered his normal strength and is in very satisfactory condition "but will have to avoid the fast pace of life he has led the last few months."

Johnson would likely be released from hospital in a week and would be able to resume the duties of office five or six weeks later.

In Secret

Sirhan Shifted

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Sirhan B. Sirhan, accused assassin of Senator Robert Kennedy was moved under heavy guard during the weekend from county jail to the fortress-like Hall of Justice where his trial will take place.

The move was so secret even Sirhan's attorney didn't find out about it until Monday.

PATROL-CAR CONVOY

Sheriff's deputies announced Monday that Sirhan had been transferred about one mile through the civic center on Sunday, but refused to give any details.

Sources, however, indicated the transfer was made Sunday night by deputies using three black-and-white radio patrol cars in convoy formation.

ISOLATED CELL

Sirhan's new cell is standard except that it stands apart from other cells in an isolated corridor. The cell has no windows or other outlets exposed to the outside world.

"It's better for us because Sirhan's closer to our office now and there's better security for him," a sheriff's spokesman said.

Industrials Have Big Day At Vancouver

VANCOUVER—New highs for Block Industries, and Captain International accompanied strong gains in a number of other industrial issues.

Block was up 1 at 15 and Captain up ¾ at 12. Woodward rose 1¼ to 20, MacMillan 1⅛ to 36½, Madill up ⅜ to 6⅞ and Cunningham up ¼ to 11⅛.

Kimberley at 2.50 was up .30 in an active mines section. Coronet was up .15 at 1.17, while Bethlehem, Arctic, Dynasty and Lornex made small gains.

Trans Canada Oils was off .25 at 2.55.

Only Golds Weak

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials climbed to their highest levels since August in active trading.

Western oils also were strong. Golds retreated.

Chrysler jumped 2⅞ to 63, General Developments Corp. 2⅛ to 24, Bramalea 1⅞ to 37⅞, Asbestos Corp. 1⅞ to 24 and R. L. Grain 1⅝ to 19.

Trading in Great West Saddlery was suspended by both the exchange and the Ontario Securities Commission pending the release of full details about current negotiations involving the company.

Westcoast Rises

MONTREAL (CP) — Industrials banks and papers pulled in gains as utilities moved downward.

Canada Packers B climbed 5 to 98, R. L. Crain 3⅛ to 19, Burns 1⅞ to 20⅝, Asbestos 1⅞ to 23⅝, Consolidated Textiles 1⅞ to 12½ and Warnock Hersey 1⅛ to 13⅝.

Westcoast Transmission edged up 1⅛ to 28⅞, Trans-Mountain Pipe 1 to 34¼, Macmillan 1 to 36½ and Royal Bank ⅛ to 19½. Canadian Pacific lost 1⅞ to 59½.

Booming Restart

Blue chips and more speculative "flyers" and growth stocks advanced together in a market which made a record for breadth.

The 1,570 issues traded made it the biggest market in history. Of these, 986 rose, and 423 fell. Owens-Illinois rose 3⅝ and Lily-Tulip 4⅞ after the news that Owens-Illinois planned to acquire Lily-Tulip in an exchange of stock deal.

Raise Advocated For Grain Men

OTTAWA (CP) — A wage increase of 70 cents an hour spread over two years has been recommended for grain elevator workers in central Canada by the chairman of a federal conciliation board.

The increase would bring wages for general elevator laborers to $3 an hour from the present $2.30 in four stages.

B.C. Parity Bonds Pay Extra Dollar

By HARRY YOUNG
Business Editor

An extra dollar a year for every $100 worth of parity bonds will be paid by the B.C. government as from Aug. 3, as a result of the new issue of $50,000,000 B.C. Hydro parity development bonds announced Monday by Premier Bennett.

At his breakfast get-together with financial institutions in Vancouver, Mr. Bennett announced that the refunding of the outstanding B.C. Hydro Series "K" — 5¼-per-cent parity development bonds, would be into a new 5-year series which will pay 6½ per cent.

In addition to offering the higher yield on the new series, Mr. Bennett said the higher rate would also be paid to holders of all other outstanding series of parity development bonds.

EXTRA COST

With some $250,000,000 worth of parity bonds outstanding or on offer, the cost to the province of the extra 1 per cent in a full year will be $2,500,000.

The demand, it is expected, will be keen. One local salesman said his personal allotment was hardly sufficient to meet the requirements of holders of the old bonds wishing to exchange into new.

NEW DRUG MERGER

Oshawa Wholesale, a food distributing company, has moved into the drugs and beauty aid business by the acquisition of Kent Drugs of Toronto.

Kent which has 25 pharmacies and 13 health and beauty stores had sales of over $7,000,000 in 1967.

The purchase price of about $3,500,000 will be paid for in 87,500 shares of Oshawa Wholesale A with a current market value of $41½.

NEW STERLING AID

A move by the central bankers to provide funds which will make the pound sterling less susceptible to speculative attack was formulated at the weekend in Basel.

Details of the loan were lacking except for the news the fluctuations due to pound balances in sterling area countries.

The pound firmed slightly as a result, but dealers expressed disappointment that the Bank of England had not been more explicit.

The Basel decision, however, brought new demand for sterling at New York and Montreal.

The pound rose by 19-32 of a cent to $2.38 55-64 at New York and by 5-8 of a cent to $2.56 9-16 in Canadian funds at Montreal.

STORE COSTS MOUNT

With the latest award of a contract for $497,380 to Dominion Construction, the contracted cost to date of the four-storey Simpson-Sears department store complex at Hillside has gone past the $10,000,000 mark, and M. S. Thompson, project engineer for Dominion Construction, says the final cost of the 25-acre development could rise to $11,000,000.

Original estimate was for $8,500,000.

BONDS OFFERED

A new issue of $1,5000,000, 7¼-per-cent, 20-year bonds is being issued by Saskatchewan at 99 to yield 7.3 per cent. The bonds received a fair reception and later traded at a fractional premium over the issue price.

Leadership Convention Certain

Joey Will Quit Next Year

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Premier Joseph Smallwood set the stage Monday for what promises to be the most eventful 18 months in the political history of Newfoundland since the province joined Confederation in 1949.

At a press conference in the Confederation Building's cabinet room, he announced that he will call a leadership convention before the end of next year to elect his successor as head of the provincial Liberal Party.

Asked if he would accept a draft as leader if such a movement developed, the 67-year-old premier replied:

CLEAR FIELD

"No. Definitely not. I will not accept the nomination. If I am nominated I won't run and if I'm elected without being nominated I won't serve."

Smallwood

The announcement, which I made simultaneously with a detailed set of measures designed to reorganize the party, left the leadership field clear for a group of mainly undeclared candidates to jockey for position. The race seems to be shaping up as a battle between men Smallwood would support for the leadership and those he wouldn't support.

The timing of the press conference Monday seemed clearly designed to get the political jump on John C. Crosbie, the young lawyer who left the Smallwood cabinet May 14 after a dispute with the premier over government financial policy. Another cabinet minister, Clyde Wells, also resigned.

Crosbie is said to be one of the leaders of the anti-Smallwood camp, although he has said he would not take part in any "Dump Joey" movement.

Crosbie, 37, said Friday he will be a candidate for leadership of the party if he feels he has enough support. He also said last week that he will hold a press conference late this week, probably Thursday, to outline his own recommendations for the rejuvenation of the provincial Liberal Party.

ONE LIBERAL

Newfoundland Liberals in both the federal and provincial fields have been smarting since June 25 from political wounds inflicted by the federal election results in Newfoundland.

The province, once as firm a Liberal stronghold federally as it now still is provincially, elected only one Liberal MP in its seven federal ridings. He was broadcaster Don Jamieson, now a member of the federal cabinet, but still mentioned here as a possible contender for the provincial Liberal leadership.

Premier Smallwood's government holds 36 seats in the 42-seat provincial House of Assembly. Four others are held by Conservatives and two are independent Liberals, Crosbie and Wells.

Crosbie was minister of health in the Smallwood cabinet until May 14 when he resigned in a disagreement over the government's financial policies. At the time, Crosbie said cabinet opinion was being stifled by the premier.

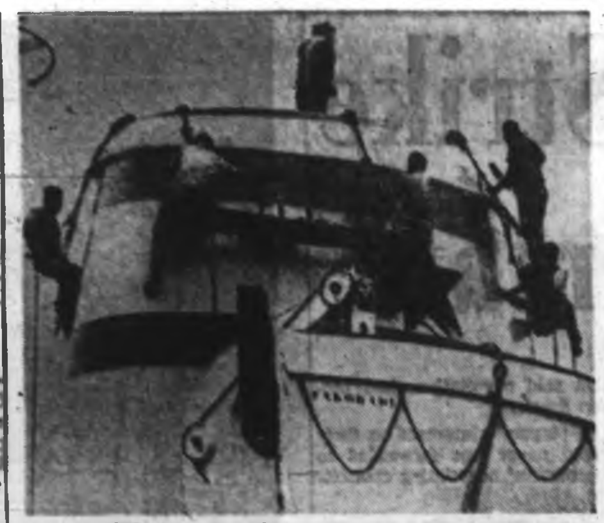
Smallwood, who asked for the resignation, said Crosbie had been disloyal to the government and to its leader and also charged that the health minister had used his cabinet position to aid Crosbie family business concerns. The premier later withdrew the latter charges and publicly apologized to Crosbie.

SORE POINT

Monday, Smallwood bristled noticeably at the mention of Crosbie. He said that since he did not consider the young lawyer a member of the Liberal Party, he did not see how he could run for its leadership.

But Premier Smallwood left the door open for Crosbie's return Monday. Asked if he might be welcomed back into the party fold, the premier said:

"The Liberal Party welcomes every loyal supporter."



Siesta, Seaway Style

Grain Union May Strike

TORONTO (UPI) — While the St. Lawrence Seaway strike dragged through its 18th day, grain handlers at the Lakehead voted Monday on a proposal to strike the big grain elevators where Prairie grain is stored en route to eastern Canadian markets.

Some 1,300 members of local 650 of the Brotherhood of Railway, Airline and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers and Station Employees were expected to vote in favor of a strike in balloting Monday. The walkout period legally allowed began at 3 p.m. Monday.

The grain handlers, who currently earn about $2.30 an hour, Sunday rejected a conciliator's recommended package of a 70-cent increase over a two-year contract. The union demanded a $1.25 increase in a one-year pact.

At the same time construction projects totalling more than $30,000,000 were at a standstill in the Lakehead Monday following a walkout by nearly 500 members of construction unions.

Picket lines formed Monday morning around building projects and shops as members of four unions sought new contract terms from the Lakehead Builders Exchange.

Five other construction unions, three of which have already settled on new terms with the builders exchange observed the picket lines.

Nurses Halted By Pay

SASKATOON (CP) — Only an increase in pay rates can stop a decline in nursing enrolment, the president of the Canadian Nurses Association said Monday.

Sister Mary Felicitas of Montreal told the opening session of the CNA convention that nursing cannot attract enough qualified recruits if its prestige "is demeaned by low levels of pay."

Labor Act Bill Marking Time

OTTAWA (CP) — Labor Minister Bryce MacKasey said Monday the Liberal government is still "wedded to the principle" of a controversial bill to reorganize the Canada Labor Relations Board. But the bill may not come before Parliament again this year.

The principle, he said, is to make the board operate as fairly as possible.

"We haven't changed," he told reporters after a cabinet meeting.

The intention was to proceed with the bill, although he had to await the report of a special study of collective bargaining, requested by the Pearson administration in September, 1966. The report is expected by the end of the year.

"I would have to weigh all the evidence that is in," he said. It would be "normal" to await the report.

The bill, which died with the Parliament dissolved for the June 25 election, would give the Quebec-based Confederation of National Trade Unions an equal voice with the rival Canadian Labor Congress on the labor relations board.

Opponents of the bill suggest the move would give the CNTU more leverage in signing French-speaking workers. The CLC has bitterly assailed the bill as a device that would break up national bargaining units.

Disastrous Strike Appears Certain

CHICAGO (AP) — Art Modell, owner of Cleveland Browns and president of the National Football League, said Monday night "pro football faces a long and disastrous strike" and called for a full meeting of owners in Chicago Tuesday to formulate plans for the 1968 season.

Modell's statement came after the NFL Players' Association said it had failed to resolve its differences over a pension dispute and left day-long sessions still in the air.

All negotiators departed and were unavailable for further comment.

A spokesman for the association said negotiations had broken down.

A players' statement on their stand never was forwarded to the owners' negotiating committee.

It was read to the committee by newsmen after which this statement was issued by Modell:

"Despite having granted 21 demands of the players' union, pro football faces a long and disastrous strike on the sole issue of granting pension benefits in 1968 to players who on the average will not be eligible to receive such benefits until the year 2,000.

AWAITING MERGER

"The union's leaders have taken the position even though the owners explained to them that they cannot conclude such an agreement until the merger with the American Football League is completed and offered in addition a formula guaranteeing that no players in 1968 and 1969 will have any additional pension benefits because negotiations may not be concluded until 1970."

CALLS IT IMPASSE

Modell refused to say a strike actually was on and preferred to call it an impasse between the two groups.

The players' group, headed by John Gordy of Detroit Lions, issued a statement saying:

"We are ready, willing and able to meet with the owners at anytime to resolve the issues."

However, Tom Vance, a spokesman for the players, said that "as far as the association is concerned, negotiations have ended at this time."

CENTRE OF DISPUTE

Centre of the dispute is additional pension funds which the players are demanding immediately and the owners want to hold off until 1970.

Because of the dispute, Modell has ordered NFL teams not to open their training camps until the matter is settled. San Francisco 49ers had planned to begin last Sunday and several other teams, including champion Green Bay Packers, were scheduled to open this week.

Vince Lombardi, general manager of Green Bay Packers, said that if there is no settlement "the all-star game will have to be delayed or cancelled." He said the Packers need three weeks to prepare for the game.

North Island Title To Gordon Whan

North Champ

COMOX — Gordon Whan of Cowichan won the North Island Open golf tournament with a gross score of 139, one-under par for the 36-hole event at the Comox Golf Club.

Al McLeod of Gorge Vale, the Victoria amateur champion, was second at 141 followed by Cowichan pro Norm Boden at 142. Max Buckley of Royal Colwood was fourth and Bert Wright of Cowichan, fifth.

Net honors went to Otto Furchek of Nanaimo followed in order by Al Nelson of Cowichan, A. Forward of Cowichan, M. Mousseau of Campbell River and Leo Zaharoff of Port Alberni.

Prizewinners for 18-hole totals were Bill Cartwright of Comox and Bill Court of Colwood in the gross section and Vic Derman of Cowichan and Ray Moore of Comox in the net section.

City Gymnasts Win in East

Victoria's Rick Johnson and Dave Howe placed first and second, respectively, in the junior men's competition while Janet Terry, who now lives in Vancouver, topped the girls' division.

Gordie Gannon, the coach of Johnson and Howe, placed fourth in the senior competition behind the winner Gilbert Larose of Montreal. Sidney Jensen of Montreal and Roger Dion of Quebec, last year's champion and a bronze medal winner in the 1967 Pan-American Games.

Sanda Hartley of Vancouver won the women's title followed by Jennifer Diachun of Ontario and Susanna Cloutier of Ste. Therese, Que.

The Quebec City competitions and the trials at Ottawa, August 31, will decide the make-up of Canada's team for the Summer Olympics this year in Mexico City.

DeVicenzo Hot in Practice For British Open Defence

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland (AP) — Defending champion Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina shot a six-under-par 66 Monday in practice for his defence of the British Open Golf Championship.

De Vicenzo defends his title in the 72-hole championship starting Wednesday on a course where he was tied with Ben Hogan after the third round way back in 1953.

Then De Vicenzo took a 73, while Hogan stormed in with a 68 to win, and De Vicenzo finished sixth.

"That's why I want to retain my crown on this famous old course," said De Vicenzo. "But I know it will be hard. I must name Jack Nicklaus as the man I think will win. Tony Jacklin, the young Englishman Billy Casper, Gary Player and Peter Thomson must be in with a chance."

130 TO START

A total of 130 golfers, including nine Americans, will try to tame the 7,252 yards, par 36-36—72 Carnoustie links, where the winds have a habit of whipping in from the North Sea.

Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Player, Casper, Doug Sanders and Yancey are the favorites to capture this crown, first won by Willie Park of Scotland at Prestwick in 1860.

Oldest Mark Surpassed

WATERLOO, Ont. (CP) — Michel Charland of Montreal broke the oldest native Canadian track and field record with a long jump of 25 feet, 7¼ inches during a Quebec-Southwestern Ontario meet.

'Let's go gang!', Dale Hoskins and Doug Beech, a pair of 11-year-old members of Victoria Optimists seem to be shouting, above right, as a teammate attempts to check a member of the Victoria Black Hawks, above, during the Victoria Minor Lacrosse Association's annual display of young talent Monday at Memorial Arena.

Sixteen teams, one from Nanaimo and the rest from the Victoria area, took part and proceeds will be used for the development program of the association. — (William E. John).

Bill Paul Choice Of Coaches

Bill Paul has won a trip to the Okanagan after being selected as the outstanding player by the four coaches in the week-long baseball school sponsored by the Victoria and District Baseball Association at Topaz Park.

Paul will receive a week at Oliver at the Okanagan Major League Baseball camp. Gordon Rands and Jim Tarbuck, respectively, were named as first and second alternate for the trip should Paul be unable to attend.

ALL-STAR TEAM

In the weekend's windup, Paul, Rands, Tarbuck, Terry Verdiel, Wayne O'Malley, Mike Squire, Dan Lomas, Walt Burrows and Martin Winstanley were named to the all-star team.

Coaches in various city leagues picked 40 boys to attend the camp which cost the VDBA more than $2,000 and was designed to improve the calibre of baseball in the city.

Dale Parker, Mal Walton, Ken Lehman and Dick Calvert from the Okanagan camp were the instructors.

"We were very impressed with the dedication and enthusiasm of the coaches," said VDBA president Gar Taylor. "We feel the school accomplished a useful purpose and we are planning an even better one for next year."

Cole's Alberni Club Wins Island Crown

CAMPBELL RIVER — Port Alberni Aquatic Club, coached by Trevor Cole, won the Vancouver Island swimming and Diving Championships which were held Saturday and Sunday.

Port Alberni finished with 463 points to 430 for Victoria Olympians, Cole's former club. Victoria's Juan de Fuca Cohoes were third with 180 points.

Campbell River won the summer club championship. Other clubs competing came from Ocean Falls, Courtenay, Nanaimo, Richmond, Abbotsford and Vancouver.

Grant Treloar of Olympians won five events to win the top boy honor over Ian MacKenzie of Ocean Falls.

Mays Draws Starting Spot

HOUSTON (AP) — It will be San Francisco's Willie Mays leading off in his familiar centre field spot when the National League All-Stars meet the American League at the Astrodome tonight.

About the only thing more familiar than Mays in centre field would be Don Drysdale as the NL's starting pitcher and the Americans will see that too.

Drysdale, Los Angeles Dodgers' strong-armed right-hander, will be making his fifth All-Star start, tying the record set by Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies of the NL and Lefty Gomez of the AL New York Yankees.

"He's a pretty good one to start with," said Red Schoendienst of St. Louis Cardinals, manager of the National Leaguers.

ROSE BROKE THUMB

Mays, who has led off in four All-Star games before and opened the 1965 classic with a home run, moved into the starting line-up when Cincinnati's Pete Rose suffered a broken right thumb. Rose's spot on the team was filled by Billy Williams of Chicago Cubs.

Schoendienst had planned to start his own Curt Flood in centre field but that changed when Rose got hurt.

"I went to Flood and told him Willie was starting and that now I had two good centre fielders," said Schoendienst. "Flood said, 'let me play left, he's been in centre longer than I have.'"

Boston's Dick Williams, manager of the American League team, chose right-hander Luis Tiant of Cleveland as his starter. Tiant, making his first All-Star appearance, will be working with just one day of rest. He pitched 6 1-3 innings Sunday.

COULD BE STRONG

Williams said he felt Tiant could come back strong despite the short rest.

Only Carew and Yastrzemski will bat left against Drysdale.

The NL has won nine of the last 10 games and holds a 20-17 over-all edge after trailing at one time 12-5.

STRETCH LEADS

The Tigers swept a double-header from Oakland, 5-4 and 7-6, for a 9½-game edge over second-place Cleveland who split two games with California, winning 8-3 and losing 7-9. Denny McLain got his 16th win, tops in the majors, in the opener.

Sunday American League highlights included a two-run home run by Detroit's Al Kaline in his second appearance since returning from the disabled list last week; Luis Tiant's 14th victory for Cleveland; and a pair of home runs by Carl Yastrzemski, homerless since June 15.

Lou Brock slammed a triple, stole three bases and scored both runs as the Cardinals won their seventh straight game by defeating San Francisco, 2-0.

The victory moved the Cards 13 games ahead of Cincinnati and Atlanta both of whom absorbed losses.

The Reds bowed to Los Angeles, 5-6, while Houston topped the Braves, 5-4, despite a pair of home runs by Hank Aaron, the 498th and 499th of his major league career. The hits came in his 2,300th game.

The last place Chicago Cubs swept a double header from Pittsburgh Pirates closing the gap from second to ninth place to just four-and-half games. Houston is 18 games behind the Cardinals.

Red Lion Inn won their third victory in four games over a three-day period Monday by defeating Carlings, 10-1, at Central Park to take over second place in the Victoria Senior Men's Open Softball League, seven points behind leading Nanaimo Tally-Ho.

Bob Holness, who led off the winners' seven-run fourth inning with a single, Jack Lusk and Ralph Branting all smashed doubles off loser Wade Burns in the uprising.

Glen Langsett set Carlings down on four hits, for his third win in as many days.

He stopped Colony Inn, 5-2, Saturday on two hits and blanked Nanaimo Tally-Ho, 6-0, with a three-hitter Sunday in the first game of a doubleheader at the Hub City.

At Central Park on Sunday, Nanaimo O'Keefes won both games of a split doubleheader, downing Carlings, 7-5, in the first game and following up with a 6-0 victory over Colony Inn in the second game.

Als Cash In On Miscues By Winnipeg

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes, tail-enders in the Eastern Football Conference last season, finally burst into the wind, as they whipped the Western Conference Winnipeg Blue Bombers 33-14 in an exhibition game Monday night.

The Als had lost nine straight since their last victory, a 27-26 win over the Bombers last September.

CONVERT ERRORS

A crowd of 15,000 watched Montreal turn three intercepetions and a fumble into four touchdowns after giving the Bombers the first touchdown in the game with less than five minutes played.

Carroll Williams, Als' sophomore quarterback, threw touchdown strikes to Mickey Sutton in the first quarter and Andy Walton in the second. Back-up quarterback Ed Buzzell threw a six-yard pass to George Stetter in the third.

Fullback Ed Tomlin ran a Williams handoff up the middle for 45-yards and a touchdown in the second quarter, while Charlie Scales did a one-yard dive for another.

OTHER POINTS

Stan McMillan was good on two of five converts he tried. Dave Lewis booted a 36-yard single late in the game.

Montreal's giant defensive end John Baker and Winnipeg's Don Pellegrini were thrown out of the game in the second quarter for excessive roughness.

Liske Sharp As Stamps Trim Eskimos

CALGARY (CP) — Peter Liske's passing arm led Calgary Stampeders to an easy 28-3 victory over Edmonton Eskimos Sunday in a Western Football Conference exhibition game before 12,700 fans.

Liske passed for two touchdowns and scored one himself after one of his 50-yard passes had put Calgary in a scoring position on Edmonton's six-yard line.

Calgary got its other touchdowns from Herm Harrison and Terry Evanshen. Larry Robinson kicked one field goal, three converts and two singles.

Lund Memorial Winner

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (UPI) — A last minute decision put Tom Weiskopf into the Buick Open and a last minute break won it for him.

Weiskopf shot a last round 69 Sunday to finish the 72-hole test of the 7,001-yard par-72 Warwick Hills course with an eight under par 280.

Then he stood tensely on the fringe of the green while rookie Mike Hill, playing in only his fifth pro tournament, took a shot at maintaining a tie to force a playoff for the $25,000 first prize in the $125,000 event.

He couldn't do it. Whether it was pressure or error, Hill Missed a five-foot putt on the last green to bogey the hole and wind up with second money of $15,000 while Weiskopf relaxed with the second win of his pro career.

Hill's error made Weiskopf look like a seer. He had planned to compete in the British Open and didn't make up his mind to play in the Buick until last Sunday. Then he telephoned his entry, an hour before the deadline.

"I never thought I had a chance to win until the last round when I caught everybody on the first nine," he said.

Weiskopf actually went ahead when he turned the first nine Sunday three under par, eight under for the tournament. But Hill, 28, took a dead shot at him when he also went eigth under by dropping a birdie putt on his 71st hole.

Then Hill's problems began. His approach to the last green soared left and stopped against spectator stands. He was given a free drop and, after three tries, in which the ball rolled back against the stands each time, he was allowed to place the ball.

"I hit a good chip," Hill said of his shot which rolled five feet past the pin, on the downhill side. Then he blew the putt and still wound up with a single paycheck bigger than the earnings he had hoped to amass in his entire first season on the pro tour.

Weiskopf, who said he "tried to play the course coming in" to nurse his lead on the field, improved his position as second leading money winner with the win, boosting his earnings this year to $116,736.80 compared to Billy Casper's leading $130,185.90.

Hill boosted his earnings for the year to $24,880, and he said he had "hoped to win between $8,000 and $10,000" during his first full year on the tour. It was his second runner-up finish.

VIEWS of SPORT

By Red Smith

First came a postcard from a former colleague, Tommy Holmes, who is making his leisurely way by dog-sled up the Alaska Highway to see whether Jack Kearns overlooked any gold when he left the Yukon. The card showed a photograph of the main street in Shelby, Mont., which bears little more resemblance to Times Square than it did on July 4, 1923, when Dr. Kearns bankrupted the town and much of the Northwest.

On the message side, Tommy had written: "Dempsey came out bobbing and weaving—15 times." He referred, of course, to the 15 dreary rounds in Shelby during which Jack Dempsey defended the heavyweight championship of the world against the older, smaller Tommy Gibbons while Kearns, the champion's manager, was making off with all the liquid assets of the neighborhood.

By an accident of timing, the card arrived as the fight mob gathered for still another heavyweight championship, sort of, the Madison Square Garden show presenting Joe Frazier and Manuel Ramos in Frazier's first defense of the world title recognized by New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, and Maine.

Although the Frazier-Ramos hoedown had roused but a few to a red froth of excitement, there hasn't been a championship match in recent memory without livelier action in almost every round than in all of Dempsey's 45 minutes of dismal clutch-and-bungle with Gibbons. Yet that mismatch so intoxicated the border country that citizens hocked their souls to underwrite it for "the honor of Montana" and the welfare of Dr. Kearns, who fled leaving all three banks in Shelby busted.

It makes one wonder what has happened to the sports climate in the intervening 45 years. Have we as a people grown from an age of innocence into a more realistic maturity? Or is it just that today's scene doesn't happen to be ornamented by demigods of Dempsey's compelling magnetism?

For example, will Frazier or any other figure now active in sports be able to make news in the future merely by achieving the age of 73? This is a milestone Jack Dempsey reached this week, and the event has not gone unnoticed.

Monmouth Park took cognizance of it the other day by naming its feature race the Jack Dempsey Purse, and Jack was on hand to present a trophy to the winning owner. He did not look 73. Indeed, if you stand back a few steps and the light doesn't bring out the gray at the temples, he doesn't look 53.

More than 40 years have passed since Dempsey lost to Gene Tunney and the title changed hands 15 times between his day and Frazier's, yet to many Jack Dempsey is still the champ. Fresh in memory is an incident that illustrates this.

It was 1949 in Chicago on the day before Ezzard Charles and J. J. Walcott fought, though not hard, for the championship vacated by Rocky Marciano's retirement. Dempsey was breakfasting with friends when a paunch stranger stopped by, his eyes lighting with recognition.

"Jack Dempsey," he said, showing out a paw.

Jack gave him the big hi-ya-pal routine and words bubbled out of the stranger. He said he'd been there in Toledo on July 4, 1919, when Jack tore that "Jack Willard" apart and boy-o-boy was that ever a scrap. And Jack was saying yeh, pal, those were the days, weren't they. And then the stranger brought his lips close to Dempsey's ear.

"Jack," he said, "I hope you whip hell out of that big bum tomorrow night." And he left.

Dempsey stared after him. This was 30 years after he won the title and 23 years after he lost it.

"Well I'll be damned," Jack said softly. "He thinks I'm still the champ."

Look at him today, and you can understand why. One day not very long ago he came striding out of a doorway where several sportswriters stood chatting near the curb, slammed one of them on the shoulder and spun him in hearty greeting, flung hellos around, and strode off about his business.

He had a bit of stubble on his face with a big cigar in the middle of it and he looked tough. Fit and tough. For just a moment this could have been the Dempsey of Toledo. One of the group spoke thoughtfully as Jack swung down the street.

"One thing you have to say for Tunney," he said. "He was no coward."

Susie Falters But Still Wins

READING, Pa. (AP) — Someone said to Mrs. Susie Maxwell Berning: "You don't look or act like a girl who has just won the prestige title of women's golf—the U.S. Open."

The bride of seven weeks replied: "It's hard to believe you could win a tournament when you play the last three holes the way I did. Maybe this is why I don't feel elated. I feel fortunate to have won."

Mrs. Berning won $5,000 Sunday with a final-round par 71 over the 6,232-yard Moselem Springs Golf Club course for a 72-hole total of 289.

She prevailed by three strokes over Mickey Wright, the four-time national queen.

"It was two rounds too late," said Miss Wright, 33, who finished with a 68 and a four-round total of 292.

RAN INTO TROUBLE

Mrs. Berning spoke of the 16th, 17th and 18th holes where, in the last three rounds, she went over par six times and two over par once.

The professional of four years has earned only $592 in three previous tournaments this year.

Carol Mann carded a final 75 and wound up tied for third with Marilynn Smith who shot a 73. They each had 72-hole totals of 295.

TIED FOR FIFTH

Mrs. Murle Lindstrom's 75 Sunday left her deadlocked for fifth at 296 with Kathy Whitworth, the tour's leading money-winner who concluded with a 74.

Defending champion Catherine LaCoste of France, only amateur and foreigner to win the Open, was a distant 302 with a final round 73, while Sandra Post of Oakville, Ont., who won the Ladies' Professional Golfers Association championship two weeks ago, shot a last-round 75 for 301. Miss Post won $540.

Kathy Fifth But Holds Her Lead

CINCINNATI (AP) — Kathy Whitworth tied for fifth place in the U.S. Women's Open golf tournament Sunday but held her lead in money winnings on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour.

Miss Whitworth, a three-time winner on the tour, now has won $21,655. LPGA headquarters announced Monday.

Mickey Wright, who finished second in the Open, and Carol Mann, who finished in a tie for third, closed in on Miss Whitworth.

Miss Mann, who has won four times, now has $18,795 in winnings and Miss Wright, winner of four tournaments, has won $14,612.

Mrs. Susie Maxwell Berning, winner of the Open and its $5,000 top prize, didn't break into the Top Ten money winners with her victory, but she jumped from 42nd to 13th in the standing. She now has won $5,592.

Young Mexican Star Steals Swim Spotlight

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (CP-AP) — A 20-year-old Mexican, establishing himself as a swimmer to watch in the Mexico City Olympics next fall, was the star of the Santa Clara Swim Club's international meet during the weekend.

Guillermo Echevania set a world record in the 1,500 metre freestyle and placed second in the 400-metre freestyle to world record holder Mark Spitz of the United States.

Echevarria's time in the 1,500 metres, 16:38.1, broke Mike Burton's world record by six seconds.

Greg Buckingham of the U.S. set a world record of 4:45.1 in the 400-metre individual medley.

SIX MARKS FALL

In all, six world records were set at the meet, including Claudia Kolb's 5:05.4 triumph in the 400-metre individual medley.

Other records came by Sue Pederson on a 2:09.5 200-metre freestyle leadoff leg on an 800-metre relay, her Arden Hills Swim Club's 8:46.4, and the host club's 400-metre freestyle relay of 4:01.0.

Elaine Tanner of Winnipeg and Vancouver defeated South Africa's Karen Muir in the 200-metre backstroke after losing to the South African in the 100-metre backstroke. Miss Muir holds the world record in both events.

Miss Tanner covered the 200 metres in two minutes, 24.6 seconds—five-tenths of a second off Miss Muir's record set earlier this year. Miss Muir finished second in 2:26.2.

Junior 'Bellies Edge Shamrocks

When you start pricing a new car there's one thing you have to take into consideration. The 1968 Ambassador comes equipped with air conditioning, by Kelvinator at no extra cost. It's built into the car . . . it's not an optional extra. And it's worth plenty.

	Ambassador	Ford	Chevrolet	Plymouth
Standard Equip. Air Conditioning?	YES	NO	NO	NO
Extra Cost of Air Conditioning	NIL	$394.	$458.30	$441.15

Our air conditioning gives you two great advantages: you get to enjoy the delightful luxury of riding around in a cool car while everybody else wilts, and you get a real boost in value when trade-in time comes around.

Tonight, take your last hot drive. Head for a nearby American Motors dealer and take a long cool test drive in an air conditioned Ambassador. Check the full range of models available for immediate delivery, then check the price.

And when you do, remember this: a car without air conditioning is under-equipped by about $400—and that's as good as being $400 over-priced!

Ambassador by American Motors is the only full-size popular-priced car that's fully equipped with free air conditioning.

But Mostly in Corporate Way

Tax Incentive for Beatles

LONDON (AP) — The tax collector has turned the Beatles into businessmen.

"Our accountant told us: 'You've either got to give it to the government or expand,' " says the singers' managing director, Neil Aspinall.

Since corporation taxes are lower than the 95 per cent-plus personal taxes that folks in the Beatles' brackets must pay, they chose expansion.

As Apple Corp. they are going into clothes, music publishing and records, movies and electronics.

ONLY RECORDS

Since Christmas they have established companies in Canada, the United States, Japan, France, West Germany, Holland, Italy, Switzerland and Australia. At present these branches handle only records, but they probably will take on other Apple products under franchise.

Aspinall says some of the profits will go to a Beatle foundation for the arts.

The Beatles made their last public appearance in San Francisco in 1966.

MAY BE MORE

"That isn't to say they won't ever make another public appearance," their manager explained.

"But if they do, it won't be as four figures alone on the stage before a crowd of thousands. You lose contact with the audience that way. If they appear again, they'd like to limit audiences to no more than 400, and maybe there'd be an orchestra."

The Beatles are still cutting a few discs, and still topping the charts when they do. Lady Madonna was their latest.

They still get "an enormous fan mail," and have fan clubs in 40 countries.

The Beatles are tied up by contract on records for the next eight years, Aspinall said, "but they're not actually obliged to make any records at all."

The Beatles' own Apple Record company is in the position of issuing only records by other artists. Their business office is crowded with long-haired hopefuls.

FIRM SPLIT

The Fool, an organization of four young designers orignally under contract to design for the Apple clothing shop which opened in Baker Street last fall, recently split with the Beatles. They were released from their contract, and have gone to New York.

Were they too far out for the businessmen Beatles?

"Well, I think they were too far-out for everybody," Aspinall commented. "Mostly though, they wanted to run the whole show."

Apple, he claims, now sells clothes for bank clerks as well as hippies. A second Apple Tailoring Shop, selling men's wear, opened last month in Chelsea's King Road, but Aspinall indicated that original plans to spread Apple clothing shops abroad have been abandoned.

Stolen Cash Bought Beer

A 21-year-old youth who took $210 from the cash register of a city service station Saturday night used part of the money to buy six dozen bottles of beer, Central Magistrate's Court was told Monday.

Barry Pederson of 46 Crease pleaded guilty to one charge of theft over $50 and one of theft under $50. He was remanded to July 15 for a pre-sentence report and sentence.

BUSY WITH CAR.

Det. Edward Hardy said Pederson went into Morrison Motors service station at about 10:30 p.m. and stole the money while two attendants were busy with a car.

He was located an hour later on Government and he had with him $188 in cash and six cases of beer he had bought at a beer parlor, Det. Hardy said.

Cpl. Kenneth Hatherly said Pederson forced the window of a car parked Saturday night in the parking lot of the Halfway House and stole groceries worth about $10.

John Norton, 23, of 4730 Spring was fined $250 when he was found guilty of driving June 25 while his licence was suspended. A second count alleging the same offence on June 16 was dismissed.

A 22-year-old youth who ran stop lights on Douglas at Fisgard, Herald and Discovery at 3:45 a.m. Sunday was fined $100 for careless driving. Norman Urquhart of 418B Craigflower pleaded guilty.

His licence was suspended after the court was told Urquhart received five speeding tickets last year and had one conviction of careless driving.

Kevin Stamp, 536 Johnson, was sentenced to 30 days in jail when he was found guilty of committing vagrancy by begging. Court was told that he asked two passers-by Saturday for 11 cents while standing in front of the Government Street liquor store.

William Davis, 1054 Southgate, was fined $50 for consuming liquor in a public place. Court was told the offence occured Feb. 28 in the 500 block Johnson.

Diane Fung, 28, of 741 Dalby was fined $25 when she pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance by being drunk Sunday morning at Paul's Drive-In.

Fined for careless driving: Robert Handysides, 1141 Palmer, $40; Brian Higgins, 255 Glenairlie, $50, licence suspended; Reginald Lewis, 3464 Calumet, $45; June Schroeder, 2658 Fernwood, $35; Norah Sowerby, 1271 Filmer, $40.

School Tenders Closing

A workshop and a classroom building which will occupy an area equivalent to a city block are in the first phase contract for the new vocational school on Wilkinson Road.

Tenders for the project close Aug. 2, the provincial public works department announced Monday. It was first announced in 1964 by Premier Bennett.

Services such as water, sewers and steam will be shared with Glendale school for the retarded, under construction at the same site.

Psychiatric Nurses Suspended

Two male psychiatric nurses have been suspended from their their jobs and demoted for striking a 15-year-old boy patient at the Woodlands School for Retarded Children at New Westminster, Dr. F. G. Tucker, deputy minister of mental health, announced Monday.

"The suspension will involve complete loss of pay for the three month period and subsequent demotion on return to duty," a statement said.

Dr. Tucker said the action of punishing a patient by physical means would normally warrant immediate termination of service.

"However the two nurses involved have many years of exemplary conduct at the Woodlands school to their credit and numerous letters were received attesting to their overall concern in all matters of patient welfare," the statement said.

"These facts plus consideration that dismissal would mean extreme hardship for the families of such long-term employees resulted in Dr. Tucker's decision that a 30-day suspension was quite justifiable."

Wire, Metal Wraps Body

The man's body had a 15-foot length of wire wrapped around the waist and was weighted down by about 50 pounds of metal. Police said the body had been in the water for some time.

Crafty Thieves Grab Jewelry

BOSTON (AP) — Police are searching for clues to a gang of thieves who looted a jewelry shop of nearly $500,000. The thieves bypassed the alarm system in the office of I. Kopelman and Sons Jewelry Co., smashed the combinations of two safes and selected the best of the diamonds, rings, watches and other jewelry.

WHY I'M RUNNING by PETER POLLEN

Two weeks ago 1,200 men went on strike along Canada's busiest waterway, the St. Lawrence Seaway. The Great Lakes, the industrial heart of North America is cut off from the sea; along the Seaway forty-seven large ocean freighters are stranded in the locks of the canal; industry and employment grinds to a halt.

A headline in the Toronto newspaper, the Globe and Mail of June 25th says "Strikes Catch Ottawa Almost Powerless." The news story goes on, "Experts say it would be practically impossible to convene the new Parliament before July 25 to approve legislation to settle the strike." The government is "almost powerless." And society is at war with itself.

Today as never before in history our workers need support and protection under the law. The union is needed as a social force and balance for a growing concentration of industry in fewer and fewer companies.

But surely a civilized and advanced society cannot tolerate, let alone survive when it is at war with itself with lockouts and strikes. Should the workers' families suffer because management will not agree to a settlement? Should our large companies be crippled by strikes? Should the general public suffer because no one can agree?

I believe the Mediation Commission Act (Bill 33) is an intelligent attempt to come to grips with a growing problem. It is in no way designed to establish wage control. Its primary purpose is to bring logic and reason into collective bargaining. It is a forward step in avoiding ultimate social and industrial chaos.

This legislation is a major issue in this election —yet my opponent will not state his own position. He has recounted his party's performance. They voted against it. But where does he sit?

I am strongly in favor of this intelligent attempt to protect us against ourselves. If you support this legislation, please vote your support to me on July 15th. Thank you.

POLLEN, George Peter Alexander | X

Victoria-Maui Race Sidelight

Laymore Aids Sailor

A yachtsman four days without food in his solo voyage from Samoa to San Francisco stole the spotlight Monday from two Vancouver brothers whose boats held first and second place in the 2,300-mile Victoria-to-Maui yacht race.

It was Sunday when the CNAV Laymore from Esquimalt intercepted the yacht El Viajero about 600 miles off North California, but Monday by the time the news leaked to British Columbia.

The report disclosed that the yacht's skipper, identified only as John Cotton, was 72 days out of Samoa, was out of provisions and hadn't eaten for four days.

The Laymore, escorting the 14 Canadian and American yachts in the race to Hawaii, supplied Cotton with food and reported that he had continued on his way.

Meanwhile, Bill Killam's 47-foot sloop Porpoise III slipped into first place followed by the similar-sized Velaris, guided by Killam's brother, Lol.

A 40-foot Tacoma yacht sailed by Don Neilsen was in third place, holding a slim margin over a third Vancouver entry, the 53-foot Gabrielle III skippered by Dick Sandwell.

There are five Vancouver entries in the race, all of them from the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club which co-sponsors the event with the Lahaina Yacht Club of Hawaii.

Moving up well Monday was the sentimental favorite, HMCS Oriole from Esquimalt, largest craft in the race at 91 feet and 80 tons. Lagging near the tail end earlier, it had moved into sixth place.

Paraplegics Speed Ban Going Soon

VANCOUVER (CP) — The provincial government is to remove speed restrictions governing British Columbia's 285 paraplegic drivers, who have been limited to driving at 50 miles an hour.

E. S. L. Jackson, assistant superintendent of motor vehicles, made the announcement Sunday at an obstacle course rodeo for paraplegics.

As of July 15, they will be able to drive at the posted speed limits, in some cases 70 miles an hour, provided they pass a special road test.

Most paraplegics have special hand controls on their cars, while others are required only to have power brakes and power steering.

UN Task Aided By Washington

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The United States has informed Secretary-General U Thant it will contribute up to $4,000,000 for the United Nations peace-keeping force in Cyprus for the period from June 27 to Dec. 15. The force is made up of Canadian and other troops.

Garden Notes

Too Soon, Too Much

By M. V. CHESNUT

"Dear Mr. Chesnut: I wonder if you can tell me what could possibly have happened to my rhubarb. We planted eight roots last spring, and had lovely rhubarb all last summer, but this year there are very few stalks, and they are thin and straggly. Do you think there could be something missing in our soil?"

I am reproducing this letter because it is representative of at least a dozen similar complaints which have come to my desk over the past month or so, all reporting poor, thin sticks of rhubarb.

The clue to the cause of the trouble is contained in the letter when the writer says "We planted it last spring and had lovely rhubarb all summer," for this sentence shows two very serious faults in the culture of rhubarb plants.

In the first place, you should never pull and eat rhubarb the same year as you plant or transplant it, for the plant needs all the leaves it can make in order to plump up its roots and get itself properly established in its new home.

As I have pointed out in previous columns, the leaf of any plant is a food factory in which nutrients are manufactured through the action of sunlight — the fertilizer or manure you put down are not true plant foods but only the raw materials from which complex nutrients are synthesized in the leaf. During the first year, therefore, every leaf is precious and must be safeguarded and kept in top operating condition throughout the season.

The other cultural fault is indicated by the words "We had lovely rhubarb all summer," for even in mature and well-established plants, it is bad business to keep on pulling stalks much after the end of June. The same reasoning applies here: The plant needs all of its leaves during the second half of the growing season to make good its losses and recharge its batteries for the following season.

Even under proper management — no cropping the first year, no cropping after Dominion Day in subsequent years — rhubarb needs generous feeding to perform really well. In this, rhubarb has a lot in common with raspberries and rambler roses.

Every raspberry cane is cut to the ground in its second year after it has borne its crop of berries. Every cane of rambler roses is cut down after it has bloomed, for an individual cane bears flowers only once, in its second year of life. These plants, as with rhubarb, must produce an enormous amount of growth to replace that which is cut away, which means lavish feeding and adequate watering.

Before planting, the site should be enriched with old, well-rotted manure, or with spent mushroom compost which I find easier to come by and more pleasant to handle, and this should be dug or rototilled in widely, not just placed in the bottom of each individual planting hole.

In addition, a surface mulch of the same material should be spread over the rooting area annually.

Harking back to the proper cropping of rhubarb, the stalks should be harvested as you would brussels sprouts, taking just a few stalks from each plant rather than denuding any one plant. This spreads the strain of each picking over the whole rhubarb patch and has a much less exhausting effect.

Never pull more than one-third the total number of mature stalks from any one plant, and it should always appear reasonably well furnished with leaves after picking. The stalks are not cut, but wrenched out of their sockets with a twisting jerk. This leaves no ugly stub to rot back and perhaps provide entry for disease organisms.

ART BUCHWALD Matches Boasts with Anatole

Revolutionary Upmanship

PARIS — All the French seem to want to talk about these days is THEIR revolution. They don't have any interest at all in what has been happening in the United States and they've been so boorish about it I've found myself bragging about our riots back home.

This is how the conversation has been going:

"You should have been here during the uprising," Anatole said. "It was fantastic."

"Maybe so," I said, "But you don't know what a riot is until you live through one in Washington, D.C."

"Ours wasn't a riot," Anatole said, "it was an all-out revolution."

"Ours could have been, except for the curfew. You didn't have a curfew in Paris, did you?"

"No, but we had a general strike," he said angrily. "You couldn't even get gasoline for your automobile."

"We had looting and burning. Whole blocks were incinerated," The students burned every car on the Left Bank," Anatole replied. "They also broke windows. Did you have any barricades?"

He had me there. "No, we didn't have any barricades, but we had marines and paratroopers patrolling the streets," I said. "We could have been at war."

"Our students took over all the buildings at the university," Anatole said.

"So did ours at Columbia. They gave no quarter."

Anatole toyed with his aperitif. Then he said, "Our police were more brutal to the students then your police."

"How can you say that?" I cried. "Our police used billy clubs and tear gas and hoses."

"Aha," said Anatole, "our police also used clubs. But they were six feet long, and the police threw the tear gas right into the students' faces. They also beat them up on the way to the station."

"Our students were also beaten up. Many of them are still in jail. It sounds like you people had a tea party."

"A tea party?" Anatole said, slamming down his drink, "We had a million people march from the Place de la Republique to the Sorbonne."

"We had shooting in Detroit," I said.

"But we have censorship here on the television. You at least know what's going on."

"We're afraid to walk the streets at night," I said, hoping that would put Anatole in his place.

"All the banks were on strike," Anatole said, pretending he didn't hear me. "We didn't even have any money."

Everyone in America owns a gun," I said.

"We overthrew President Johnson."

"Ah, yes, but you did it peacefully."

"Nevertheless, we got rid of our president and you didn't."

I could see Anatole was losing his cool, so I tried to placate him. "For a small country, you had a pretty good revolution."

"Don't patronize me," Anatole yelled. "It was a damn fine revolution and we haven't heard the end of it yet."

I looked at him coldly. "Would you like to hear about the Poor People's March?"

He got up from the table and stomped away, leaving me to pay the bill.

Sharif Builds Bridge

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Omar Sharif's refusal to boycott the Israeli bridge-playing team, could cost him his passport in Egypt. Omar on a bridge tour of the world, did not ask his team to jeopardize its popularity with President Nasser, but he sat down with three Israeli members and played one hand. Just to prove that bridge is an international game and should not be harnessed to political prejudice.

Petula Clark can only spend 90 days in England because of tax reasons, so she must complete her role as Mrs. Chips within that time. It's a Puzzlement

SYDNEY HARRIS

Trying vainly (and knowing I would have to call for help) to knot a black bow tie for a formal dinner the other evening, I assuaged my sense of ineffectuality be recalling some of the silly and simple things people cannot do.

For years I have tried to cope with bow ties; patient friends and relatives have given me lessons, and when they are around, I can manage some semblance of a knot. But, left on my own, I ignominiously have to settle for something that looks like a snake eating its own tail.

I know a woman who can sew and knit expertly, and yet cannot extract a cork from a bottle to save her life, even with the most ingenious of corkscrews. I know a gifted surgeon who cannot back his car into a parking space; his wife does it, or he finds a larger space.

Visiting out of town not long ago, I was playing bridge when the hostess was out for a rubber. She excused herself and said brightly, "Think I'll go into the kitchen and whip up some fudge."

My greedy little mouth began to water, loving fudge and recollecting the general excellence of her cuisine. As soon as she had left the room, her husband leaned over and murmured to us, "There won't be any fudge — just forget it."

He went on to explain that on an average of one evening a week for years she has popped into the kitchen to "make fudge" with no success whatever. All they had at the end was a glum and gooey sauce to put over the ice cream. "I haven't eaten a piece of home-made fudge in four years," he said darkly.

I suppose the Freudians would say there is a "block" somewhere if a reasonably adept and intelligent person cannot perform a simple function like tying a bow tie or uncorking a bottle. Yet, it helps to keep in mind that Houdini, the most adroit of magical manipulators, was always clumsily breaking things around the house; his wife finally refused to let him help with the dishes.

And Montaigne, the noted French writer who was the very inventor of the essay, once confessed, "My hands are so clumsy I cannot write so as to read myself what I have written, and I'd rather scribble it over again than take the trouble to decipher it."

What this all suggests, I suppose, is related to my remarks in a recent column about the types of "intelligence." Intelligence cannot be graduated up like a ladder, but must be measured off like a fence.

Intelligences are of different kinds: Great magicians drop dishes, and brilliant psychiatrists often cannot run their own families — which the no-fudge lady does with admirable ease.

Ex-Reeve Good Citizen

Sydney Pickles, 74, first reeve of Central Saanich, received the annual Victoria Good Citizen award Sunday at Beacon Hill Park.

President of the Handicapped Equipment Loan Association, which he organized in 1958, Mr. Pickles received the Good Citizen medal from John Sullivan, chief factor of Post No. 1, Native Sons of British Columbia.

Mr. Pickles was first reeve of Central Saanich when the old Ward 6 area left Saanich in 1951. He stayed in office for four years.

At one time he farmed the original Marcotte farm on Mount Newton Cross Road, donating part of his property to extend John Dean Park before he sold it in 1960.

The handicapped loan association is a privately financed operation which provides equipment without charge for physically disabled people. The association also pays for transportation of the equipment.

Mr. Pickles accepted the award on behalf of the association and its volunteer helpers who have kept the association in being.

Cowichan Adds To Win Streak

Cowichan Bay remains one of the hottest fishing spots on Vancouver Island for both coho and big springs with moochers and trollers both picking up the big fish.

Over the weekend Lawrence Goodson landed a 31.11-pounder he caught trolling in the middle of the day with 10 ounces of weight and Minnow Teaser.

The big springs, which disappeared for a while last week at Campbell River, are back again and anglers, including the Buzz Bombers, are picking up spring (chinook) salmon up to the 30-pound tyee weight.

Frank Baker proved the Buzz Bomb would catch spring (chinooks) at Port Renfrew over the weekend when he outfished his partners.

Operated by Rest Haven Owners

Region Weighs Sidney Hospital

By JOHN MATTERS

A 100-bed acute care hospital at Sidney, which would be a direct replacement for Rest Haven, is being given considerable study by some regional authorities, it was learned Monday.

The rationale of the proposal is that no time can be lost replacing the present, 56-bed Rest Haven, a suggestion which even the provincial government endorsed three years ago.

In addition it would give the people of the Sidney-North Saanich area what they want—a hospital in their own community operated by the Seventh Day Adventist Church, the present owners of Rest Haven.

One source pointed out the advantage of the idea is that construction of a hospital of that size could proceed much more rapidly than it would on a larger centre.

Designs for hospitals of about 100 beds have been tried and proven for years and such a centre at Sidney would not require the long planning preliminaries which have to precede the construction of hospitals of 300, 400 or 600 beds, for example.

Mayor Hugh Curtis, chairman of the regional hospital board, said he had heard of the proposal for a 100-bed acute care hospital at Sidney and one thing he liked about it was that it would not exclude the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

"I am most reluctant to see any step taken that would exclude societies which have proven their ability to operate hospitals," he said.

It could not be ascertained whether the Sidney hospital could be included in a $12,000,000 referendum which will be taken to ratepayers in the capital region district in September or October.

The referendum, about $4,000,000 of which would be the local share, would in the main provide extended care beds to relieve pressure by elderly but ambulatory patients occupying expensive beds in places such as Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's hospitals.

There have been estimates that about 200 beds—or one-fifth of the total acute care hospital space in Victoria—are occupied by such patients.

The referendum also would provide money to start planning a new major hospital that likely will replace St. Joseph's. A referendum about 15 months from now would provide money to actually build it and finance renovations and extensions needed at Royal Jubilee.

In the meantime, there are indications several members of the regional board are disappointed their hospital advisory committee, which three weeks ago suggested a 650-bed hospital operated by the management team now at St. Joseph's, handed them a grenade.

Diphtheria Case

Health Board Action Riles East Indian

By A. H. MURPHY

A member of Greater Victoria's East Indian community expressed outrage Monday at the suggestion that he would knowingly harbor a diphtheria carrier.

The affair came to light Thursday with a press release from the offices of the metropolitan board of health, above the signature of Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread, senior medical officer.

The release stated that a nine-year-old Vancouver boy "found to be carrying diptheria bacilli in his throat" was placed under quarantine in Vancouver, along with his family.

The boy was supposed to remain at home, the release said.

However, over the long weekend (June 29) the boy and his mother travelled to Victoria and visited friends.

According to the press release, a party was held at the Saanich home the boy was visiting following a religious ceremony at the Victoria Sikh Temple. The boy mingled with the 30 or 40 guests and the board issued an appeal for all who had been in contact to come to the board office for throat swab tests.

On Thursday and Friday a number of the people who attended the party did show up, and all tests were negative. Health authorities said Friday they believed most of the contacts had been tested and all found to be negative.

'Clearly Inferred'

The board of health may have been satisfied about the response to the appeal, but the man at whose home the party was held was far from happy about the inference left by the board of health statement.

"I'm really upset about this and a lot of other people in the East Indian community of this city are also indignant," said Abtar Singh Bains, 5179 Patricia Bay Highway.

"The inference is clearly left that this boy was harbored in my home after breaking quarantine in Vancouver, and this is just not true. It occurs to me that a man in the responsible office held by Dr. Whitbread should have got his facts straight before issuing any public statement.

"This boy was never in quarantine, either at Vancouver or here, and there was no restriction of any kind placed upon his movements," said Mr. Bains.

He added that the boy was in the same classroom in a Vancouver school with a child who contracted diphtheria and later died, but the boy had since been kept under observation by his family doctor and he was under no restriction by his own family physician or by municipal health authorities.

Panic Button Pushed

"These facts were all available to Dr. Whitbread, who had only to call the boy's family doctor, but he didn't bother to get them. Instead, Dr. Whitbread pushed the panic button," Mr. Bains said.

If Dr. Whitbread felt the boy was a danger to the public why did he allow him to take the ferry back to Vancouver and put all the passengers in the vessel in jeopardy? asked Mr. Bains.

"Because the boy did go back, with Dr. Whitbread's full knowledge," he added.

Mr. Bains was also indignant because it was brought out clearly in the board of health press release that the party took place following a religious ceremony at the local Sikh Temple.

"He was, in effect, pinpointing the fact that East Indians were involved. I fail to see what this had to do with the subject," Mr. Bains added.

Dr. Whitbread said Monday that he had acted on police information, and had taken the prescribed steps.

City Leases Computer

Red-Light Sequence Soon IBM's Decree

Victoria plans to have 28 of 43 major intersections hooked into a computer traffic-control system by the end of the year, Mayor Hugh Stephen said Monday.

The city is leasing an IBM 360, model 20 computer, which will be delivered in September along with an accessory traffic control unit.

David Campbell, traffic engineer, said Monday the computer unit would adjust the time-setting sequences of traffic lights by analysing the flow of traffic to fit peak and ebb hours of the day.

"We have already used a computer to correlate data taken on existing intersections, and it analysed the information and printed the results in a period of 20 minutes. It would have taken two men about a month to calculate the same information manually," said Mr. Campbell.

Before Rotary Exchange Trips

Two Girls Think Spanish

By DIANE JANKOWSKI

The need for bilingualism is more than apparent to two greater Victoria girls, but it is not French that concerns them.

Their concern is with Spanish because as participants in the Rotary International student exchange, they will spend next year studying in Spanish speaking countries.

"I don't think it will be too difficult picking up Spanish because I've already studied French and it's the second language that's hardest," said Linda Bamford, 271 Glenairlie.

Linda, 18, will be leaving Victoria July 24 for Santa Cruz, Bolivia, where she will be living for the next year.

A month later, another girl from the same school, Esquimalt senior high, will be leaving for Santillo, Mexico.

"I'm scared," she said, "but I'm happy about going at the same time."

Both girls will attend school in the language of the country and live as members of families there.

It will be one of the great experiences of their lives, according to a girl who spent the past year on a similar program.

Elizabeth Spratt, 3000 Rutland, returned three weeks ago from a year in Argentina.

"It isn't too hard to pick up the language," she said "and they don't expect too much from you at school, so you can really enjoy it.

"The experience makes you very proud to be a Canadian."

Junko Nakagawa, 18, of Himaji, Japan, has been living for the past year with the Macmillan family, 2929 The Rise.

A grade 12 student, she attended Victoria high school and will leave Victoria at the end of July.

Miss Nakagawa plans to attend university in Japan.

The Rotary exchange program began in 1963-64.

Elsa Boland of Santa Cruz, Bolivia, said the year she spent in Willmington, Del., "was the most tremendous I've ever had in my life."

Miss Boland was in Victoria Monday to address the Victoria Rotary club.

The program has no quota of participants and involves as many students as possible each year.

Students are advised of it at school and those who apply are interviewed twice. Successful applicants are allowed to state a preference but must be prepared to accept any country to which they are sent.

Doctors' Rooms

Oak Bay Rejects Office Spread

It is permissible for a doctor to use his house for an office in Oak Bay but to add on an extension for an office is not tolerated.

Over the strong objection of Ald. G. S. Wallace (also a medical doctor) council voted five to one to reject such an application from Dr. Margaret L. Marsh, 954 Newport.

PUBLIC OPINION SOUGHT

Ald. Wallace argued that the committee which recommended the application be rejected was hedging.

He said public opinion on the application should be sampled.

Ald. Frances Elford said the question of doctors using their homes for offices had already been before public hearings.

'CHIPPING AWAY'

"I am opposed to further encroachment on prime residential property," said Ald. Ian Horne. "It is just another effort at chipping away."

Ald. Alex Hendry said permission had originally been given to doctors to use their homes as offices to give residents faster service.

"It is my understanding that there are now no longer any house calls. Doctors are now downtown in medical centres and everything is more convenient," he said.

Ald. Wallace said Ald. Hendry's remarks about doctors making no house calls were unfair and irrelevent and asked the comment be withdrawn.

First-Day Donors Disappoint

Poor turnout of only 105 donors Monday caused anxiety among Red Cross officials, who want to find at least 500 pints before two-day blood donor clinic ends today. Clinic will be from 1:30 to 4:30 and 6:30 to 9 p.m. at 1046 Fort.

Esquimalt Fire Plan Drawn Up by Chief

Esquimalt Police Chief Earl Sarsiat has completed his list of requirements for a separate fire department in the municipality and it will be discussed by the fire committee during the summer, Ald. Gerald Horne said Monday.

Mayor Ray Bryant promised in his January inaugural address that a referendum would be put before the taxpayers early in the year, and the chief was asked early in the spring to submit the list.

After a list has been agreed upon, the chief will be asked to put price tags on the approved requirements before a decision is reached on holding a referendum, Ald. Horne said.

'Bureaucracies Trying To Control Children'

Government bureaucrats want to take over the control of children from parents, Ald. Alan Newberry of Saanich declared Monday night.

He also told a meeting of Saanich council, sitting as a rezoning hearing, it did not have the right to set regulations as to how parents should behave in respect to their children.

Council was discussing an application which would have allowed the occupants of 4119 Quadra to increase the enrolment in their kindergarten from the present 15 to 25.

ALL MEMBERS

The proposal was accepted, with all members of council except Ald. Edith Gunning supporting it. She unsuccessfully argued that 25 children would need more outdoor play area than was provided at the site.

Ald. Ed Lum agreed with Ald. Newberry that the plethora of regulations set out by the provincial government, and administered here by the Family and Children's Service, was "ridiculous."

(While the use of the site for a kindergarten of 25 children has been approved by Saanich, the proposal still has to pass the tests of the Welfare Institutions Licensing Act.)

"The people who want to send their children to this kindergarten have made the decision," said Ald. Newberry. "They have perceived the need and they have outlined their wishes. I don't see why we have the right to interfere."

Gyro Club Buying Playfield Supplies

The Gyro Club is buying playground equipment for an area in Henderson Park, Oak Bay council was told Monday.

In other council business, members were told the provincial government has agreed to pay its share for extending Cedar Hill Road construction between Henderson and Cadboro Bay Road.

The road is to be built at a cost of $352,000 of which the government pays 50 per cent.

Trends Toward Stage

MONTREAL — The fashionable Canadian woman will move on-stage in fashion this winter, judging from the trends indicated in the Canadian Fashion Awards Gala. This year, women will be able to play a variety of roles, wear a variety of costumes, follow a personal route and be ultra-fashionable.

The show, sponsored by the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, featured 150 Union Label fashions.

● The Snow Flowers: Ski and apres-ski fashions in pretty flowery pastels, teamed with white. Notably embroidery and color inserts.

● Oh, What a Lovely War!: Coats, suits, costumes and dresses inspired by the 1914-1918 period. Khaki colors, brass buttons, military themes, high-placed belts, longer skirts. Forage caps and helmets.

● Paso Doble: A stunning tableau of Spanish fashion attitudes. Jet braid on dresses and evening suits. Gaucho pants, coats and hats. Snoods. Mantilla laces. Spanish colors of olive, grey, black and red.

● Animal Crackers: The wild fun of fake furs. Big bears, slinky cheetahs, horse and pony prints . . . plus the reality of lynx, fox and raccoon as lavish trimmings on coats and costumes.

● Tovarich: The most lavishly furred fashions, all in a Tolstoy mood. Coats, suits, costumes and dresses. Chin muffling collars of fox, lynx, mink, lamb. Maxi coats with Cossack and Tartar hats. Regular length coats with matching shechias. In black, brown, grey, beige blue and red.

● The Innocents: White collar dresses and costumes. As demure as can be, in satin, on brocade and velvet, convert and flannel.

● The Country Girl: Tweeds, both English and Irish, in flowing capes, pant-suits, knickers . . . in classic coat and sweater dresses . . . and in the drama of a floor length cape and dress costume. Shades of beige, tupe and grey.

● The Wild Angels: Leather and leather-like fashions in sports-wear . . . mini coats and maxi coats, knickers, culottes, shorts, jumpers, dresses, slacks and capes. Worn with matching fedoras and helmets.

● The Romantics: Lord Byron's image in beautifully shaped and fitted coats and dresses. Velvet and satin accents. High collars, deep cuffs. Furs and laces. Shades of grey and purple, red and black.

● Design for Living: A severe chic group of dresses and coats and suits in the 1930's theme. Crepes and flat surface fabrics. Steel and chrome trimmings in buttons, buckles and belts. Wrap coats and dresses.

● As Thousands Cheer: Pure Movie Star clothes in dramatic colors and fabrics . . . pantsuits for day and night . . . evening costumes in the "Stars of the Silver Screen" tradition . . . gold and silver and jewelling . . . all dazzlers.

● Passage to India: The mysterious fashion influences of the East . . . Nehru pant-suits and costumes . . . sari fabrics . . . jewelled cloths . . . tateday and evening fashions worn with gauzey turbans.

● Blast: One-of-a-kind fashions for the uncommitted generation . . . wild ideas in color, fabric and shape . . . puffed sleeves . . . cutouts . . . wide shoulders . . . short, medium and long skirts . . . capes . . . knickers . . . suspender dresses . . . prints, plaids and patterns in combination. Wild.

● Future Couture: An all-white and silvery grey tableau of ultra-contemporary fashions . . . spare in shape and with a minimum of detailing . . . coats and suits and snowsuits, tunics and tights and a spiralling space-age evening dress.

Accessories matched the mood of each sequence. Small, tight, hair-covering turbans accessorized the severe 1930 theme fashions. Spanish gaucho hats and snoods emphasized the Paso Doble mood. Forage caps and kepis topped off the World War One clothes. Towering Cossack and Tartar fur domes added to the dimension of the Russian fashion sequence. Nehru hats and towering turbans were the East India accessory. Black and white velvet and satin schoolgirl rollers underline the age-of-innocence black dresses. Brimmed clothes and deer-stalkers complemented the tweeds of The Country Girl.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I was especially interested in your reply to the mother whose six-year-old insisted on dragging her faded, worn-out blanket everywhere. You said, "Leave her alone. She'll give it up when she's ready. I've never heard of a child taking a baby blanket on a honeymoon."

Well, Ann, stick around for a few more years and you might hear of it. Our son Johnny is 15. His baby blanket fell apart years ago (he dragged it around until there was nothing left.) Then developed a dandy substitute. Johnny twists the corners of his bedsheets into sharp little peaks and of course the sheets wear out in no time at all.

I am not complaining because apparently this twisting has filled an emotional need. Johnny has always been a wonderful son, a fine student, mechanically inclined and good in athletics. He is a thoughtful boy and never caused us any trouble. Perhaps letting him drag his blanket all those years and now twisting the sheets have given him the satisfaction other kids find in drag racing and breaking the law for "kicks."

If, when Johnny marries, he wants a baby blanket to take on his honeymoon, I'll buy him one. — WOULDN'T TRADE

Dear Wouldn't: Your insight and wisdom have paid off. I wish more parents had it. Too often children are nagged about trivial things which should be ignored — like dragging blankets around and twisting sheets.

Dear Ann Landers: I read with interest the letter from the legal secretary who refused to notarize papers unless she had seen the parties sign.

Good for her. I, too, am inflexible in this regard—so inflexible, in fact, that I've been referred to as "that screwball." But it paid off.

Recently we handled a deed. I notarized the signatures of all five heirs. A lawyer of questionable character stated that all five signatures had been affixed by one person. He even lined up a phony handwriting "expert" to support his charges. The fool was laughed at out of sight. Several witnesses said, "That screwball would never notarize a signature she didn't witness with her own eyes" — and that ended it. — UTICA, N.Y.

Dear U.: How refreshing to find someone who sticks to the rules even in the face of ridicule. There is so much compromising, bending and breaking these days, I doff my bonnet to you for setting a fine example.

Polio Increases In Warm Lands

GENEVA (AP) — The number of polio cases is rising in warm climates but has been drastically reduced elsewhere, the World Health Organization says. Systematic vaccination campaigns have brought sharp decreases in such countries as Canada and New Zealand. But in tropical and semi-tropical areas, a three-fold rise is reported.

Washing Out to Promote Peace Cause

A number of Victoria mothers, including members of Voice of Women, will take part in a vigil to be held from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m., Wednesday, on the corner of View and Douglas Streets, in support of Dr. Benjamin Spock and his "work for peace." Similar vigils are planned for other parts of Canada and in the United States for the famed baby doctor who will be sentenced Wednesday. Dr. Spock and three of his four co-defendants were convicted June 14 of conspiracy to counsel young men to avoid the U.S. military draft. Setting up the diaper clothesline which will be strung 10 feet above View Street, are from left, Mrs. Mavis De Girolamo, member of VOW; Mrs. El Jean Wilson; Mrs. Marilyn Goede, VOW member; and Mrs. Beth Christiansen.—(Robin Clarke)

Stylish Pearl Just No Snob

By EUGENIA SHEPPARD

NEW YORK — Pearl is no snob. If she were, she could put an engraved plate with the name of some celebrity on every table in her restaurant. For instance, "Jacqueline Kennedy had dinner here with Mike Nichols," or, "Henry Luce often lunched here."

Though Pearl's is the opposite side of the coin from the chic French restaurants, though the address is West Side and the food is Chinese, it is becoming an increasingly in place to eat these days.

Seated around the tables were Bendel president Gerry Stutz with her painter husband David Gibbs, Mrs. Joel Grey, Mrs. Gillis Hollerith, Bruce and Gillis McGill Addison, textile designers Tom Morrow and Arthur Hannett.

"Pearl is a marvelously stylish lady," says Donald Brooks, who has known her since he was 11 years old. When his family brought him into the restaurant where she was working then, they felt he was too young for Chinese food, so Pearl made him a peanut butter sandwich.

Donald has changed considerably in the following 27 years. He is one of the organizers and a stockholder in Pearl's restaurant. Pearl, though, hasn't changed a bit except that she now wears almost nothing but dresses by Donald Brooks.

At the start of her career, Pearl was briefly in show business. According to her, she "sang and danced, sort of." She came into her own when she and her husband, Jimmy Wong, became popular characters at the Canton Village, a Chinese restaurant in the vicinity of Time-Life and NBC. When the Canton Village was sold, the Pearl and Jimmy crisis reached epic proportions in both organizations.

Pushed by more bakers than they could possibly use, Pearl and Jimmy found their present quarters at 149 West 46th St. Pearl can't remember the names of the stockholders, or just doesn't like to gossip.

Pearl estimates that she knows at least 75 per cent of her customers by name. She takes a personal interest in what they eat, often putting together the same ingredients but in a different way, and naming the creation for the customer. Steamed eggs with oyster sauce is Eggs Leuterbee for Life's travel editor, Mary Leatherbee.

Customers, in turn, often contribute to Pearl's. Costume designer, Irene Sharaff, selected the lime and coral color scheme for the walls. Gray Fay did the Buddha in the window.

Pearl not only looks the same, but almost always acts the same. She is neither shy nor aggressive. She steers a middle course between being passive and high strung. Though she likes all the attention she and her restaurant have been getting lately, she is far from being swept off her feet.

Everybody who comes in gets the same mild treatment. There are no chic areas in the dining room and no tables where the unknowns are shoved. The night after his welcome-back party, Donald Brooks may return to Pearl's only to find himself eating her favorite pork with black bean and garlic sauce in the shadow of the kitchen door.

Queen Draws Glances

By TRUDY KEMP

It was beauty versus beauty Monday afternoon when the Chinese Narcissus Queen from Hawaii and her four princesses visited Butchart Gardens.

The attractive young Hawaiian visitors drew many admiring glances both at the Gardens and in the Empress Hotel Lobby while waiting to be escorted to their next official function, during their short stay here.

After a brief interview Monday evening with the tall, poised young woman it wasn't hard to understand why Cheryl Ann Lau, 23, had been chosen the Narcissus Queen.

Cheryl Ann whose Chinese name Mei Lin appropriately means "beautiful lotus," received the coveted title at the Narcissus Festival held in Honolulu in January to celebrate the Chinese New Year — the Year of the Monkey. She won it for her poise, beauty and her talent as a pianist.

Miss Lau is a graduate of Indiana University and Smith College at which she received her master of arts degree in musicology. She works for the Hawaiian Curriculum Centre, University of Hawaii, as a planner evaluator dealing specifically in fine arts.

"You could really say I am a teacher," she explained.

Part of her job includes teaching music theory to high school students and college freshmen at the University of Hawaii.

Cheryl Ann's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lau, still live in Hilo where she spent most of her childhood before going to "the mainland" to school. She now calls Honolulu home.

This "goodwill tour" to Victoria is actually her third trip here. She spent one week in the city the first time while enroute home from Indiana University and two weeks the second time when she was attending Smith College. Both times were in early September.

"This third trip is for such a short time," she commented.

"I enjoy visiting here and I do like the cooler weather . . . and the people, they are so friendly," she said.

Something that really struck her fancy was the sight of cherry trees.

"I just love cherries and I was so excited when I saw the orchards. True we have all kinds of exotic fruits in Hawaii but the only cherries I have ever had are those flown in or in the ones in bottles."

The Narcissus Queen who was accompanied by her princesses, Nathlene Tan, first princess; Yvonne Kan, second; Carol Lau, third, and Winnifred Sui, fourth princess, were guests of honor Monday evening at a reception given by the Chinese Community at the Chinese Association Hall. Also attending were Kenneth Lum, president of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce in Hawaii, and Miss Virginia Char Wong, tour director.

Other special guests at the reception were Miss Victoria, Pam Gillan, and First Princess Ellie Pronk, and Second Princess Vicki Vessey.

Peter Lou Poy, was chairman of the reception.

Miss Lau, her princesses, Mr. Lum, Mrs. Char Wong and other members of the party of 57 visitors from the island state leave this afternoon for Seattle on the third lap of their West Coast journey which started in Vancouver on Friday. They will go as far as Los Angeles, visiting all the major cities enroute, and then leave for the Orient in August.

Six Months Training Climaxed at Ceremony

Dr. A. C. Pickles, executive director of the hospital, greeted the students, their parents and guests. Rev. Angus Cameron of Lundavra presented the students with New Testaments, gifts of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Gideon Society.

Woman's Auxiliary to the hospital made it possible for the students to retain the miniature Florence Nightingale lamps used in the ceremony.

Miss Karen Elizabeth Ledger of Victoria received the award for preclinical achievement presented by Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Receiving their caps were the Misses Shirley Anderson, Joan Hall, Anne Hannah, Glenys Jones, Karen Ledger, Linda Lee, Janice Mainer, Surinder Mann, Marilyn Nuttall, Diane Phillips, Joyce Poole, Alice Renard, Barbara Robinson, Veronica Schwantje, Rayanne Squires, Roberta Taylor, Joanne Vickers, and Lucille Wunderlich, all of Victoria; Ann Cockburn, Saanichton; Jeanette Kirkendale and Janet Owen, Sidney; Lynn Cates, Cowichan Station; Lynne Cox, Campbell River; Lee Ann Howden, Nanaimo; Pamela Perkins, Port Alberni; Ellen Cairn, Catherine Doyle, New Westminster; Irene Dunsdon, Summerland; Sharon Fast, Golden; Sharon Hunter, Dawson Creek; June Kirk, Vancouver; Evelyn Lucke, Burnaby.

Nursing Chief Retires

Miss Elizabeth Riddell gave her last report on the activities of Victorian Order of Nurses at the recent meeting of the board of management.

Miss Riddell leaves the post of director of nursing services on her retirement at the end of July. She will be succeeded by Miss Lillian Randall who recently arrived here from Ottawa.

Miss Riddell pointed out in her report that the month of May was busy for the VON. Nursing care visits have increased 5 per cent since the beginning of the year, with many diabetic patients who had been taught to care for themselves getting older and needing more attention and help.

Total number of visits was 2211 and 178 patients were referred to the Order from hospitals for further care at home. Counselling service at the Silver Threads Centre also continues to fill a need.

Miss Anne Black, retired social worker from the Bay Pavilion, held two conferences with the nursing staff regarding the care of psychiatric patients and support for their families.

Other educational projects during the month included attendance of Mrs. Sylvia John at an institute at University of British Columbia dealing with "emotional aspects of patient care." Miss Betty Short also took part in a panel on "rehabilitation of the acute hospital patient", arranged by St. Joseph's Hospital.

San Francisco Marks Guns

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The city board of supervisors adopted 7 to 3 a law requiring registration of all firearms. The law, which gives the police chief discretion to determine what is a firearms weapon, makes failure to register a misdemeanor punishable by a $500 fine or a six-month jail term, or both. Registration will cost $2 a weapon and $15 for a gun collection.

Beauty Cleansing The Skin

Many of the world's most beautiful women attribute the clear, fine loveliness of their complexions to the toning qualities of a special lemon cleanser that floats away all beauty - robbing impurities without depriving the skin of its natural beauty. The complexion immediately reflects the rewarding benefits as the cleanser is smoothed over the skin. Dry, ageing lines are eased and the skin becomes clear and softly endowed with a radiant bloom. Jelvyn cleansing milk is the perfect cleanser for all skin types.

THE FABRIC DOCTOR HAS THE ANSWERS

Question:

—Mrs. G. A.

Dear Mrs. G. A.: Soil, perspiration and stains can cause permanent damage if they are left in a garment until fall. Soiled garments are particularly appetizing to moths and carpet beetles. Also Drycleaning will kill any larvae that may already be present. For these reasons it makes good sense to drycleon garments before storing and it costs less than you think to have your winter garments stored as well.

PEOPLE AND PROGRAMS: The U.S. Federal Communications Commission has taken an important step. It will deny TV or radio licences to any existing or proposed station shown, on complaint, to discriminate racially in hiring or programming. Station must also show they are committed to "racial understanding."

The CBC says 13,900,000 people watched or listened to its TV and radio election reports June 25. 80 per cent of all Canadians over five . . . Sad news—CBS and the Miss America pageant people are retiring that awful song There She Is, Miss America. There'll be a modified rock format and Bert Parks will still be around . . . A Peanuts movie called A Boy Named Charlie Brown is due in 1969. You read it here first.

BUREAU OF USELESS INFORMATION: Saturday's suggestive answer—Part two of middle names: Harry Lillis (Bing) Crosby, Leslie Townes (Bob) Hope, Spangler Arlington (Robert Taylor) Brugh, Eva Marie Saint, Johnny Mack Brown, Vera Hruba Ralston, Edward Everett Horton and, sorry, Elvis Aaron Presley.

Today's question—Moving right along, folks, to the last names of famous show biz teams. Identify Liz and Dick, George and Gracie, Bud and Lou. Easy? All right, then, give the first names of two comics named Goulding and Elliott and name their nasal reporter. Answers Wednesday.

Tuesday Highlights

C-5:00 p.m.—The all-star baseball game, first held at night, is in the Houston Astrodome. All CBC, KING and CHEK schedules are upside down this evening—2, 5, 6.

7:45—PCL baseball, Spokane at Tacoma—11.

C-8:30—International showtime's mob includes two good ones: dancer Rudolf Nureyev, comic Terry-Thomas—7, 12.

★ 8:30—NET festival combines two of the greatest: the Duke Ellington orchestra and Ella Fitzgerald—9.

9:30—Hit the Surf is a special about hitting the surf. Now there's a brilliant deduction—5.

C-10:00—An hour of the music of Ray Anthony, a flashy and only-fair trumpeter and bandleader—5.

C-10:00—Part two of the CBS series Of Black America deals with The Black Soldier—12.

C-10:30—The same Of Black America program—7.

Tuesday Movies

2:00 p.m.—The Trouble with Women (boring 1947 romantic comedy), Ray Milland, Teresa Wright—13.

3:00—Blondie (1938, the original mistake)—7.

4:00—I'm No Angel (1933 Mae West comedy). Ancient but, believe it or not, the best film of the day—13.

11:00—Tomorrow Is Forever (flat 1946 romance), Claudette Colbert, Orson Welles, Natalie Wood—12.

C-1:05 a.m.—Caesar the Conqueror (1961 Italian saga), Cameron Mitchell crosses the Rubicon—5.

Tuesday Radio

7:00 p.m.—Debut of a series on the concerts, works and recordings of Leonard Bernstein—CBU-FM (105.7).

8:00—Demirgian, a drama by John Sack about "the obscenity of war"—CBU (690).

★—Recommended; C—Color.

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREY

West said "Why didn't we save in six diamonds or six spades?" East said "Why didn't we defend better and beat the contract?" Dummy said "Why didn't you play the hand properly and cinch the slam against any defence?"

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1♣	1♠
3♣	3♠	6♣	All pass

Opening lead: Club three

Declarer had just brought home a contract of six clubs after a brief but competitive bidding sequence. He won the trump opening and took three spade ruffs on the table, using the ace and king of hearts for entry to his own hand. Then he led dummy's last heart, won by East's tenspot. Declarer ruffed the diamond return, ruffed his remaining heart on the table, and was home.

When the third round of hearts was played, West should of course have ruffed East's winner and taken the last trump off the table. South would then have been left with a heart to lose.

As the reader may have noted, South's strategy was not of the best. Instead of going for ruffs in dummy, he should have drawn three rounds of trumps and led a diamond, allowing West's ace to win. Two diamond tricks can then be established via a ruffing finesse against East's king. South makes the slam by way of five trumps, two diamonds, three winners in the major suits and two ruffs in dummy.

MT. TOLMIE AREA

Here is your tour of a gracious home of 1,900 sq. ft. of delightful living. You enter a generous entry hall — on this level are two good size bedrooms, ½ bath and utility room. Up a few steps you can turn into an entertainment sized living room (with fireplace) and dining room or turn into a truly family sized kitchen with lot of cupboards and breakfast nook. Upstairs, there is a 16' master bedroom with a closet wall and a French door leading to a private sundeck, two linen closets, a twin size bedroom and an elegant bath with 5 ft. vanity. Moving back to the kitchen, you step into a family size rumpus room (over 300 sq. ft.) and through sliding glass doors to the bar-b-cue area. The yard is secluded, well treed, a perfect spot to relax and watch the quail and pheasants. Although built in 1961, this is not the usual N.H.A. bungalow. For a personal tour of this fine home, phone owner at 385-4967. You will agree that the price of $28,900 is most reasonable.

Nanaimo Taxes

Planning Idea Starts Clash

NANAIMO — The need for more industry in Nanaimo was stressed Monday by Mayor Frank Ney during a meeting between city council and the advisory planning commission.

"We must garner as much new industry to our city as we can," he said. "The money has to come from somewhere to run this city.

"Either we have to bring in more industry, or the taxes must be raised."

CITY NEED

Mayor Ney, discussing the change in tax flow in the last 20 years, said that in 1948 the city collected $237,000, but in 1967, it collected $2,247,000.

According to estimates, to which Mayor Ney referred, the city needs seven to nine million dollars worth of new construction a year in order to keep taxes as they are.

In the past few years only $3,000,000 worth of new construction took place in Nanaimo.

'HUGE LIST'

One answer advocated by Mayor Ney was "to get rid of the huge list of non-conforming parcels of property which are now prevalent in Nanaimo."

He presented the list to the commission during the meeting.

"We have to re-examine our policy", he said. "We are trying to upgrade the city and yet corner stores cannot remodel under our present laws.

"We can't just load taxes on the people", he said.

Commission chairman Dick Weismiller said: "We should spend more dollars on planning with professional help. This would give a good return in five to 10 years."

"Do you call this good planning?" asked Mayor Ney.

Mr. Weismiller said: "Planners should be available on a continued basis."

'WHAT'S THE FUTURE'

Mayor Ney asked: "What should the future of our city be?

"The real problem is that of the idealist against the realist," he said, referring to long-range planning as against immediate revenue. "We must have a compromise."

Commission member, Mr. Gino Sedola, said "We must prevent the establishment of hot dog stands or garages in prime residential areas otherwise we'll end up with a penny arcade for commercialism."

Ald. Ted. Jenkinson thought the problem of rezoning would involve people with individual rights. Many areas in Nanaimo are already rezoned and people are not taking advantage of it. That would open up the city to real estate companies."

Mayor Nay said the real estate men "in this community have done a lot for the development of Nanaimo."

Mr. Sedola emphasized the danger "that by acting in haste, we could make major mistakes."

TOO SHORT

Ald. Gertrude Hall agreed that the city needs the continuing help of professional people. "Before we discuss over-all policy, we need professional planning — progress in proper prospective."

Mr. Weismiller said "If you permit corner stores to become commercially zoned, you run into specific problems."

Mayor Ney said: "Life's too short to think small. Let's talk about what we can do and not be afraid of thinking in a daring manner."

Fritz Schulz, of the commission, said: we are just starting this year to do what should have been done 10 years ago. There is a dispute between selfish interests and interests of the majority on the other hand.

"This is a wrong time to make drastic moves."

Mr. Schulz, a longtime exponent of amalgamation with neighboring areas, said the city is getting too small for individual planning.

Ald. Sandy MacKay said: "There are a number of businesses making money downtown while operating outside the city."

Frank Hodgson, of the commission, said: "The city of Nanaimo is 100 years old, and we have had 100 years of trial and error. It doesn't take an expert to walk around and see the errors. The logical way to improve the city might be to consider raising the taxes for decrepit areas and lowering taxes where areas are being improved, he said.

"Many installations in the city still stand that should have been destroyed long ago.

He wondered what action the commission could take over the list of non-conforming parcels of property.

The meeting adjourned with Mr. Hodgson's suggestions that there should be future meetings between the city council and the commission to improve communication.

New Approach Over Grant Aid

By NANCY BROWN

Southern Vancouver Island Tribal Federation will make a new approach to recently-appointed Indian Affairs Minister Jean Chretien, asking for maintainance of the old system of grants according to need.

Tsartslip Chief Philp Paul said Monday the striking administrators disagree with a new system of per capita grants with administration in local hands.

Under the new system local bands will also be responsible for assesment and payment of welfare needs.

"This is a highly specialized field, and we're not being given the staff to deal with it," he said.

"We've made several attempts to sit down and discuss this with Indian affairs officials, but we've been rebuffed.

"We met a blank wall when we talked to then-Indian Affairs Minister Arthur Laing, but perhaps we'll make some progress with the new minister," he said.

However, he believes they would return to work if the government agrees to maintain the old system until the new one has been fully discussed with Indian leaders.

Bid Accepted For Highway

PORT ALBERNI — A contract has been let to Mid-Valley Construction for hard-surfacing 32.3 miles of the highway to Tofino and Long Beach.

MLA Dr. Howard MacDiarmid has announced that work will start immediately, and will extend from Mile 4, this side of Ucluelet, to Mile 36.3, about halfway along the mountainous road.

Since there will be insufficient time to complete the entrie 32-mile stretch this season, Dr. MacDiarmid said he anticipated about half would be completed this year, and the balance next year.

The contract is for $986,543,000, and a start will be made on the Port Alberni end because the hot-mix for the surface is to brought in from the city.

It is more economical, Dr. MacDiarmid pointed out, to transport materials over the completed road, with crews surfacing as they go.

However the project doesn't mean there will be an immediate all-weather road into the Long Beach area.

The switchbacks and about 30 miles of road on the Port Alberni end of the route remain under reconstruction.

Work crews will be starting at about the middle of the drive. The link to the already paved area, starting four miles outside Ucluelet and running through to Tofino, will not be completed until next year.

Smiles Light Up Colorful Show

By BERT BINNY

There were two invitational performances on Saturday but the doors of the Langham Court Theatre were thrown open to the public in general yesterday and the show now continues nightly through August 24th.

TOWER OF STRENGTH

Much of the show is excellent — musical, colorful and highly entertaining. A lesser part is not so attractive: the items tend to drag. But it is hard to recollect an edition of the Smile Show which has been so well staged and lit.

A vastly important question is what would happen to the program without Sylvia Hosie. This young lady is a tower of strength. She dances, she sings, she acts, she is an adept comedienne. Her versatility is quite astonishing.

Bill Hosie was at his best with his Scottish interlude his ditty regarding Geordie's byre is inimitable.

The most noteworthy production numbers seem to be Christmas Is Coming, Bumming Around, Mrs. 'Arris Goes to Paris and, of course, The Pearlies.

Clare Wynters, who was billed as The Lancashire Songstress but had little opportunity to give any evidence of a Lancashire origin, was a little disappointing. Maybe the numbers she sang were not quite her cup of tea.

SKILL AND FIRE

Impresario, producer and star Jerry Gosley still has much of the skill and fire that has been responsible for popularizing the Smile Show over a very, very wide area. His expeditions into the realm of nostalgia are not as successful as his comedy routines.

Pianist Peter Williams who also arranges the music and drummer Mark Metcalfe worked the whole show untiringly and with great success.

By all means take in the Smile Show: it has a lot of genuine entertainment to offer.

No More Budget Trims

OTTAWA (CP) — Inflation struck Parliament Hill Monday.

Price of a haircut in the Commons barber shop nearly tripled—to $1 from 35 cents.

English Rites Wednesday

Veteran Here Since 1912

Funeral services for longtime Victoria resident Thomas Henry English, will be at 3:15 p.m. Wednesday in McCall Bros. Funeral home.

Mr. English died Monday in the Veterans Hospital at 77.

He came to Victoria from England in 1912 and was employed with the B.C. Electric transportation service for 45 years. He retired as transportation supervisor in 1956.

During the First World War he served with the Canadian Cyclists, 4th Division.

He is survived by his wife Olive; three daughters, Mrs. C. P. (Olive) Moran, Mrs. G. W. (Joyce) Weston, and Mrs. Doreen Little, all of Victoria; eight grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; three brothers, Charles in England, Robert in Vancouver, and Richard in Victoria. He was predeceased by his son Thomas Henry in 1965.

Vandals, Drinkers Shut Youth Centre

Vandals and drinkers have caused the closing of the month-old Broad Street Youth Centre.

Announcement of the closing was made in a Victoria Youth Project newsletter, which said the centre was closed "because it is impossible to find people capable and responsible enough to ensure its proper operation."

The centre has been drawing more than 200 teenagers on weekend nights to facilities which are sufficient for only 120.

"A few cretins are ruining it for others," said the letter, pointing out that the chief worries were vandalism and the few youngsters who had been caught sneaking in liquor.

Meanwhile, other centres such as the Thomas More centre and the James Bay Dialogue Centre continue to attract young people.

Suite Burned

About $1,100 damage was done by fire to the apartment home of Mrs. I. Percy at 1144 Oscar early Sunday morning. Damage was confined to the living room of the suite.

Sewage Interests Esquimalt Council

Members of Esquimalt council are interested in learning about sewage treatment, they said Monday night.

The mayor and six aldermen said they would attend a seminar if one is arranged by Dow Chemical of Canada in Victoria.

A letter, to council offering one-day seminars said that pollution abatement is becoming more critical to both industrial and domestic development.

The economics of various treatment processes would be explained as well as the effects of integrating industrial wastes and domestic sewage systems.

Ald. Roy Elphick said the seminar offer is timely in view of current controversy, as it will undoubtedly show that present proposals for sea disposal of Victoria sewage are still the best.

Ald. Edward de Costa asked the engineer for a professional opinion "on this Dow Company."

"Perhaps our engineer should investigate the standing of Dow Chemical, before we proceed," he said.

He was assured that a professional opinion would not be necessary.

The seminar proposal was referred to intermunicipal committee.

A complaint of boat building on Kinver Street was referred to committee.

D. H. Nelson, 1121 Munro Street, said a 40-foot boat is being built on private premises —the second boat of this size. The project, he felt, would make the area a commercial or industrial area.

Second Dam For Peace?

● All B.C. parity bonds will carry bonus coupons. Page 8.

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia Hydro and Power Authority is studying a second Peace River dam to provide more hydro-electric power for Vancouver, Dr. Gordon Shrum, co-chairman of the Crown corporation, said Monday.

He spoke of the possibility of a second Peace dam, about 10 miles below the current one, at an investment dealers' breakfast where a $50,000,000 Hydro bond issue was announced.

Dr. Shrum said that because of growing demands for power in central B.C., Vancouver will be lucky if any Peace power—due to be turned on in September—ever reaches the city.

Dr. Shrum said some "exploratory work" has been done on the possibility of a 100-foot high Peace dam. Another possible power source is an additional generating plant on Vancouver Island to feed power back here, he said.

B.C. Leaping On Trudeau Bandwagon

By IAN STREET

NORTH VANCOUVER—Social Credit jumped on to the Trudeau bandwagon at a provincial byelection rally here Monday night where Premier Bennett produced evidence of "the new spirit of co-operation between B.C. and Ottawa."

The premier said B.C. would put up an extra $23,000,000 boosting the provincial contribution of $27,000,000 to half the estimated $1,000,000 cost of a new third tunnel crossing of Burrard inlet.

He made a p provision that the federal matching contribution, like the one he promised from the provincial government, must be an outright grant, and stipulated the crossing also had to be toll-free.

IN THREATE

He told a crowd of between 400-500 in the sweltering North Vancouver Centennial Theatre: "If Ottawa makes this a toll-free tunnel, we'll stand not only half the capital cost but all of the maintenance costs, forever."

Mr. Bennett spoke beneath a banner stretched across the stage which carried portraits of Prime Minister Trudeau with a bridge between them bearing the word "co-operation."

FORMER CHIEF

He promised the provincial government would co-operate with former provincial Liberal leader Ray Perrault, now MP for Burnaby-Seymour, in his efforts to bring the problems of the North Shore to the attention of the federal government.

And the premier urged voters to elect Socred candidate Peter Robinson in the North Vancouver-Capilano provincial byelection next Monday. This would give the riding representatives in strong governments

Holidays Hang-Up

By DON MURPHY

British Columbia seemed closer to a paralyzing shutdown in its forests Monday despite general agreement on wages affecting up to 28,000 workers.

The whole labor dispute took a somewhat zany turn as International Woodworkers of America officials:

● Paraded around a downtown Vancouver building demanding that the chief negotiator for 114 forest companies surface from the depths of his office get back to the bargaining table.

The demonstration and harsh words didn't succeed in bringing out Mr. Billings, but he did issue a statement in which he said the industry's offer was final and that bargaining was at an end.

"Our committee is prepared to meet with your committee at a mutually agreeable time and place to sign a memorandum of agreement based on the industry offer," Mr. Billings said in a telegram to Jack Moore of Vancouver, regional IWA president.

Union officials said they were the only ones willing to meet since negotiators had failed to turn up at a Vancouver hotel at 10 a.m. Monday.

However, the union's purpose for the meeting wasn't to sign the proposed memorandum of agreement referred to by Mr. Billings. The IWA negotiators said important fringe articles including vacations hadn't been dealt with. They want further bargaining sessions.

"We'll be back at that hotel ready to bargain at 10 in the morning (today)!" Murray Drew, president of the 1,800-member Victoria local, said Monday night.

The union had issued a statement earlier saying that "once the industry made the offer of a wage increase of 18 cents an hour effective June 15, 1968, and 18 cents an hour June 15, 1969, wages were no longer an issue."

Mr. Moore said it was unfortunate, however, that

On Eighth Day

Aussie Gunman Quits in Silence

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) — Gunman Wallace (Wally) Mellish surrendered today, ending an eight-day police siege and the ordeal of the teen-age girl he forced at gunpoint to marry him.

Mellish emerged from the siege house with his wife Beryl, 19 and her 13-week old son Leslie. They came out with a minister and a police official who talked Mellish into surrender.

Mellish left behind the automatic shotgun, automatic rifle, pistols and hand grenades he had used to keep police at bay and to force them to arrange the wedding, provide refreshments and, later, more arms and ammunition.

Police had held their fire, fearing Mellish would carry out his repeated vows to kill the baby, Beryl and himself as well as "a few coppers."

Mellish, 23, a former mental patient, talked twice by telephone with Rev. Clive Paton Monday and promised both times he would walk out unarmed in surrender within 30 minutes. However, he remained in the house both times.

During Paton's first talk with Mellish by telephone, the gunman told the minister he would surrender himself 30 minutes later. However, two hours after

Empties Gun, Gives Birth to Boy

Mother in Labor But Intern in Pain

TORONTO (CP) — A hospital intern was in satisfactory condition in St. Michael's Hospital Monday night 12 hours after a woman who refused to believe she was pregnant shot him four times.

Dr. Anthony Tripodi, 24, of Hamilton, was hit in the arm, abdomen, ear and back as the woman, who gave birth to a seven-pound boy four hours later, emptied a .32-calibre revolver at him.

Tripodi was rushed into emergency surgery. Deputy Chief Bernard Simonds said later a warrant for attempted murder will be issued in the case.

Dr. John Schonbham ran in to find the woman still trying to fire the empty gun. He overpowered her as she reached into her purse for more bullets.

The woman was admitted shortly after midnight, complaining of abdominal pains. She refused to believe she was pregnant when told she was being moved to the maternity ward. She blamed Tripodi for her pains.

She had kept her purse with her under a blanket, after being admitted, police said. The intern was giving her a sedative about 4 a.m. when she threw back the blanket and started firing.

Tripodi is serving a year's junior internship at the hospital after graduating from University of Toronto medical school.

Work, Not Miracle Keeps Heart Going

From Reuters-AP

CAPE TOWN — South African dentist Philip Blaiberg, the world's longest surviving heart-transplant patient, is responding well to treatment for a serious lung infection, his wife said Monday.

"It's a miracle — he is much better," Eileen Blaiberg said after a visit to her husband.

Prof. Christiaan Barnard, the surgeon who gave Blaiberg his new heart Jan. 2, was a little more down to earth.

"It's hard work," he said. "You cannot really say it is a miracle but he is much better."

Blaiberg still was not out of danger, but appeared to have responded well to intensive treatment of anti-lymphocyte serum to counter tissue-rejection symptoms.

Minister Goes Overboard If Cabinet Springs Leak

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA (Special) — Prime Minister Trudeau has said it again — his cabinet ministers will have to shape up, or else.

And as a starter, he said in outlining cabinet ground rules, shaping up includes shutting up.

He spent a good part of the initial meeting of this new 29-men cabinet Monday outlining the code of ministerial conduct he is imposing.

Rule No. 1 — At lease this was the first ministerial law he mentioned — is to be preservation of cabinet solidarity and secrecy. "I told them I would be very sticky about it," he said, emerging from his East Block offices into a waiting crowd of newsmen and tourists.

"One mistake, if not too serious might be tolerated, but not two."

With the second error would come dismissal.

"So do your damndest," he invited the press corps.

Such one-two sackings would be the prescribed "punishment," as he put it, for talking out of cabinet turn.

After spending "a good deal of time" in spelling out the tough new rules, the prime minister said he was "very confident" that his ministers would be "very careful."

He had given them an example of what-not-to-do — presumably of something "leaked" from cabinet — and made plain that the instant penalty of a second offence would be.

Only half kidding, he "hoped" none of the assembled newsmen would be "responsible" for prying secrets out of any cabinet minister and having that unfortunate fellow "fired and sent to jail."

Saturday, at the swearing-in

Many Help But Top Trip Out of Reach

A healthy boost from such influential sources as Premier Bennett and Canadian Pacific Airlines doesn't appear enough so far to lift Oak Bay's national quiz champions over the international barrier.

By late Monday night the champion 12 high school students it had picked earlier from eastern Canada to compete against England, Scotland and Ireland in a pilot project world quiz contest.

Network spokesmen in Vancouver, Toronto and Ottawa said in various statements there had been a "misunderstanding," that offers of the B.C. government and airline to send the Oak Bay winners were "very kind," but that a switch in plans now appeared impossible.

A storm of protest has been mounting here since it was made known 12 students from Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa were chosen some time ago to represent Canada in the upcoming Trans-World Top Team quiz competition in Britain and Canada.

The 12 were chosen some time before four boys from Oak Bay senior high school won the national Reach for The Top quick-recall television contest in Vancouver Saturday.

Winning team Dempsey, Izard, Odgers, McDougall

The world-competition is sponsored by the CBC and BBC, but CBC officials say it has no connection with Reach for the Top.

By Monday, Premier Bennet who admits he is an avid fan of Reach for the Top, was terming the exclusion of the Oak Bay team "ridiculous."

Since return contests between teams from Britain have been set for the east, the CBC has said it would be economically unsound to include a team from Oak Bay at this stage.

But Premier Bennett threw the ball back to the network by saying the B.C. government would be only too happy to pay the plane fare of the Oak Bay team from Victoria to Toronto and back.

The winning team consists of Bruce Izard, Robert McDougall, Chris Odgers and Jim Dempsey. All have been enjoying a tour of Edmonton as one of their rewards for winning.

Several hours after Premier Bennett had made his offer, CPA offered guest transportation to Toronto and back for the four boys.

The airline said it was doing this since it appeared the boys were being deprived of a

Holidays Hang Up Forest Talks

Mr. Billings was placing "petty obstacles in the way of reaching an agreement which already includes the major items in dispute."

He said later there "will be trouble" if Mr. Billings didn't return to the bargaining table, but he expressed confidence that he would come back "even to tell us no."

Talks that had extended daily over five weeks broke off early Sunday and the name-calling has been going on since.

Sporadic wildcat strikes on Vancouver Island have further complicated the picture.

No sooner had pickets departed and work resumed at Honeymoon Bay than several hundred other men stayed off the job at Tahsis Co. sawmill and the Somass division of MacMillan Bloedel.

Somass voted to go back at midnight Monday, and to be guided by the negotiating committee. Workers tried to set up picket lines at Alberni Pacific division of MacMillan Bloedel but IWA officials told them it was illegal and that they were free to go to work, so they did.

Impatience with the length of negotiations and failure to make headway on increased vacations have been given as reasons.

"I'm quite proud of our members," said Mr. Drew of his strike-free Victoria local.

"However, if the attitude of the industry does not change, it's anybody's guess as to what will happen," he warned.

He said members of the IWA negotiating committee "just can't understand his (Billings') stupid, irresponsible position."

He said Mr. Billings refused to discuss non-wage points the union considered important.

Mr. Drew said: "We are wondering if he isn't taking his orders from somebody else — maybe from J. V. Clyne."

(Mr. Clyne is chairman of the board of MacMillan Bloedel, largest of the forest companies.)

The union had decided earlier to strike only MacMillan Bloedel, but a legal strike was never authorized because of continuing talks. The companies had also served industry-wide lockout notice, but had not acted on it.

Where vacations are concerned, the companies have offered five weeks after 25 years, four weeks after 15 years, three weeks after four years and two weeks after one year. The IWA wants four weeks after 12 years and five weeks after 20 years, plus a 10th statutory holiday.

Among items not settled that are considered important by Mr. Drew are sub-contracting of work, a daily guarantee of earnings in the shingle industry and some rate revisions in logging operations and sawmills.

As telegrams flew back and forth Monday in the absence of meetings, Mr. Moore told Mr. Billings: "Sulking in your office will in no way enhance the reputation of your industry."

Said Mr. Billings in his telegram: "Name-calling and theatricals will not solve our problem."

both in Victoria and Ottawa, he said.

"Give a mandate to Peter Robinson on July 15 and you will have a new free tunnel crossing," the premier said.

All the outward trappings of a Trudeau style campaign were apparent at Monday night's Socred rally. There were bagpipes and bands and a motorcade, miniskirted cheerleaders, and a contingent of song-bearing youngsters who call themselves Youth for Robinson. But genuine excitement was missing.

CANDY CAPERS

In the motorcade a couple of cars behind the open convertible in which the premier was riding, a group of cheerleaders tossed candy to startled citizens on street corners. The girls carried signs saying candy was "sweeter than kisses."

At the rally there was a fair sprinkling of hecklers in the audience who gave the candidate a fairly rough ride and kept up a noisy barrage throught the premier's 30-minute address.

LATEST OFFER

The hecklers greeted the premier's latest bridge offer with undisguised skepticism. One man shouted the Socreds had promised North Shore voters a new crossing three times in the last five years, always at election time.

Mr. Bennett retorted that when the Pearson administration last year offered to build a new bridge tunnel crossing at an estimated cost of $100,000,000 but with tolls on it as a means of paying back what amounted to a federal loan, the provincial government had promised an outright grant of $27,000,000.

LAST SESSION

The premier was adamant there should be no tolls on the new crossing. He said: "We don't want to separate people by tolls, we want to unite them by free crossings."

Mr. Robinson, the 39-year-old Socred who is opposed by a Liberal, a Conservative, a New Democrat and a Communist, said his background in engineering would prove useful in solving problems of traffic and pollution control.

"What about birth control?" shouted a heckler. Mr. Robinson conceded this too was a major problem and someone else in the audience shouted out: "Are you The Pill?"

The candidate said that citizens on the North Shore who had three Liberal MLAs prior to the resignation of Mr. Perrault last spring are "second-class citizens." He added: "It is our right to have a voice in the administration of our own affairs."

Among other speakers at the rally were Attorney-General Leslie Peterson ("Elect one government member out of your three North Shore MLAs, is that too much to ask?"); minister without portfolio, Mrs. Grace McCarthy, who accused the opposition of resorting to petty politics and name calling, and Vancouver Centre MLA Herb Capozzi, who claimed the people of Canada want strong leaders as was shown in the last federal election and now should support "the good and great leader we have provincially."

at Rideau Hall, they had all sworn the oath of secrecy in their pledge of allegiance.

And that, as far as he was concerned, was that.

And during most of former prime minister Lester Pearson's troubled parliamentary days, the opposition frequently made a issue of the sieve-like qualities of cabinet and the unsolidarity of its composition.

It was a weapon of ridicule that former Conservative leader John Diefenbaker often used against Pearson.

The last break in cabinet solidarity came in the dying days of the Pearson regime, when prior to the Liberal leadership convention former trade minister Robert Winters publicly belabored the government in general and ex-finance minister Mitchell Sharp in particular for what he charged was "lack of fiscal integrity."

This charge of economic irresponsibility became a sore point within the government itself with Winters resigning rather than continuing to be associated with it.

The controversy ran as an undercurrent in the leadership convention, but it was only one of many troubled situations into which cabinet "leakage" and conflict plunged the government.

chance to compete internationally.

"It appears the CBC powers that be and those in the BBC, for reasons best known to themselves, want to send a team from somewhere in eastern Canada to the international competition.

"They are using the lame excuse that it costs more to send a team from Victoria.

"The difference in travel costs would amount to $200 per team member at the outside—so this excuse is just plain stupid."

He said the offer was made on the basis of "Canadian unity and fair play."

The move could be important for the premier for one other reason: he is hoping to win the provincial seat in Oak Bay away from the Liberals in the July 15 byelection.

But his party isn't the only one in the act and it appeared by Monday night that if a door is to be opened to the Oak Bay team, it would have to be opened in Ottawa.

David Groos, Liberal MP for Victoria, sent a telegram of protest Monday morning to Secretary of State Gerard Pelletier. The same was done the day before by Donald Brothers, B.C. minister of education.

And 10 days ago, Attorney-General Leslie Peterson wrote to the show's producer, Sandy Stewart, in Toronto.

As far as could be learned Monday night, there have been no replies. In Ottawa, J. P. Gilmore, CBC vice-president of planning and assistant chief operations officer, said:

"This (the international contest) has nothing to do with the winner of the program contest in Canada.

"Because of the need to make travel arrangements on both sides ahead of time, we could not wait until the contest was over."

He said the three Canadian teams chosen at random just happened to be from eastern Canada.

Earlier, Sandy Stewart said it was much more economically sound to have the British teams return only to eastern Canada. He said it was simply a pilot project and he hoped all major Canadian cities would be included in such competitions in the future.

Since there is no connection with the two competitions, Oak Bay senior high school principal Jack Wallace said he would make no further protest.

"We were quite happy just to have won," he said.

At its regular meeting Monday night, Oak Bay Council set up a merit committee with Ald. Ian Horne as chairman and decided the first item of business would be to decide what could be done to help the local team enter the international contest.

Mayor Fred Hawes and others decided to forward congratulations to the boys in the meantime.

The secretary of state was centred out for communications from Mr. Groos and Mr. Brothers because one of the jobs of his department is to report to Parliament for the CBC.

In his telegram, Mr. Brothers asked Mr. Pelletier to consider the Oak Bay team for the overseas trip because of its national triumph.

In Vancouver, B.C. regional director of the CBC, Robert McCall, said of Premier Bennett's transportation offer: "That's a very kind offer."

But, he added, "the people who are going were booked some time ago."

that Mellish still had not come out.

Paton telephoned Mellish again and the gunman said he was "still thinking it over." But he promised a second time to surrender in a half an hour. Mellish again did not appear.

Mellish began his siege last Monday when he captured Beryl and her baby and threatened to shoot them if police tried to storm the house.

A short time later, he called a truce and two policemen entered the house to act as witnesses to his wedding to Beryl.

Mellish and the police shook hands, then took up their opposing positions. Police have since supplied Mellish with a gun and ammunition, a manoeuvre that brought criticism from several citizens.

On Sunday, Beryl expressed fear for her life and told a newspaper by telephone interview, "I didn't know he was like this when I married him."

Byelection Byline

POLLUTION CONTROL

The government has suddenly become interested in pollution control since 3 Provincial Byelections have been called for July 15th. One wonders why this interest was not apparent when the Government was allowing mines and mills to discharge polluted waste into our lakes and rivers. Be that as it may, I agree that action is long overdue.

When I was Reeve of Oak Bay and a Director of the Regional District for the Capital City Region, the Government put out a proposal that Regional Districts assume control of air, water and land pollution. The Regional District Directors' attitude was, fine . . . we will inforce regulations if the Government will pass standard province-wide ones.

It is pointless to leave the standard of pollution control to local areas. The Government must accept its responsibility to bring in tough and uniform controls throughout B.C., even if they will be unpopular with some of the industries which support the Social Credit Party. If the Government will do this, I am sure that local officials will provide the necessary enforcement.

This is the position I will fight for if you elect me as your Legislative representative for the Oak Bay riding on July 15th.

Remember: The Advance Poll is Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 11, 12 and 13, from 1 p.m. 'til 9 p.m. at the Oak Bay Municipal Hall. For information and transportation please call 388-3419.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved . . . actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Tied Tubes Can Be Fixed

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: I had my tubes tied several years ago because I was having a baby every 10 to 14 months.

My husband died three years ago. I am now married to a very special guy who loves me very dearly and I would give anything to have a child by this marriage.

I know there are operations for nearly everything else. Can anything be done for me? — H.V.

Possibly. Such operations to restore the Fallopian tubes have been developed. Unfortunately, there is no way to guarantee success. Sometimes it works; sometimes it doesn't.

It is because of such changes of mind — and because the restoration surgery may not succeed — that I take a dim view of tying off the Fallopian tubes as a means of contraception. There are other, less permanent, ways to prevent pregnancy.

Dear Dr. Molner: Does drinking affect anyone with emphysema and a little arthritis of the spine? My husband has four drinks a day, mostly consisting of gin, and is recovering from a slipped disk and has emphysema. — Mrs. S.G.

There is no direct effect of alcohol on either type of ailment, with this exception: if the drinking is accompanied by smoking, which is often the case, the smoking is vitally harmful for anyone with emphysema.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please tell me how cranberry juice helps the kidneys. — Mrs. B.L.C.

It helps only in certain circumstances. Most fruit juices leave what is known as an alkaline ash — alkaline residue after digestion. The urine tends to become alkaline.

Cranberry juice, among a few others, leaves an acid ash, so urine becomes more acid. In some kidney and bladder problems, it is highly desirable to increase the acidity, hence the value of cranberry juice in those cases.

Note to Mrs. J. A. U.: The sexual practice you mention is doubtless more common than your realize. However, since it is disagreeable to you (and it is certainly a deviation) there is no reason why you should be forced to accept it.

It is difficult in a newspaper column to go into details on questions like yours — and there are more such questions than you can imagine. Under the circumstances, all I can do is to repeat what experts say. Many odd sexual practices are harmless from a health standpoint if the partners agree. But when they are unacceptable to one person or the other, they are wrong.

Nanaimo Taxes

Planning Idea Starts Clash

NANAIMO — The need for more industry in Nanaimo was stressed Monday by Mayor Frank Ney during a meeting between city council and the advisory planning commission.

"We must garner as much new industry to our city as we can," he said. "The money has to come from somewhere to run this city.

"Either we have to bring in more industry, or the taxes must be raised."

CITY NEED

Mayor Ney, discussing the change in tax flow in the last 20 years, said that in 1948 the city collected $237,000, but in 1967, it collected $2,247,000.

According to estimates, to which Mayor Ney referred, the city needs seven to nine million dollars worth of new construction a year in order to keep taxes as they are.

In the past few years only $3,000,000 worth of new construction took place in Nanaimo.

'HUGE LIST'

One answer advocated by Mayor Ney was "to get rid of the huge list of non-conforming parcels of property which are now prevalent in Nanaimo."

He presented the list to the commission during the meeting.

"We have to re-examine our policy", he said. "We are trying to upgrade the city and yet corner stores cannot remodel under our present laws.

"We can't just load taxes on the people", he said.

Commission chairman Dick Weismiller said: "We should spend more dollars on planning with professional help. This would give a good return in five to 10 years."

"Do you call this good planning?" asked Mayor Ney.

Mr. Weismiller said: "Planners should be available on a continued basis."

'WHAT'S THE FUTURE'

Mayor Ney asked: "What should the future of our city be?

"The real problem is that of the idealist against the realist," he said, referring to long-range planning as against immediate revenue. "We must have a compromise."

Commission member, Gino Sedola, said "We must prevent the establishment of hot dog stands or garages in prime residential areas otherwise we'll end up with a penny arcade for commercialism."

Ald. Ted. Jenkinson thought the problem of rezoning would involve people with individual rights. Many areas in Nanaimo are already rezoned and people are not taking advantage of it. That would open up the city to real estate companies."

Mayor Ney said the real estate men "in this community have done a lot for the development of Nanaimo."

Mr. Sedola emphasized the danger "that by acting in haste, we could make major mistakes."

TOO SHORT

Ald. Gertrude Hall agreed that the city needs the continuing help of professional people. "Before we discuss over-all policy, we need professional planning — progress in proper prospective."

Mr. Weismiller said "If you permit corner stores to become commercially zoned, you run into specific problems."

Mayor Ney said: "Life's too short to think small. Let's talk about what we can do and not be afraid of thinking in a daring manner."

Fritz Schulz, of the commission, said: we are just starting this year to do what should have been done 10 years ago. There is a dispute between selfish interests and interests of the majority on the other hand.

"This is a wrong time to make drastic moves."

Mr. Schulz, a longtime exponent of amalgamation with neighboring areas, said the city is getting too small for individual planning.

Ald. Sandy MacKay said: "There are a number of businesses making money downtown while operating outside the city."

Frank Hodgson, of the commission, said: "The city of Nanaimo is 100 years old, and we have had 100 years of trial and error. It doesn't take an expert to walk around and see the errors. The logical way to improve the city might be to consider raising the taxes for decrepit areas and lowering taxes where areas are being improved, he said.

"Many installations in the city still stand that should have been destroyed long ago.

He wondered what action the commission could take over the list of non-conforming parcels of property.

The meeting adjourned with Mr. Hodgson's suggestions that there should be future meetings between the city council and the commission to improve communication.

Surface Project

Bid Accepted For Highway

PORT ALBERNI — A contract has been let to Mid-Valley Construction for hard-surfacing 32.3 miles of the highway to Tofino and Long Beach.

MLA Dr. Howard MacDiarmid has announced that work will start immediately, and will extend from Mile 4, this side of Ucluelet, to Mile 36.3, about halfway along the mountainous road.

Since there will be insufficient time to complete the entrie 32-mile stretch this season, Dr. MacDiarmid said he anticipated about half would be completed this year, and the balance next year.

The contract is for $365,543,000, and a start will be made on the Port Alberni end because the hot-mix for the surface is to brought in from the city.

However the project doesn't mean there will be an immediate all-weather road into the Long Beach area.

The switchbacks and about 30 miles of road on the Port Alberni end of the route remain under reconstruction.

Work crews will be starting at about the middle of the drive. The link to the already paved area, starting four miles outside Ucluelet and running through to Tofino, will not be completed until next year.

Nevertheless, Dr. MacDiarmid said, it is a big step forward toward completion of a road that will permit the opening up of the area, making travel both ways easier, both for the tourists, and residents coming out to shop.

5,000 Times

NANAIMO—I must not be in possession of or consume spirituous liquors until I am 21 years old.

Nanaimo youths George Thomas Simmons, 19, and Ernest Brian McGregor, 19, were ordered Monday to write this out 5,000 times each after they pleaded guilty to possession of beer on a downtown Nanaimo street.

Man Jailed Over Shooting

NANAIMO—John Edward Bilton, 30, of Cedar, was sentenced Monday to 30 months in jail for possessing an offensive weapon, and assault causing bodily harm.

Bilton was given 18 months for possessing a hunting rifle which was used in an incident at the home of Thom Pridge of Extension early May 19.

Several shots were fired through the home in which several people were sleeping at the time, court was told.

Passing the sentence, Magistrate A. M. Guinet said a great number of people could have been killed or maimed in the shooting incident.

Special Projects Sought For Duncan

DUNCAN—Mayor Jim Quaife Monday night announced the formation of a special project committee to which aldermen will be able to submit reports and recommendations on projects which will be of "the utmost benefit to the city."

Ald. Martin Lukaitis will be the chairman.

Mayor Quaife said: "Special projects can consist of such items as spearheading a co-ordinated effort with service clubs and others to establish a community day in Duncan."

As another project for the future, he suggested a mall for a two to three-day period downtown with the co-operation of local merchants.

He said: "I think the biggest project of all, and certainly a challenge that Ald. Lukaitis will not shirk from, will be to instil into Duncan some of the community spirit that appears to have been lost down through the ages."

* * *

Ald. Tom Kilpatrick, chairman of the joint Duncan-North Cowichan Pioneer Park committee told council that his committee, in allowing a circus to use part of Pioneer Park some days ago, had an obligation to people who like circuses.

"If we had turned it down we would have been criticized by people who enjoy a circus."

Referring to criticism from the local women's softball group, Ald. Kilpatrick stated the damage done by the circus "was very light."

"It has been repaired. It was over-emphasized."

He said it is unfortunate that the various ball groups lay claim to certain fields at the park.

"The park belongs to the community and not to any specified sports group."

Ald. John Getz said: "It was constructive criticism and we should listen to it."

* * *

Ald. Dick Bennies thought that "Playgrounds should be used as playgrounds," and that the committee should look for an alternate site for future similar events.

Council endorsed an application by Air West Airlines for a twice daily service between Vancouver and Quamichan Lake, Duncan.

The airline also proposes regular service between Vancouver, Thietis Island, Chemainus and Lake Cowichan.

Ald. Kilpatrick remarked: "It would be a wonderful boost to this area."

Island Indians

New Approach Coming Over Grant Aid Scheme

By NANCY BROWN

Southern Vancouver Island Tribal Federation will make a new approach to recently-appointed Indian Affairs Minister Jean Chretien, asking for maintainance of the old system of grants according to need.

Tsartship Chief Philip Paul said Monday the striking administrators disagree with a new system of per capita grants with administration in local hands.

Under the new system local bands will also be responsible for assesment and payment of welfare needs.

"This is a highly specialized field, and we're not being given the staff to deal with it," he said.

"We've made several attempts to sit down and discuss this with Indian affairs officials, but we've been rebuffed.

"We met a blank wall when we talked to then-Indian Affairs Minister Arthur Laing, but perhaps we'll make some progress with the new minister," he said.

However, he believes they would return to work if the government agrees to maintain the old system until the new one has been fully discussed with Indian leaders.

Vic's Axe Fells Last Tree Top

Story and Pictures By AGNES FLETT

Mr. Bortolotto, who has spent 43 years working in B.C. forests, officially retired on Friday. His celebration tree was small by his standards—an ornamental evergreen, about 50 feet high, which was dying.

Formerly of Kelsey Bay, Mr. Bortolotto originally came from Italy. Most of his forest career has been spent as a high rigger.

He estimates that he has climbed between 5,000 and 6,000 trees and says that his record was topping 16 trees in one day. His wages then were $8 a day which made each tree worth 50 cents.

Additions to Schools

Sketch Plans Drawn Up

DUNCAN — Sketch Plans for additions to three district elementary schools will be submitted to the department of education for approval, it was stated at Monday night's meeting of Cowichan district school board.

Trustee John Efford said the plans include additions for Mill Bay, Crofton and Gibbins Road elementary schools.

Referring to the addition at Mill Bay, trustee Efford said his committee had looked into the possibility of dividing the activity room into two classrooms, "but it was found the cost would be $20,000 more than the cost of building the classrooms."

Estimated cost of the Mill Bay addition is $88,500. The plans include two classrooms, an activity room and additions to the administration area.

The additions to Crofton will cost an estimated $40,000, and will include a classroom, activity room and a library-classroom.

Gibbins Road additions include a library and administration addition at an estimated cost of $18,500.

Board chairman, Joe Frumento said that because of the education department's recent policy of only approving essential additions, the board feels that the activity rooms included in the additions will probably not be accepted by the department until a future date.

Trustee Efford reported that a bid from Burak Construction of Duncan has been accepted for construction of a $268,000 addition at Mount Prevost junior secondary school.

Students Go East

COURTENAY—Seven students from the Comox valley have gone to eastern Canada as part of an exchange program.

Russ Calnan, Linda Lightbody, Dale Harrison and Judy Hunter from the Georges P. Vanier senior secondary school, and Lila Cresswell, Brion Bailey, and Larry White from Courtenay district secondary school, will join three students from Qualicum and 20 from Port Alberni for the trip to Kingston, Ont.

They will return to British Columbia on July 13. Students from Quebec will visit Port Alberni in a return visit.

Children Have Fun

FULFORD—Children from the B.C. Protestant Orphanage were entertained recently by Salt Spring Island Lions Club. They visited the Children's Holiday Ranch on Maxwell Mountain, run by Ted and Ruth Hamer.

Later they were driven to the lakeside home of Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Horel at Cusheon Lake where they watched Bill Evans give a demonstration of sheep-dog training.

Belt-Tightening Starts Before Pay Talks

PORT ALBERNI — The possibility of a strike by woodworkers has almost as serious an effect on the economy of a forest-products oriented community as an actual strike, especially in an area like Port Alberni.

In the valley, about 80 per cent of the work force is employed in the woods and the mills. A majority of those are members of the International Woodworkers of America, which is negotiating for a new contract with Forest Industrial Relations, representing the employers.

The belt-tightening usually starts six to eight weeks before negotiations begin. In the beginning, the drop-off in sales is reflected largely in major purchases. Big items in the family budget, like cars, automatic washers, major appliances and larger furniture items are slow sellers, according to car and appliance dealers.

As the crucial time grows closer, despite soaring temperatures, sales of summer clothing slacken off. New outfits are postponed till it is known if there'll be a strike. Families planning their summer vacations are also "waiting to see."

* * *

If a strike does occur, vacations, and vacation pay, go by the board, and have to be rescheduled after the return to work.

Sales of camping equipment and other holiday gear are often held in abeyance until the strike question is settled.

Other commitments may get reshuffled in the process, but housewives appear to squeeze out every available extra dollar for food.

Most of those who remember the seven weeks in 1964, when a strike by office workers led to widespread layoffs in the valley, have extra stocks of staples tucked away. And those whose memories go back even further to the late 1950s, when a long, cold strike in the paper mill lasted several months, spreading over Christmas and mid-winter, are likely to have freezers and every other available storage space stocked up as well.

Because of high employment and steady payroll, most people in Port Alberni eat well, but when a strike is possible, they load up shopping carts as if food markets, as well as pay cheques, were going out of style.

Even the possibility of a strike is hard on those whose stocks are seasonal — ready-to-wear and clothing stores, and those who supply vacation needs. Some appliance and car dealers, however, seem to take the slump in their stride.

"We expect it every other year at negotiationg time. If a real strike develops, that's rough on everybody. But if it's settled, everyone is so relieved, they usually rush out and buy something they've been wanting because things look so good again. Eventually it evens itself out."

That's the opinion of the well-established.

But for the man just starting out in business, or the fast-buck boy, who figured on coming into a high-payroll town, making a quick profit and getting out, a near-strike can be as killing as a real one.

NDP Slammed For 'Silencing'

Provincial attempts to stifle free expression within the New Democratic Party have got greater Victoria school board chairman Peter Bunn "pretty mad."

The clash between the local NDP member and the provincial party has arisen over Oak Bay NDP Provincial candidate Mira Yarwood.

The Oak Bay NDP association decided last week not to field a candidate in the Oak Bay byelection, but Tuesday the provincial executive selected Mrs. Yarwood as a candidate.

Bunn

MEMBERSHIP

Mr. Bunn had announced that local feeling opposed fielding candidate and the NDP provincial office replied that Mr. Bunn did not hold a current membership card and had no right to speak for the party.

Party provincial secretary Wally Ross said Mr. Bunn's membership application was received July 2 but was unsigned and was being returned for signature.

'NOT HAPPY'

Mr. Bunn said he had made his dues payment in early April, and the local executive agreed with him.

"I'm not a bit happy with the way I've been treated" said Mr. Bunn.

"Just because I happened to express an opinion and by normal democratic process was able to persuade other people that I was right, they've dug into their dusty files to try to find a way to silence me.

PAID-UP

"I've never tried to stifle discussion, and I resent the suggestion that we're just a dissident group because we don't go along with the provincial party," said Mr. Bunn.

"I had hoped that as the NDP is a grass roots organization they would be able to stand criticism and difference of opinion," he added.

In a statement issued Saturday, the Victoria and Oak Bay executive committee said Mr. Bunn is a paid-up member in good standing of the party.

Pressures of the federal election caused a delay in sending Mr. Bunn's renewal dues to Vancouver, although they had been received at the beginning of April.

NO ENDORSEMENT

"Mr. Bunn was acting in a constitutional manner when he expressed the views of the members present at the nominating convention of which all members in Oak Bay had been notified," said the statement.

"These views were, that owing to the special circumstances the NDP should not run a candidate in the particular byelection.

"It is to be noted that the meeting did not endorse the Liberal candidate."

SCHOOL COSTS

The statement also acknowledged the right of the provincial executive to put forward a candidate if the constituency nominating convention did not do so.

Meanwhile, candidate Mira Yarwood told a Friday night meeting that capital costs of school construction should be removed from the property tax bill and borne by the provincial government.

Pollution Funds Use

Curtis Agrees Province Lax

The federal government should undertake more pollution research instead of bickering with the provincial government, Saanich Mayor Hugh Curtis said Saturday.

"The pollution question is far too serious in Canada, as well as Greater Victoria, to have the federal and provincial governments passing the ball back and forth," said the chairman of the Capital Regional Board.

He was commenting on remarks made Friday by Esquimalt-Saanich MP-elect David Anderson.

Mr. Anderson blamed the provincial government for the uncertainty over the safety of dumping raw sewage into the sea, because it had not taken advantage of federal research assistance plans.

"My opinion is that the research work at the federal level could be greatly increased and that the province has not urged this strongly enough upon the federal government," said Mr. Curtis.

MONEY NOT USED

The regional board is well aware of funds available from Ottawa, added Mr. Curtis, but at present it is acting only in an administrative capacity on the essary, he said.

He urged those who advocate sewage treatment plants rather than outfalls to consider the cost.

The board recognizes that treatment may be needed in five to 20 years, but the sewage plan deals with badly needed trunk lines as well as outfalls, and it is important that these be installed.

CHANGE LATER

Once the collection systems are in and working, there can be a change from outfall disposal to sewage treatment when necsewer question.

Thrown from Car

Oak Bay Youth Critically Hurt

An Oak Bay youth is in critical condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital with multiple head injuries received when his car ran off the road in Sooke early Saturday night.

Gregory Sagmoen, 19, of 1346 Mitchell, was identified by Sooke RCMP as driver of a 1952 four-door sedan which ran off Sooke Road about 6:40 p.m. and struck two trees.

Police said the car was demolished.

The driver and passenger, 17-year-old Torben Sorensen, 2730 Graham were both thrown from the car by the impact, police said.

Mr. Sorensen was not injured.

Police observed that the car's hitting the trees stopped it from going over a 30-foot embankment.

Postmen's Parade

Campbell River has 11 new postmen to handle letter carrier service which was inaugurated Saturday. Two women will be helping with service. They are Mrs. Marjorie Hampton and Mrs. Bonnie Erickson. In 10 years, district has doubled post office revenue, from $57,662 in 1957-58 to almost $121,000 last year—(Helen Mitchell)

Official Count Cut Margin

PORT ALBERNI — Only three votes separate the leaders in the June 25 election race — but the returns from the remote polling station at Bull Harbor had little to do with the close margin.

The Colonist reported Saturday that returns from Bull Harbour reduced the lead of New Democrat Tom Barnett over his rival, Richard Durante, from 50 to three votes.

However, the Comox-Alberni returning officer, Colin Wilson, said Monday that only 10 votes came in from Bull Harour. The reduction in the margin of victory was the result of the official count which took place Friday.

He explained that it wasn't unusual to have small errors in the count on election night and figures couldn't be considered accurate until the official count.

Mr. Durante plans to make his formal application for a recount today.

Ganges Graduation

Education Need Stressed

GANGES — Divisional manager of B.C. Telephone Company, G. F. Auchinleck spoke to graduating students in the school auditorium. About 40 people atended the ceremonies.

Mr. Auchinleck discussed the problem of keeping staff well versed with the ever changing equipment and technology connected with the work.

He stressed the need for a thorough education for today's student.

"The students are entering a complex world of industry where nothing stands still," he said.

Mary Alice Coles gave the salute to the graduates and Chairman George Heinsbey brought greetings from the school trustees.

Mrs. Laurie Mount introduced the graduates and bade them farewell.

The citizenship shield went to Lyn Carlson. The Jane Mount scholarship for proficiency was won by Tony Matinich and Doreen Moulton. Janice MacMillan won the B.C. Teachers' Federation scholarship, and the commerce service award was won by Yvette Blais. The commerce scholarship went to Beverley Atkins, Mary Alice Coles and Janice Girard.

Port Alberni School Board

Bids Pose Problems

PORT ALBERNI — Bids for a maintenance truck and a 73-passenger bus have set problems for Port Alberni school board.

The low bid for the truck was for $4,397.10, from OHS Brothers, Port Alberni. That was $200 more than the amount provided in the budget.

The tender was referred to the maintenance committee.

The budget allowed $16,000 for the bus and Alberni Auto Service quoted a low bid of $15,534. However, the firm said delivery would be eight weeks after receipt of the chassis in Windsor.

Another company offered delivery in seven days after the order was received, but the initial cost was considerably higher.

Other delivery dates were at least 120 days after receiving the order. The only vehicle which was available for imediate delivery was an 84-passenger bus at a cost of $17,360.65.

The transportation committee is to report on the matter to the next board meeting.

Second Dam For Peace?

● All B.C. parity bonds will carry bonus coupons. Page 8.

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia Hydro and Power Authority is studying a second Peace River dam to provide more hydro-electric power for Vancouver, Dr. Gordon Shrum, co-chairman of the Crown corporation, said Monday.

He spoke of the possibility of a second Peace dam, about 10 miles below the current one, at an investment dealers' breakfast where a $50,000,000 Hydro bond issue was announced.

Dr. Shrum said that because of growing demands for power in central B.C., Vancouver will be lucky if any Peace power—due to be turned on in September—ever reaches the city.

Dr. Shrum said some "exploratory work" has been done on the possibility of a 100-foot high Peace dam. Another possible power source is an additional generating plant on Vancouver Island to feed power back here, he said.

After Week's Siege

GUNMAN GIVES UP

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) — Gunman Wallace (Wally) Mellish surrendered today, ending an eight-day police siege and the ordeal of the teen-age girl he forced at gunpoint to marry him.

Mellish emerged from the siege house with his wife Beryl, 19 and her 12-week old son Leslie. They came out with a minister and a police official who talked Mellish into surrender.

Mellish left behind the automatic shotgun, automatic rifle, pistols and hand grenades he had used to keep police at bay and to force them to arrange the wedding, provide refreshments and, later, more arms and ammunition.

Police had held their fire, fearing Mellish would carry out his repeated vows to kill the baby, Beryl and himself as well as "a few coppers."

Mellish, 22, a former mental patient, talked twice by telephone with Rev. Clive Paton Monday and promised both times he would walk out unarmed in surrender within 30 minutes. However, he remained in the house both times.

During Paton's first talk with Mellish by telephone, the gunman told the minister he would surrender himself 30 minutes later. However, two hours after

B.C. Leaping On Trudeau Bandwagon

By IAN STREET

NORTH VANCOUVER—Social Credit jumped on to the Trudeau bandwagon at a provincial byelection rally here Monday night where Premier Bennett produced evidence of "the new spirit of co-operation between B.C. and Ottawa."

The premier said B.C. would put up an extra $13,000,000 boosting the provincial contribution of $27,000,000 to half the estimated $1,000,000 cost of a new third tunnel crossing of Burrard inlet.

He made a p provision that the federal matching contribution, like the one he promised from the provincial government, must be an outright grant, and stipulated the crossing also had to be toll-free.

IN THREATE

He told a crowd of between 400-500 in the sweltering North Vancouver Centennial Theatre: "If Ottawa makes this a toll-free tunnel, we'll stand not only half the capital cost but all of the maintenance costs, forever."

Mr. Bennett spoke beneath a banner stretched across the stage which carried portraits of Prime Minister Trudeau with a bridge between them bearing the word "co-operation."

FORMER CHIEF

He promised the provincial government would co-operate with former provincial Liberal leader Ray Perrault, now MP for Burnaby-Seymour, in his efforts to bring the problems of the North Shore to the attention of the federal government.

And the premier urged voters to elect Socred candidate Peter Robinson in the North Vancouver-Capilano provincial byelection next Monday. This would give the riding representatives in strong government

Woods Firms Firm

Holidays a Snag

By DON COLLINS

British Columbia seemed closer to a paralyzing shutdown in its forests Monday despite general agreement on wages affecting up to 28,000 workers.

The whole labor dispute took a somewhat zany turn as International Woodworkers of America officials:

● Paraded around a downtown Vancouver building demanding that the chief negotiator for 114 forest companies surface from the depths of his office get back to the bargaining table.

The demonstration and harsh words didn't succeed in bringing out Mr. Billings, but he did issue a statement in which he said the industry's offer was final and that bargaining was at an end.

"Our committee is prepared to meet with your committee at a mutually agreeable time and place to sign a memorandum of agreement based on the industry offer," Mr. Billings said in a telegram to Jack Moore of Vancouver, regional IWA president.

Union officials said they were the only ones willing to meet since negotiators had failed to turn up at a Vancouver hotel at 10 a.m. Monday.

However, the union's purpose for the meeting wasn't to sign the proposed memorandum of agreement referred to by Mr. Billings. The IWA negotiators said important fringe articles including vacations hadn't been dealt with. They want further bargaining sessions.

"We'll be back at that hotel ready to bargain at 10 in the morning (today)" Murray Drew, president of the 1,800-member Victoria local, said Monday night.

The union had issued a statement earlier saying that "once the industry made the offer of a wage increase of 18 cents an hour effective June 15, 1968, and 18 cents an hour June 15, 1969, wages were no longer an issue."

Mr. Moore said it was unfortunate, however, that

Victim Tripodi

Empties Gun, Gives Birth to Boy

Mother in Labor But Intern in Pain

TORONTO (CP) — A hospital intern was in satisfactory condition in St. Michael's Hospital Monday night 12 hours after a woman who refused to believe she was pregnant shot him four times.

Dr. Anthony Tripodi, 24, of Hamilton, was hit in the arm, abdomen, ear and back as the woman, who gave birth to a seven-pound boy four hours later, emptied a .32-calibre revolver at him.

Tripodi was rushed into emergency surgery. Deputy Chief Bernard Simonds said later a warrant for attempted murder will be issued in the case.

Dr. John Schonblum ran in to find the woman still trying to fire the empty gun. He overpowered her as she reached into her purse for more bullets.

The woman was admitted shortly after midnight, complaining of abdominal pains. She refused to believe she was pregnant when told she was being moved to the maternity ward. She blamed Tripodi for her pains.

She had kept her purse with her under a blanket, after being admitted, police said. The intern was giving her a sedative about 4 a.m. when she threw back the blanket and started firing.

Tripodi is serving a year's junior internship at the hospital after graduating from University of Toronto medical school.

Work, Not Miracle Keeps Heart Going

From Reuters-AP

CAPE TOWN — South African dentist Philip Blaiberg, the world's longest surviving heart-transplant patient, is responding well to treatment for a serious lung infection, his wife said Monday.

"It's a miracle — he is much better," Eileen Blaiberg said after a visit to her husband.

Prof. Christiaan Barnard, the surgeon who gave Blaiberg his new heart Jan. 2, was a little more down to earth.

"It's hard work," he said. "You cannot really say it is a miracle but he is much better."

Blaiberg still was not out of danger, but appeared to have responded well to intensive treatment of anti-lymphocyte serum to counter tissue-rejection symptoms.

Minister Goes Overboard If Cabinet Springs Leak

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA (Special) — Prime Minister Trudeau has said it again — his cabinet ministers will have to shape up, or else.

And as a starter, he said in outlining cabinet ground rules, shaping up includes shutting up.

He spent a good part of the initial meeting of this new 29-men cabinet Monday outlining the code of ministerial conduct he is imposing.

Rule No. 1 — At least this was the first ministerial law he mentioned — is to be preservation of cabinet solidarity and secrecy. "I told them I would be very sticky about it," he said, emerging from his East Block offices into a waiting crowd of newsmen and tourists.

"One mistake, if not too serious might be tolerated, but not two."

With the second error would come dismissal.

"So do your damndest," he invited the press corps.

Such one-two sackings would be the prescribed "punishment," as he put it, for talking out of cabinet turn.

After spending "a good deal of time" in spelling out the tough new rules, the prime minister said he was "very confident" that his ministers would be "very careful."

He had given then an example of what-not-to-do — presumably of something "leaked" from cabinet — and made plain that the instant penalty of a second offence would be.

Only half kidding, he "hoped" none of the assembled newsmen would be "responsible" for prying secrets out of any cabinet minister and having that unfortunate fellow "fired and sent to jail."

Many Help But Top Trip Out of Reach

A healthy boost from such influential sources as Premier Bennett and Canadian Pacific Airlines doesn't appear enough so far to lift Oak Bay's national quiz champions over the international barrier.

By late Monday night the champion 12 high school students it had picked earlier from eastern Canada to compete against England, Scotland and Ireland in a pilot project world quiz contest.

Network spokesmen in Vancouver, Toronto and Ottawa said in various statements there had been a "misunderstanding," that offers of the B.C. government and airline to send the Oak Bay winners were "very kind," but that a switch in plans now appeared impossible.

A storm of protest has been mounting here since it was made known 12 students from Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa were chosen some time ago to represent Canada in the upcoming Trans-World Top Team quiz competition in Britain and Canada.

The 12 were chosen some time before four boys from Oak Bay senior high school won the national Reach for The Top quick-recall television contest in Vancouver Saturday.

The world-competition is sponsored by the CBC and BBC, but CBC officials say it has no connection with Reach for the Top.

By Monday, Premier Bennet who admits he is an avid fan of Reach for the Top, was terming the exclusion of the Oak Bay team "ridiculous."

Since return contests between teams from Britain have been set for the east, the CBC has said it would be economically unsound to include a team from Oak Bay at this stage.

But Premier Bennett threw the ball back to the network by saying the B.C. government would be only too happy to pay the plane fare of the Oak Bay team from Victoria to Toronto and back.

The winning team consists of Bruce Izard, Robert McDougall, Chris Odgers and Jim Dempsey. All have been enjoying a tour of Edmonton as one of their rewards for winning.

Several hours after Premier Bennett had made his offer, CPA offered guest transportation to Toronto and back for the four boys.

The airline said it was doing this since it appeared the boys were being deprived of a
